and Exciting Drama at the Grand.

IS INTERESTING

Mr. William Faversham, clever actor, Broadway favorite and matinee idol, presented his new play, "The Squaw-nan," to a limited but appreciative adlence at the Grand last night. The piece comes under the somewhat elastic term, comedy-drama, which nowa-days covers a multitude of dramaticsins and situations. It is by Edwin Milton Royle, a playwright actor who has turned out a number of successful dramas, and if somewhat illogical at times, this latest from his pen is always interesting and occasionally strong to the thrilling point. The story tells of the sacrifice made by Capt. James Wingate (Mr. Faversham, of ccurse) to save the name of his cousin, the Earl of Kornill, whose wife, the Countess Diana, is loved by Wingate The earl embezzles a trust fund, and to slield Diana from the shame conseovent upon exposure, Wingate shoulders the theft by suddenly disappearing. When next seen he is a ranchman i the American west, where he does the usual stunts, chief among them the subduing of the local bad man and gun fighter. In time, you may be sure, Diana learns of Wingate's sacrifice and upon the death of her husband, seeks him in the west to tell him of her love and acquaint him with the fact that the earldom is now his. It was thoughtful of the earl, who was something of mains, for, as they say, fire purposes a blackguard, anyway, to remove himself from the scene, but alas, Wingata finds himself in a cruel dilemma, having during the intervening years mar-ried the Indian maid Naturitch. But enough of patch work around this city you can't corner the play builder for your popular actor, and so Naturitch learning that their boy is to be sent to Exgland to be educated, conveniently of this city. It meets the requirements and promptly suicides. The finish is obvious, and while you feel it to be the commissioners will only take a trip only just that the self-sacrificing hero should be rewarded, you also feel sorry or Naturitch, who was a good sort. The system is this: Along certain of the business streets they have laid 12-inch, wrought-iron to the square inch, in that set of pipes. To make the system more efficient they are putting in gasoline engines of 100 horse-power. In this city all that would be necessary, would be to lay a twelve-inch main along, say Queen's evenue and King street, with an intake at the river at Saunby's dam or above it is the hope of all who heard them it, where there is always a good body of water. Japan is the leading fishing nation today, although the value of her sea products is surpassed by that of two other countries. The United States, outside of Alaska, and Great Britain each produce about $45,000,000 worth annually, and Japan produces about $30,000,000 worth. Japan leads in the proportion of the total population engaged in the fishing industry, in the actual number of people living by the ir dustry, in the relative importance of fish products in the country's domestic conomy, and in the support given by the Government to the industry.

The Neglect of Eye Strain. -in medical circles.

[Dr. G. M. Gould, M.D., in the Dioptric Review.] Without the least doubt, and weighing well what I say, I am sure that no discovery of modern medicine, except vaccination and the germ theory of disease, is OF SO GREAT IMPORT-ANCE AS THIS OF EYE-STRAIN. DIRECT-LY AND INDIRECTLY, THIS FUNCTIONAL DISEASE IS THE CAUSE OF MORE SUF-FERING THAN ALL THE ORGANIC DIS-EASES COMBINED.

It is a curious fact, when closely inquired into, that the knowledge of the relief of the disorders of eye-strain has largely come from the layworld and from patients themselves. While the professional world has been ignoring the facts, patients have been finding out that their ills are curable by PROPER SPECTACLES.

The few general practitioners and nerve specialists who much longer ignore the fact will find themselves stranded by the SUPERIOR DIAG-NOSTIC SKILL OF THE NON-MEDICAL.

I have proven the above statements true in hundreds of cases in London, and can prove to anyone who suffers from any nervous affection that the first thing to do is to have the eyes attended to. If interested come in. Consultation free.
