SCHOOL OF MINES, COLUMBIA COLLEGE.

Department of Architecture.

The recently established Course in Architecture occupies four years, the first of which is occupied with general studies, the architectural work beginning with the second year.

Graduates of colleges and of scientific schools can, in general, enter in advanced standing at the beginning of the second year. Special students are not received.

The scientific studies, pursued in connection with the Department of Civil Engineering, include Chemistry, Physics, and Mechanics, with so much of Mathematics as these studies require.

The Architectural studies include the theory and the history of Architecture and of the allied arts, drawing and modelling, with the constant practice of original design, and so much of specifications and practical construction as can conveniently be taught in a school.

The buildings now constructing, which will be ready for occupation in October, provide, besides the necessary drawing rooms and lecture rooms, a special architectural laboratory for practice and experiment, and a library for study and for the accommodation of the large collection of drawings, prints and photographs now in process of formation.
