Dead Skin Replaced Two Hours After Accident-Great Feat in Surgery by Dr. J. F. C. Forster. of Dorchester, N. B.

Lincoln Hospital Restores Skull Gap to Brave Lass, Using Six Thousand Hot Compresses.

(Written by Vincent S. Cooke of the N. Y. Press.)

Eleven days after her scalp was riping shaft in a mill, Charlotte Willston not only is recovering, but the fleshy cap of the head, replaced two hours after it was torn off, has become united, a new growth of hair has started. Dr. Forster, "and tell them to send that girl's scalp here at once" There was so much confusion in the factory that the message was delayed, but, when understood, the torn scalp, with its great wealth of silky brown hair, was taken from beneath the thaft, placed in a box, and a man set out on a run for the hospital, ten good blocks away. He ran so fast that when he reached the hospital he almost fainted from exhaustion. Nearly two hours elapsed between the accident and the delivery of the scalp, which was then cold and dead. SALINE SOLUTION USED.

A hot saline solution was prepared and the fleshy skull cap, first denuded of its beautiful growth, was immersed. At the same time Dr. Forster's assistants were cleansing the patient's head. Her nerve was extraordinary. She refused to take any anaesthetic, but told the doctors to go ahead.

As soon as the scalp had been warmed up to blood heat in the salt bath it was fitted on the bare skull. No antiseptle dressings could be used, as they would prevent reuniting of the tissue. As a general rule the replacement has been made within a few minutes after the removal, when the blood is warm and the scalp still is throbbing with life. Even then the blood vessels refuse to reconnect, so that the case of Miss Willston is all the more interesting. HALIFAX, N. S., March. 1.- The Liberal Conservative convention that met here today was the largest and in many respects the best in the history of the party in Nova Scotia. Delegates were present from every part of the province, the total in attendance being about 225. The purpose of the convention was mainly to perfect provincial organization. To this end, for one thing the province was divided into five districts, the chairman of each of which will be a vice-president of the association. R. L. Borden was made honorary president, and John F. Stairs, president.
