

During the Summer the ceiling of the Lecture Hall was colored, the walls were painted and fastening boards added to the seats.

For the want of funds your Directors have been compelled to leave the Museum in the same state in which it has been for several years, as a considerable sum would be required to re-classify and re-arrange, in a proper manner, the articles it contains.

The President and Directors, in concluding their Report, feel it would be useless to make an abstract of the estimated income or expenditure of the next year, those made on former occasions having so often proved incorrect. They would urge upon the incoming Board to abate not one jot or tittle in the efforts which have been made to reduce in every possible way the expenditure, and to exert every means to increase the membership and thereby increase the income as well as the efficiency of an old and popular Institution.
