Boers Are Still Bombarding Ladysmith But the Cannonading is Light and Irregular—Is Buller Ready to Strike?

Gen. Methuen is in Broken Health and He May Be Relieved—There May Be No Definite Results For Some Days Yet—Criticism of the Government is Hot—Many Deaths at Ladysmith.

General Lord Roberts and his chief of staff, General Lord Kitchener, arrived at Cape Town yesterday.

Firing from the Boer positions around Ladysmith still continues, but the cannonading is light and irregular.

Twelve hundred Indian stretcher bearers have started for the front, and this is taken to mean that General Buller is ready to renew the attack.

The London Times criticises at great length the Government's conduct of the war. The great journal refers to the stupid and perverse mistakes that have been made, and demands that the practice of withholding the facts be abandoned.

General Methuen is said to be broken in health and he may be relieved.

London, Jan. 11.—(4 a.m.)—During the interlude of apparent military inactivity and official secrecy, Lord Roberts and Lord Kitchener have arrived at the seat of war. It is assumed that their clearer vision, supported by 35,000 fresh men, who are due to arrive in South Africa within thirty days, will alter the situation, and that the fourth month of the campaign will witness the beginning of victories for the British arms.

No Definite Results for Days.

They are not, however, expected to produce definite results for some days, but their mere presence will restore the confidence of the men at the front. Lord Roberts finds 120,000 men on the defensive, or watching for an opening.

Methuen Broken in Health.

Lord Methuen's health, according to The Daily Mail, has broken down, and the field marshal may relieve him. Possibly some others will be relieved of important commands. There is certainly plenty of rank in evidence in South Africa. In addition to the field marshal, there are two full generals, four lieutenant-generals and 12 or 14 major-generals.

Deaths at Ladysmith.

The list of victims of disease issued by the War Office gives 22 deaths from enteric fever and dysentery in Ladysmith in four days, revealing the fact that the besieged are existing amid bad sanitary conditions.

How The Standard Sizes It.

The Standard summarizes the general situation thus: "The campaign has lasted three months. We have something like 120,000 troops in South Africa. With this huge army distributed over the country we are still powerless to relieve three garrisons from investment. We have still to see large portions of both colonies in the hands of the enemy. We have driven the invaders back at no single point. We are actually further from the hostile frontier than we were on the day that the ultimatum was delivered. The work which Ministers believed could be effectually performed with 25,000 men has not been done, has not even been begun by four or five times that number. Can any one fail to admit that this is evidence of a grave miscalculation of forces and facts?"

Yeomanry of Wealth.

The War Office has authorized a special yeomanry corps. Every trooper joining will pay for his own kit and mount, for transport and for all other expenses until his arrival in South Africa, and will then give his services to his country and pay for the privilege into the fund for widows and orphans, the amount he would receive as a trooper. Several influential gentlemen have already enrolled.

Want £50,000 More.

The authorities have urged the Committee of the Yeomanry Hospital Fund to provide for 520 instead of 150 beds, and the committee is appealing for at least £50,000 more.

LORD ROBERTS AT CAPE TOWN.

British Commander, With the Chief of Staff, Now on the Scene of the War.

London, Jan. 10.—(9.05 p.m.)—Gen. Lord Roberts, the new commander of the British forces in South Africa and his chief of staff, Gen. Lord Kitchener, have arrived at Cape Town.

Spaniards Want to Fight.

London, Jan. 11.—The Gibraltar correspondent of The Daily Telegraph says: "Three thousand time-expired Spanish soldiers from the Cuban war have offered their services to Great Britain in South Africa. The Governor here has informed their agent that he is not authorized to enlist foreigners."

BRITISH QUIET AT FRERE

With the Exception of the Usual Shelling of Boer Positions by Naval Guns.

London, Jan. 11.—The Daily Mail has the following despatch, dated Jan. 8, from Frere Camp: "With the exception of the usual shelling of the Boer positions by the naval guns, the British force remains inactive.

"Eight Boer camps were seen to-day by a patrol along the Tugela in a westerly direction. All were quiet.

Colenso Was Weakened.

"Natives say that when the British reconnoitered near Colenso on Saturday, the Boers hurried from Springfield. This supports the belief that Colenso was weakened in the attack on Ladysmith."

Rebel Enthusiasm in Cape Colony.

The Cape Town correspondent of The Daily Mail, telegraphing Monday, says: The Boer successes have been followed by a tremendous outburst of enthusiasm and Boer sympathy in the western part of the colony.

PUT FREE STATERS IN FRONT.

This Was Kruger's Own Game and Ladysmith Was Then Attacked.

London, Jan. 11.—The Standard has received the following, dated Jan. 8, from its special correspondent at Frere Camp:

"I hear on good authority that President Kruger sent word to the Boer headquarters asking why Ladysmith had not been attacked, and that the reply was 'We should lose too many men.' His answer to this excuse was the suggestion that the Free Staters might be put in the forefront. This hint was taken, and the attack delivered.

A Quarrel Will Follow.

President Kruger's advice was so far good that the Free Staters behaved better than the Transvaalers have done. At all events, they managed to seize a hill. Later in the day the Transvaalers retired before Gen. White's counter-attack, amid the jeers of the Free Staters, who actually stuck to their position until they were bayonetted in the ditches. After this affair it is almost certain that the allies will quarrel.

Still Firing on Ladysmith.

A heavy gun, mounted on Umbulwana Hill, has been firing since daybreak. Evidently the siege of Ladysmith is still maintained.

THE SUFFOLKS' DISASTER.

Lieut.-Col. Watson Was Addressing the Men When the Enemy Fired at 30 Paces.

Rensburg, Cape Colony, Monday, Jan. 8.—It is reported here officially with reference to the disaster to the First Battalion of the Suffolk Regiment, that Lieut.-Col. Watson marched the regiment in close column to the top of the hill at midnight. He assembled the officers and was addressing them just at daybreak, when the enemy volleyed at a distance of 30 paces. The colonel, his adjutant and two other officers were killed. The Suffolks who had scarcely fired a shot, fled back to the pickets, about 1000 yards away, some one having shouted "retire." About 150, however, remained, lost heavily and finally surrendered. Our operations since have been unimportant. Several reconnaissances have been made and these show that the enemy is jealously guarding his communications to the north.

NO LIST OF CASUALTIES

Has Yet Been Received From Ladysmith—The Losses of the Boers.

London, Jan. 11.—The War Office announces that the list of British casualties at Ladysmith last Saturday has not yet been received.

The following despatch, dated at Frere Camp, Jan. 10, noon, has been received from Gen. Buller: "A Transvaal telegram gives the enemy's loss at Ladysmith on Saturday as four killed and 15 wounded, and this after, as is admitted, they had endured a withering fire from six masked batteries and been defeated at all points.

"Natives here assert that the Boer loss in one command alone was 150 killed and wagon loads of wounded. The heaviest loss is said to have been among the Free Staters, who were forced by the Transvaalers into the most dangerous places.

BOMBARDMENT STILL ON.

But the Cannonading at Ladysmith is Now Light and Irregular.

London, Jan. 11.—A despatch to The Daily Telegraph, dated Monday, 8th, at noon, from Frere Camp, says: "Firing from the Boer position around Ladysmith began early to-day. It still continues, but the cannonading is light and irregular."

CRITICISM BY THE TIMES.

Demands That the Practice of Keeping Back the Facts Be Abandoned.

London, Jan. 11.—The Times, in an editorial criticizing at great length the Government's conduct of the war, alludes to the "stupid and perverse mistakes" that have been made, and demands that the "practice of the non-revelation of facts" be abandoned. It insists strongly upon knowing "the truth, and the whole truth, about the situation," and finds fault with Mr. Balfour's defence piecemeal.

ONE WEEK IN SEVEN

The Boers Are Allowed to Spend at Home During the Time of the War.

London, Jan. 11.—The Cape Town correspondent of The Daily Chronicle, telegraphing Monday, says: "The Boers assert that 80 natives fought on the side of the British at Kuruman. They say their object in capturing the place was to open the way for a commando to go south into the Prieska and Konhardt districts, where the Boers hope to foment a rebellion. It is reported that the Boer leaders allow every burgher to return home one week out of every seven."

SIGNS OF ANOTHER FIGHT.

Twelve Hundred Stretcher Bearers Have Gone to the Front With Gen. Buller.

London, Jan. 11.—The Durban correspondent of The Standard, telegraphing Tuesday, says that 1200 Indian stretcher-bearers started for the front the previous night, and that their departure was regarded in Durban as indicative of a renewal of the fighting.

A MORE STRICT EXAMINATION

The Times Says is Needed to Prevent War Materials Getting to the Boers.

London, Jan. 11.—The Times, in a special article dealing with the Delagoa Bay question, expresses the opinion that the endeavor of the Boers to overrun Natal lends confirmation to assertions made before the war by prominent Boers that they would seize Durban as a port. The article proceeds to point out that by the through rate system, especially favorable to the Transvaal shipments, over the Delagoa-Transvaal Railway, German ship-owners have been able to secure traffic with little risk of examination at continental ports or at Delagoa Bay.

A New Port Looked for.

The writer goes on to say: "It is known that in anticipation of future military developments in the Transvaal toward the Zourpansberg district, a considerable amount of stores and munitions of war have been forwarded for some time past, chiefly from the continent.

Diverting the Trade.

"It is understood that the Union Stamp Company, besides ceasing to have Herr Pott, the Transvaal Consul-General at Lorenzo Marquez, as their agent, have withdrawn their steamers from the Delagoa Bay route. The Castle Company has done the same, and made arrangements that will prevent any use at Delagoa Bay of their vessels for anti-British purposes. Measures in the same direction have been taken with regard to the Empress Landing Company. The withdrawal of the steamers of two British mail companies may, however, increase Great Britain's difficulties by throwing the carrying trade still more into the hands of continental shippers, and diverting business to America for handling by foreign steamers from American ports."

The article concludes by again urging the Government to endeavor to secure a more strict examination.

BRITAIN ADMITS DAMAGES

For the Seizure of German Ships Which Do Not Carry Contraband.

Berlin, Jan. 10.—Several Foreign Office officials expressed themselves more freely about the British seizures of German vessels. Great Britain's formal written answer to Germany's formal protest has not yet been received, but another oral declaration by Lord Salisbury to Count von Hatzfeldt, the German Ambassador in London, has been telegraphed to Berlin, showing that Great Britain admits her obligation to pay damages for seizing vessels not carrying contraband.

It is admitted by the Foreign Office that the armored cruiser Deutschland, flagship of Prince Henry of Prussia, may be sent to Delagoa Bay, with the gunboat Habicht.

The examination of the cargo of the Bundesrath—the Foreign Office has been informed—is still in progress.

MR. BALFOUR'S DEFENCE.

Admits That Field Artillery Must Be Part of the Regular Army Equipment.

London, Jan. 10.—Mr. A. J. Balfour, the Government leader in the House of Commons, at a luncheon to-day, repudiated the accusation that he was a "thick-and-thin supporter of the War Office." If an angel from Heaven told him it was possible in a great war to carry out everything as written out on paper, he should know that the angel was drawing upon his imagination. It was not true that the War Office had sent the British army into the field with guns which placed them at a hopeless disadvantage with their enemies. He did not claim that the army system was perfect, but the critics ought not to ignore the extraordinary military problems of the present war, between which and the problems with which continental headquarters had to deal there was no parallel. For the first time in the history of the world the country had to meet an enemy entirely mounted, and it was true that if Great Britain had entered into the war with a vast number of mounted soldiers it would have long before been concluded. Hereafter it would be recognized that guns were not as mobile as horse soldiers, and that field artillery must be made part of the regular equipment of every army. But, seeing that the British War Office had not lagged behind the best military opinion of to-day, it was ludicrous to charge it with want of prescience. He was sure justice would be done in due time to the administrative system of the army. The last thing the Government desired was any undue concealment of unpleasant facts.

SIR CHARLES WILL ENQUIRE

When the House Meets if the Government Had Taken the Proper Steps in the War.

London, Jan. 10.—Sir Charles Dilke, member of Parliament for the Forest of Dean division of Gloucestershire, speaking at Cinderford to-night, said that Mr. A. J. Balfour, the Government leader in the House of Commons, had asserted that a

WHAT IS RUSSIA'S GAME?

Has the Indian Government Received Disquieting Information Regarding Russian Movements in the Direction of Persia?

London, Jan. 11.—The Calcutta correspondent of The Daily Mail says: "While the official statement that no alarm is felt concerning Afghanistan is quite true, I have good reason to believe that the Indian Government has received disquieting information regarding Russia's movements in the direction of Persia.

"Russia is taking advantage of the Transvaal trouble to strengthen her armaments and to push forward her outposts along the Persian frontier, with a view of ultimate annexation, a design in which Germany would probably acquiesce in consideration of receiving railway concessions."

THEY HAVE TAKEN THE OATH

Hugh John Macdonald's Cabinet Was Sworn In at Winnipeg at Noon Yesterday.

THE MEMBERS ALL ONTARIO MEN.

Hon. Messrs. Mickie and Watson Called at Government Offices to Say Good-Bye.

Premier and Attorney-General, Hugh John Macdonald, Winnipeg.

Provincial Treasurer and Minister of Agriculture, John A. Davidson, Neepawa.

Provincial Secretary and Minister of Public Works, D. H. McFadden, Emerson.

Without portfolio, James Johnston, Boissevain.

Without portfolio, Colin H. Campbell, Winnipeg.

Winnipeg, Jan. 10.—(Special.)—Hugh John Macdonald and his four colleagues, whose names and portfolios are given above, took the oath of office at Government House today at 12 o'clock, which was administered by Lieut.-Governor Patterson.

The first three named will have to go back to their constituents for re-election. The Opposition hope that Mr. imes will be unseated in Beautiful Plains, and Mr. Davidson will again stand for re-election in that constituency.

The Ministers have now assumed the duties of their several offices.

Hon. Mr. Mickie and Hon. Robert Watson called at the Government Buildings this morning and said good-bye to the clerks in the departments.

There is a good deal of talk in Opposition circles regarding changes in the civil service.

Every member of the new Cabinet hails from Ontario. Hugh John was born in Kingston, McFadden in Peterboro County, Davidson in Oxford County, Johnston in Mitchell, and Campbell in Burlington.

The convention called for this evening by the executive of the Liberal Association to nominate a candidate for the bye-election, adjourned without taking any action. There was an attendance of between one and two hundred. Robert Muir, vice-president of the Liberal Association, occupied the chair. After the meeting had been called to order, W. E. Perdue, Q.C., moved an adjournment. Personally he expressed his intention of supporting E. D. Martin, who is in the field as an independent Liberal.

His motion was voted down by a large majority.

J. D. Conklin then moved that Mr. Martin's candidature be endorsed.

A good deal of discussion followed. Regrets were expressed regarding the division in the Liberal party. Some spoke favorable to Martin, others strongly opposed him.

Andrew Strong moved that the meeting adjourn.

This took precedence over Conklin's motion and was carried by a large majority, so that nothing was done. The prospects, therefore, are that Martin, Independent Liberal, and Puttee, labor candidate, will be left to fight out the contest.

Mr. Martin's railway platform is satisfactory to a large majority of the Conservatives.

ON TRIAL FOR MANSLAUGHTER.

Aftermath of the Sad Death of Mrs. Rogers—Case Continues This Morning.

Before Magistrate Denison yesterday the preliminary investigation was commenced into the charge of manslaughter preferred against Charles H. Rust, City Engineer; E. H. Keating, manager of the Toronto Railway Company; James Gunn, superintendent; Motorman Fewster and Liverman Arthur Kinsella. The defendants were charged with having on Dec. 16 last killed Mrs. James E. Rogers.

The defendants were represented by Corporation Counsel Fullerton, James Bicknell and J. E. Jones.

Those who testified were: Frank Berkinshaw, 221 Shaw-street; W. H. Lee, druggist at Wellesley and Church-streets; Dr. Elliott, Dr. Bernard, P. S. Watson, James M. Watson, P. C. Kenaedy, Sherwood Crawford, C. A. B. Brown and Roadmaster Nix. The evidence was very similar to that given at the inquest.

After Mr. Bicknell had filed some correspondence, which passed between the City Engineer and the Street Railway Company, the case was adjourned till this morning.

None Can Compare With Dineens'.

In the first place the tailor could not obtain the muskrat fur for the lining, nor the otter fur for the great collar and lapels at the same low price which Dineens, buying in immense quantities, pay for these furs. And Dineens make perhaps fifty coats where the merchant tailor would average but one—that is why Dineens' special $50 fur-lined overcoats are every whit equal to the best garments that a merchant tailor can produce for $75. And what furrier in Toronto can afford to compete with Dineens' prices for choice quality in fur wear of any kind?

WANTS TO KNOW IF IT'S PROPER

For a Judge to Express Patriotic Views—La Patrie's Uncalled for Expressions.

Montreal, Jan. 10.—(Special.)—After having crossed swords with Lord Minto and Gen. Hutton, Hon. Mr. Tarte has now taken Sir William Meredith in hand, and simply because the Chief Justice of Ontario is a loyal British subject. Referring to Sir William's opinion, as expressed to the grand jury, that Canada should pay the entire cost of the two contingents, La Patrie says: "Mr. Meredith is the ex-leader of the Ontario Tories, and he appears to have forgotten on Monday last that he was no longer a politician. Is it really proper for a judge to trace the line of conduct that the Government should follow? Is it not possible that Sir William Meredith desired in this innocent manner to give a helping hand to his friend, Sir Charles Tupper? Would it not be wrong to tolerate on the part of a judge any interference in political affairs, even if his suggestions happened to be sound? Had a judge in the Province of Quebec used such language from the bench he would have caused the most lively protestation. In Toronto, however, such things appear to be acceptable as a matter of course."

TRAITOR TO EMPIRE AND HIS OWN RACE

That is What Dr. Louis Frechette Says of the Writer of That Tirade

IN LA SEMAINE RELIGIEUSE

La Presse Protests Against It, Saying It Goes Beyond Criticism and is Unjust.

THE ARCHBISHOP NON-COMMITTAL.

Says the Writer Alone is Responsible and the Hierarchy is Not Accountable.

Montreal, Jan. 10.—(Special.)—It is needless to say that the treasonable article written by Abbe Gosselin of La Semaine Religieuse has provoked indignation amongst all classes, and the eloquent protest from Canada's poet, Dr. Frechette, will be read with pleasure. "I cannot find fit words to express myself about it," said Dr. Louis Frechette. "The man who prints such utterances in a British colony is a traitor to the Empire and a traitor to his own race. He commits the crime of lese nationality, and deserves the utter contempt of all thinking people. I am both surprised and angered to see that Archbishop Begin, under whose auspices La Semaine Religieuse of Quebec comes out, has not yet denied all responsibility in the matter, and I expect and hope he will. As a matter of fact, I am sure he will, as soon as the article is brought to his notice."

"Do you consider Le Semaine Religieuse as expressing the general sentiment of the French-Canadian clergy? Do you attach any importance to its editorials?"

"None whatever. I believe that the French-Canadian clergy are thoroughly loyal. The editor of La Semaine, you may say over my signature, is an irresponsible individual, making all this fuss on his own account. He should be silenced, and I think he will be."

La Presse Protests.

La Presse newspaper also says: "It is our solemn duty to protest against the article. This tirade goes beyond the limits of criticism, and enters upon that of injustice, disloyalty and almost treason. To say that the French-Canadians are oppressed by England is a falsehood without name, for if there is a free people in its politics, in its social life, in its language, in its laws and its worship in all the world, it is certainly the French population in the Province of Quebec."

What the Archbishop Says.

Archbishop Bruchesi, on being shown the translation of the article at the palace this morning, said: "I have not seen the issue of La Semaine Religieuse, published in the Archdiocese of Quebec, which contains the article, and I have not seen the article itself. I cannot pronounce an opinion upon the translation of it, which may not be correct."

"Could you not give an expression of your views regarding the sentiments contained in the article?" the Archbishop was asked.

"I do not see how I can do that," His Grace replied. "You see the position is one of peculiar delicacy. You are asking me to express an opinion upon a matter over which I have no jurisdiction. I would place myself in the position of a judge who ventures to criticize the act of the office of another judge over whom he has no authority. The publication in question is not produced by the direct authority of the Archbishop. It is published in the Archdiocese of Quebec, but it is edited by a priest, Father Gosselin, who lives in the diocese, and the article is presumably written by him. I do not believe the Archbishop saw the article, and I do not think he could have approved of it. The article carried with it no more weight than the individual opinion of the person who wrote it. The Archbishop cannot be held responsible for it."
