for $1011.45 for extra furniture for various departments came up. The adderman took particular exception to the frem of $874.60 for the Assessment Department. "That department is furnished in the most modern style, after the manner of a Turkish harem. Chairs that had cost $12.50 each were placed there and thrown out by the commissioner to make room for chairs costing $50 aplece. It is nothing short of a piece of bare-faced plundering. You can vote for it if you like, but I intend to take action myself. I shall ask for yeas and nays," warmly remarked Ald. Sheard, how said the furniture had been ordered without any authority, and should be paid for by the party who ordered it.

Ald. Sheppard said Ald. Sheard had been missinformed. The furniture had not all been for the Assessment Commissioners private office, but was for the general office. The stand taken was that the Rogers firm had furnished the goods to the whole bill and should be paid. A motion of Ald. Sheard to refer the report back for further details was defeated as follows:

"It will be said if we don't get this thru now we will have no time to bring it before the legislature, and that we would rather fight it there than see it go thru at the last meeting of the Council."
