

And may the Heavenly Powers
Enrich the lovely flowers
That grace the royal bowers,
 With righteousness.

Thus shall Great Britain be
Blest with prosperity,
 As she has been ;
And true hearts everywhere,
Who British freedom share,
Join in the fervent prayer—
 God save the Queen.

Another, 1859.

While the nations are contending,
 And the continent is rife
With the miseries attending
 Long and sanguinary strife ;
Queen Victoria !
 Calm and tranquil be thy life
