RITUAL

OF

TEMPERANCE WATCHMEN.

OPENING SERVICE.

(At the appointed hour, the P. S. O. takes the chair, and calls to order.)

P. S. O. Prov. Worthy Brothers, the cause of Temperance still demands the united efforts of its friends. Suffering Humanity calls upon us to assume our deliberations. Let us therefore strive after progress. Let us yield to those demands and respond to those calls by entering upon the discharge of our duty with zeal and fidelity.

Bro. P. M., Are all present Prov. Watchmen?

P. M. ascertains and reports.

P. S. O. Bro. M. will report if any officers are absent. Vacancies filled by the chair.

P. S. O. calls up.

P. S. O. Prov. Worthy Brothers, we are invested with the control of our beloved order in this Province. Heavy responsibilities devolve upon us. The prosperity of the order,—the success of the cause of Temperance—the present and future happiness of our country, and the glory of our Creator, depend in some measure upon our deliberations. Let us therefore weigh well our
