Gibson Murder Trial Jury Ballot In Vain

SENT BACK AGAIN

Six Hours in Jury Room Result in No Verdict, and Six Hours Later There Was No Change—Some Questions

(Canadian Press) Goshen, N. Y., Nov. 25.—Twelve hours' deliberation failed to unite today the twelve men with whom rests the fate of Burton W. Gibson. When daylight filtered into the room where the jury had spent the night discussing whether or not the young New York lawyer murdered his client, Mrs. Rosa Menzies Sabo, there was no sign that they had agreed. The difficulty the jurors encountered in making up their minds was evidenced early this morning when, after six hours of fruitless wrangling, they fled into the court room and told Justice Tompkins that they could not agree. "You will retire, gentlemen," directed the court in reply, "and make another attempt to find a verdict. Gibson stood down in his seat when Foreman Hicks announced a disagreement. Mrs. Gibson, whose tears had been near the surface all day, buried her face in her hands and wept almost shaking the table with convulsive sobs. She sat there without moving long after the jury room door had closed again on the jury. During their stay in the court room one juror wanted to know if it had to do with the fact that Mrs. Sabo was strangled to death in order to return a verdict of conviction. He was told yes. Another wanted the Sabo will. It was given him. A third wanted the letters the alleged victim sent to her home in Austria, and these too went back into the little room behind the locked and bolted doors. The foreman has reported prospects good for reaching a verdict. LATER. Goshen, N. Y., Nov. 25.—The Gibson jury disagreed.

CHINESE CAPTURE A TOWN IN MONGOLIA

Action in Trouble Brewing Between China and Russia

Chicago, Nov. 25.—News of the Chinese expedition to Mongolia under Prince Po-ti was received here yesterday in a cable to the Daily News from Peking. The cable said: "The war office today made public a copy of a telegram from the loyal Mongol general, Prince Po-ti, saying that Uliassai, Mongolia, had been captured by his command. According to a telegram from Kichin, a city on the Russian side of the northern frontier of Mongolia, the Mongols recently seized the Chinese government telegraph office at Mianchong, Mongolia, threw out the Chinese operators and installed Russians. The Russians are sending detachments from various military stations toward Urgan and western Mongolia with the avowed object of protecting the lives and property of Russian subjects. It is believed, however, to be a counter move to the Chinese movements in upper Mongolia."

ELECTRIC ROAD FROM QUEBEC TO WINNIPEG

A Great Project is Announced Today by Porcupine Company

TO TAP NEW COUNTRY

Some of Territory Not Covered by the Great Steam Roads, but Connection Made With All-Proposed New Railway Regins to Red Deer

(Canadian Press) Toronto, Nov. 25.—An electric railroad with lines stretching from Winnipeg to Quebec and with seven points of contact with the great steam roads of the country was the future outlined for the Porcupine Belt Electric Railway Company, at the first meeting of its directors last night. The company already has been granted a charter permitting the construction and operation of 200 miles of road in Ontario and has applied for charters to allow construction of joining pieces of the line in Quebec and Manitoba. This winter, the first seventy-five miles of the road is to be surveyed by eight parties, who are to be sent out into the north country. This is to form the nucleus of the great electric transport yet wrought through striking distance of achieved fact in Canada. Within the provisions of their Ontario charter the company already has power to build the largest section of the great new scheme, a line from Larder City east to the Quebec boundary. This will stretch west to Nipigon Bay, giving deep water harbor on Lake Superior and coming in on the benefits of the proposed Dominion government projects. From there the line will run west to the Manitoba border to meet the construction of the new line from Winnipeg to the charter now applied for in the western province. On the east and covered by the Quebec charter will be a line running from the border 129 miles to a point on the C. P. P. transcontinental system, and midway between this station will run southeast to the C. P. R. to Montreal. A still further projection will run northeast to Quebec from the C. P. R. on the south, the latter an electric railway will run from Quebec to Winnipeg with lines running through the country to the north, the latter a great transcontinental steam road, but with connections with all of them at least one point of junction. In Quebec and in Ontario as far west as Nipigon, the line will run between that of the C. P. R. and the C. P. P. on the north and the C. P. R. on the south, the latter again crossing the electric road at a point midway between the junction at Nipigon and the Manitoba border. The line from Nipigon to Winnipeg will be run upon a survey made a few years ago by Sir Sanford Fleming. Winnipeg, Nov. 25.—An application is to be made to parliament for a charter for Dominion Northwestern Railway Company to construct a line from Regina to Red Deer, Alberta, via Tuxford on the C. P. R., with a branch north to Battleford.

HEARING IN MAGISTRATE MATTER SENSATIONAL

Inquiry Into Howes and Lenihan Statements Begun by Judge Armstrong

Evidence All in Except That of One Witness—Magistrate Himself on the Stand—Clashes Between Principals a Feature of The Proceedings

The investigation into the charges against Hon. R. J. Ritchie, police magistrate, was commenced this morning in the Probate Court room in the Pugsley building. The inquiry was conducted by Colonel J. Russell Armstrong, commissioner appointed by the provincial government. Mr. Barry appeared for the complainants and the magistrate conducted his own defence. The court room was crowded with spectators, there being some hot passages between the magistrate and the complainants. The charges laid by the complainants, which it was alleged were paid into court and had not been accounted for. The magistrate's explanation was that in both cases the money had been held by the counsel for the complainants and he vigorously denied anything irregular in his connection with the matters, the facts of which he freely admitted. The court convened at eleven o'clock, Commissioner J. Russell Armstrong, K.C., presiding. Thomas McCullough was appointed clerk and stenographer and read the matters set out in the investigation. Commissioner Armstrong read the petition of the complainants. The first was that of Ernest Howes, of Sussex, butcher, who said that in August, 1911, while he was proprietor of the Park Hotel, St. John, he had engaged E. S. Ritchie as his counsel, instructing him to plead guilty; that later he gave Mr. Ritchie $100 to pay the fine imposed against him; that a fortnight later he received a telephone message from the police clerk to the effect that he had not paid the $100 at once a commitment would be issued against him; that he informed Mr. Ritchie that he had given the money to his counsel; that later, when he was preparing to leave the city, he saw the magistrate, who said that he could go away and need not worry about the matter. When Howes was called the magistrate asked if he would mind telling whether he set the matter going himself or whether it was at someone else's instigation. Mr. Barry objected and the question was ruled out by the commissioner. When Mr. Howes had concluded his evidence the commissioner asked the magistrate if he had any questions to ask. The latter replied that he had none. Mr. Barry said that he was not ready to make a speech, if I did not ask you, Mr. Barry.—"Did the magistrate mention the name of E. S. Ritchie the first or second time?" "No." "You never got a bill from Mr. Ritchie?" "No." "You would have paid it if you did?" "I always pay my bills."

CALGARY GAMBLING JOINT IS RAIDED BY ROBBERS

Hold up Seven Men and Relieve Them of Their Rolls—Cut Wires and Escape

Calgary, Alb., Nov. 25.—Two masked men held up a gambling house in Ninth avenue yesterday, lined seven men up against the wall at the point of revolvers, obtained from $1,300 to $2,000. After cutting the telephone wires the bandits made their escape. The robbers walked boldly into the room and commanded the seven players to hold up their hands. There was no hesitancy about obeying the command. Red George, Jos. Henthorn and Morris Day, three of the visitors, and their four companions were promptly lined up with their faces to the wall. The general belief is that gamblers who knew of the high play of the place had something to do with the hold-up.

JOHN T. BRUSH, HEAD OF GIANTS, DIES IN HIS CAR

Traveling West For Good Of His Health, Succumbs At Louisiana

HAD BEEN LONG TIME ILL

For Many Years a Sufferer From Locomotor Ataxia—One of The Most Prominent Men in Baseball—Son-in-Law Likely Successor

(Canadian Press) Louisiana, Mo., Nov. 25.—John T. Brush, president of the New York National baseball team, died in his private car Oceanside here early this morning. He was on his way west for his health. He had suffered for years from locomotor ataxia, died between here and St. Louis on his way to San Francisco. New York, Nov. 25.—The news of John T. Brush's death was not unexpected by his family and friends here. The wealthy owner of the New York National League team had been at a desk door for some time and the long trip to sunny California was decided upon a few days ago as a last resort. Mr. Brush, who was sixty-three years of age, had been a sufferer from locomotor ataxia for many years. In 1910 he was critically ill but after spending the winter in Texas he came back to New York much improved and took up his business affairs again. His health continued to improve until September 11, when he met with an automobile accident in which he sustained a broken hip. Realizing the serious nature of his illness Mr. Brush recently ordered a re-organization of the New York club's business affairs. It is said that he practically gave up hope of recovery at that time and accordingly put the club in the hands of H. M. Hemphreys, the son-in-law, resigning the duties of secretary and treasurer to R. H. McCutcheon in place of Joseph P. Killam and John Whelan. In the event of Mr. Brush's death it was said that Mr. Hemphreys would become his personal representative. John T. Brush was one of the most prominent men in baseball long before he came to New York. He first came to the notice of the public when he was transferred to Cincinnati and in 1902 he sold his holdings there and purchased the New York club.

NOT GUILTY

Lawrence Mill Strike Murder Case Ends

SPEECHES IN COURT

Giovannitti Thanks Jury and Editor Addresses the Court—Trial Arose From Killing of Anna Lopizzo in Riot During Strike

(Canadian Press) Salem, Mass., Nov. 25.—"Not guilty," is the verdict of the jury in the case of Joseph J. Eitor, Arturo Giovannitti and Joseph Caruso for the murder of Anna Lopizzo, who was killed in a Lawrence textile strike riot last winter. When the three men had heard the words freeing them from the charge, they embraced and kissed each other in the prisoner's cage. Giovannitti sprang to his feet. "Gentlemen of the jury," he said, "the facts bearing upon this case are of justice, truth and civilization, I thank you." Eitor, the leader of the strike at Lawrence, addressed the jury: "May it please the court," he said, "I thank you not only for myself, but in the name of my companions. I also feel impelled to thank the court for the fair manner in which this trial has been conducted. The thanks we offer is not only ours, but thanks in the name of the working class." The trial of Joseph J. Eitor, industrial of the executive committee of the Industrial Workers of the World; Arturo Giovannitti, a socialist writer of Brooklyn, and Joseph Caruso, a mill worker, came about in consequence of the strike in the textile mills in Lawrence, Mass., suddenly precipitated on January 12 last, and continued for two months. Eitor and Giovannitti were accused as accessories before the fact in the murder of Anna Lopizzo, who was killed in a street riot. The commonwealth maintained they incited the riot, in which the woman met her death, by inflammatory speeches to the strikers. Caruso was accused with Salvatore Scuto, who never has been apprehended, with actual participation in the riot. When the jurors had left, the court announced to Caruso that there was another indictment against him, charging him with assault with a deadly weapon, with intent to kill, and that the court would release him on his own recognizance. Eitor and Giovannitti were also held on another indictment charging them, together with William D. Haywood, with the Lawrence strike. On this they were released on the bonds of $500 each. The Lawrence strike leaders were then freed from the prisoners. The defendants and their attorneys held a jubilant meeting in the courtroom, and a few minutes later, followed by a cheering throng of mill workers, they marched through the streets from the court house to the local office of the Industrial Workers of the World, where they remained for some time in jubilation.
