Luxuries of the Farm

There is an article in last week's issue of the Farmers' SOUTH LONDON BAPTIST CHURCH- Advocate, under the above heading, written by G. C. Caston, of Simcoe County, which is well worth reading. In this article some of the advantages, conveniences and luxuries of farm, city and town life are aptly compared. Amongst other things this article says:

"Today many of the things that formerly made farm life monotonous and uninteresting have passed or are passing away. By means of the rural telephone lines, the farmer is no longer isolated, but he is brought into close touch with neighbors and with city and town. The modern farmhouse is built now, contains all the comforts and conveniences of a city house, in the way of bath, closets, water supply, etc. In most localities he has the advantage of a daily mail, and can keep in close touch with the news of the world. And, with regard to his living, there is no man in a better position to enjoy the best of everything than the farmer."

"He has the milk and cream of his own in all its freshness and purity. He can at all times enjoy strictly new-laid eggs; and, with a little extra labor beyond the ordinary farm routine, he can enjoy the very best in the line of fruits and vegetables."

It is not necessary to own a large farm in order to obtain the comforts, conveniences and luxuries of farm life. President Roosevelt not long ago said, "Five acres are enough to support a family and keep it busy." Had he been speaking of many an Ontario farm of that size he might have added that besides supporting a family such a farm would produce enough to enable the owner to place a snug sum to his credit in the bank every year. We have for sale several five and ten acre farms, which are not only supporting the owners and their families, but are yielding as profit to them from three hundred to eight and ten hundred dollars a year. No wonder many farmers of Ontario are rich and able to retire and are offering their farms for sale, thus giving others opportunities of doing the same as they have done. We have for sale farms of all kinds and sizes and at all prices in every
