Clean-Up in Manitoba

There is nothing to do but to com connection with the parliament buildings contract, by punishing the guilty politics or office; and to do it all good and quick. Let there be no compromise, no "deal" and the law courts, civil and criminal, must be the final medium. A patch up with an election following will not do.

No scandal in the affairs of this country has created more disgust than

The Borden government at Ottawa and Conservatives generally have a attained. vital interest in this being done. Likewise Liberals are equally interested, especially since it is a matter of report that some kind of deal was under negotiation between parties claiming to represent contractors and Liberal

Canned Currency

Wisely or unwisely Canada seems committed to contracted currency and restricted credits. Just now, when every other belligerent nation is using the credit of its government to speed up business, we are trying to piece along with less money than we had six months ago. On November 30, ed to $166,400,000, but it has since declined to $152,100,000. In short, the finance minister, in some way, has redeemed nearly $15,000,000 of the national currency we had outstanding last November. This amount of currency has been "canned." It is either locked up or destroyed. What will most interest the curious is now How. Mr. White got it back. Was it ever

What happened, according to The Montreal Journal of Commerce, is this: The railways, in order to finish their construction work last fall, had to have $15,000,000. They wanted the banks to go to the government and get $15,-000,000 of national currency by rediscounting the government guaranteed securities of the Grand Trunk Pacific and the Canadian Northern. The prim minister also asked the banks to act but they flatly refused. Then the finance minister, quite properly, we think, item with reference to Berlin, Canada: determined to loan the money to the railroads direct. So far so good. If he had only given the roads the actual currency, no doubt we would have seen Dominion $5, $10 and $20 bills in every part of the country, and these would have freely circulated among the people, causing an expansion of the currency without undue inflation. But instead, bank legals for huge amounts were issued and these had to be taken to the banks, which promptly put them in cold storage. Now they are being taken up out of the proceeds of the government loan floated in London. Non-interest-bearing obligations are being taken up by obligations that carry interest.

The net result has been that the government has borrowed some money in London, which it has loaned the railroads upon good security. The Canadian banks helped by advancing the money in the meantime. Would it not have been better for the government to have given the railways national currency in the first place, which they could have paid out to their contractors and employes? It would have been a non-interest-bearing debt at least. These observations are by way of comment rather than criticism. The author of "Songs of a Sourdough" and government, the finance minister, and the banks, are all handicapped by a port received by the militia department, gone to the front as a chaufsystem designed more than half a cen- feur with an Anglo-American ambutury ago, for a small and largely pas- lance. toral community. For some reason we have not devised a state bank of issue and rediscount. In that respect we are unique among civilized nations.

Toronto from doing so, provided he paper and es with the police regulations the city, whether by special privilege or for any kind or variety of franthise, is utterly outside the will or the wish of those who have the best interests of the city at heart. Observation cars are running in the city now and no special charter or agreen is neccessary for their purpose. If a line of buses wants to run up and down the streets instead of across and round about there is no reason why it should be prohibited from doing so if its meanderings conform to the rules laid down for all such traffic.

If a company seeks to get a spe along without it. If it be an agreement or franchise of value to the per ple, the company had better look ove the Beck act, where it is provided that all franchises shall be submitted to the vote of the people. Should the city council be so remiss as to send such Situation Favorable to Allies, a franchise to the vote of the people there is no doubt whatever that it would be duly snowed under.

IT'S NOT THAT BAD.

A copy of a paper, published in Berlin, Germany, has been sent to us. It contains the following interesting

In the district of Waterloo. Province of Ontario, is a city, built by Germans and bearing the name of Berlin. This name caused the ire of the English population and now the said city bears the name of 'Kitchener.' In this former Berlin, now Kitchener instructions of the control of the cont ener, just as in all other cities of Canada, policemen are patrolling the streets for the purpose of looking up persons, who have the look of Germans. As soon as such persons are found and, when spoken to, betrayed by their German accent, they are arrested at once. This vigilance has become especially worse since some bomb throwing in Montreal has taken place. All public buildings are sharply watched for fear of explosions. German printed literature will soon be entirely pro-hibited from entering Canada and the publication of German news-papers wil soon cease. Then ab-solute darkness will reign within the Dominion and its German population will hear of nothing else but British victories" else but British victories."

We would like to know, our German-Canadian contemporary, The Berliner Journal of Berlin, Ont., is asking: "Where, for the love of Mike, has that newspaper so ibbler in Germany heard the bells ring!"

EATING ON TRAINS.

"How much may a man eat on train journey and still not have indigestion?" Such was the problem facing Mr. W. A. Cooper, Manager of the C. P. R. Dining Car System, and this problem he thinks he has solved selection of foods for breakfast, lun cheon and supper on the Imperial Limited:

Breakfast - Cereal with Cream Fried Eggs with Rasher Bacon. Corn Muffins. Cocoa. 85c. Luncheon-Chicken Bouillon-

According to Mr. Cooper, one needs that it would be preferable to sink with the old boatswain than swim n ordinary occupations at home, and ascribes the overeating on trains as due to the desire for a pleasant interlude on the train journey. This new scheme of "Dietetic Blended Menus" bject of inducing travelers to mend more money, but to spend less, the object of the railway being to secure contented and not dyspeptic travelers. With each menu is presented a short homely on food written by Dr. Wiley to the following effect: "The four essential elements of food are the proteins, or nitrogenous foods,. the carbohydrates, such as sugar and starch, the fats, such as oil and butter, and minera! matters, such as lime, potash and phosphoric acid.

"The dietetic blended foods on the Canadian Pacific dining car service menus have been arranged so that the traveler in choosing one of these suggested meals will secure a ration which is dietetic, that is, nourishing and wholesome, and at the same time properly blended. Thus each of these blended rations will supply all the nutritional need of the traveler and not burden the digestive apparatus with any excess of the essential elements of food. As a result, the traveler will be better nourished, will suffer less discomfort and be in less danger from injury by overeating than he could possibly be if, without foods, he should select a meal for Company Prepared to Spend Large Sum on Big Jitneys.

The action of council on Monday in approving the payment of pensions from the firemen's benefit fund to ex-Chief Thompson and ex-Deputy Chief Noble, may result in the affairs of the fund being judicially investigated Ald. Yeomans claims that certain changes were made in the bylaw regulating the fund without the knowedge of the men; that these changes were made for the sole benefit of certain persons, and that thru them the fund will become insolvent. The change in question gives the men a pension amounting to half their salary at the time of retirement, instead pension amounting to half their salary at the time of retirement, instead of half their salary at the age of 55. which was the original bylaw, and it is said that the amendment was made to favor certain men who would be retiring this year, thus giving them a minch larger pension then would have retiring this year, thus giving them a much larger pension than would have been the case before the amendment was made, the amount in Thompson's case being about $700 per year more, making the total annual pension more than he paid in altogether.
