FREDERICTON.

[Progress is for sale in Fredericton by W. T. H. Fenety and J. H. Hawthorne.]

Oct. 24.—Miss Jeanette Beverley is visiting friends in Boston and vicinity, having a pleasant time recruiting, and sharpening her quill; among the cultured residents of the Hub.

There is not much stir among the celestials in social circles this week, but the near future is full of promises. A number of pleasant gatherings are anticipated for next Tuesday evening, which it is hoped will be the last of the season, but not confined to them. Several dances are on the carpet for the more advanced youths and maidens.

The young people of the Epworth League intend having a very unique and mysterious social on Tuesday evening in the Temperance hall, which no doubt will be largely attended.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Byron Winslow, of this city, who sailed from New York for Europe on steamer Lucania enjoyed the fastest trip any vessel has yet made crossing the big pond from that city to Queenstown. The Lucania's time was five days, thirteen hours and thirty minutes.

The remains of Robert Moore, son of the late Mrs. Charles Moore, arrived here from Boston, and were interred this afternoon at sunnybank cemetery. Owing to the lateness of the season there will not be much done in the way of rebuilding the burnt district in St. Mary's. But as next spring opens up the smart little village will begin to show itself again and probably all the buildings burned will be replaced in better style than before.

Mr. and Mrs. William Lamont entertained a number of their friends on Monday evening at their pleasant home, River-view.

Pleasant rumors are afloat, wafted from Shore Street. Brunettes are always charming. Fredericton is so full of life and vigor, and we wish them a happy New Year in advance, and safe return.

Captain Davies is building a large addition to his handsome residence on Brunswick street. The new wing will be a two-story structure, and will be a very fine example of modern architecture. It is expected that it will be completed in a few weeks.

The following is a programme from a popular Queens ward merchant: Direct to Charlotteville, four days there. An extended tour through principal American cities. Probably visit the Yosemite Valley. At home, St. John street, May, no presents. Miss Goudie of St. John, who has been visiting friends here for some weeks, returned to her home this morning.

A thanksgiving service and organ recital was held in the cathedral last Sunday evening. The church, which was beautifully decorated with flowers, fruit and grain, was crowded to the doors. The value of music, especially in religious worship, is a subject of very high order and much appreciated by the large audience.

Cambridge House, which has for some time been remodeling and renovating will shortly be ready for its new owners, the Hon. Judge and Mrs. Fraser. Your correspondent will, no doubt, have the pleasure of chronicling the generous hospitality during the coming winter. It is a grand old house, with a magnificent outlook and will make a lovely home.

Governor and Mrs. Boyd are registered at the Queen Hotel here a few days.

Miss Dora Hickson gave a very pleasant card party to her friends at her mother's charming home on George street last Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Coleman left this morning to visit the World's Fair.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Heard, of Charlottetown, who have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Heard, left this morning to visit the World's Fair.

Mr. George Hatt, another of our old citizens, who has been an invalid for a long time, is also very low. The sands of life are nearly out and each day brings him nearer home.

The weather is delightfully mild, and pleasant. A party of our ladies, several days ago, took their baskets and went to the woods to gather the aromatic herbs. They spent a pleasant afternoon, returning with their baskets filled with evergreen and fragrant herbs. It was but a dream, for next day they were informed that the baskets contained the wrong kind of herbs. They decided next time to take one of the unmarried principals of our city schools with them.

Oct. 23.—At last there has been a break in the monotony, as last evening Dr. and Mrs. C. W. Bradley entertained some of their numerous friends to a delightful drive which terminated in a party, celebrating the sixteenth anniversary of their wedding. The handsome parlors never looked to better advantage, being profusely decorated with house plants and cut flowers.
