Clifford Sifton in is well known, the meeting turned out the October Canadian Magazine, which is disastrously for Sir Hibbert Tupper, parta challenge. Perhaps this was best illustrated in the famous duel between Sir could be accounted for by the results They were constantly changing, appearing and disappearing, but not very rapidly. Some would remain a minute or more without variation. The number varied from ten to fifteen. They were shorter toward the zenith, longer towards the horizon. At the western end of the arch, one long half-luminous streak shot up obliquely, and remained for some minutes.

They were constantly changing, appearing in the veins of Sir Hibbert's ancestors. Macdonald and the influence of Tupper, and swept everything before him. Of course, the magnificent organization which Mr. Sifton had in that election was a factor in the result; yet there are few men who would willingly go through such an ordeal. Brandon was a Conservative constituency, and Mr. Joseph Martin had been defeated there when it was called salver the arch itself had disappeared.
