Atlantic City Base.

The America will be housed at Atlantic City during preliminary trials. A shed to shelter her has been contracted for and hydrogen gas apparatus has been shipped from Paris.

Equipped for a day's run, she could carry 75 passengers in addition to her full crew. In size she ranks second only to the latest Zeppelin airship.

The quantity of fuel carried gives the airship a greater radius of action than the distance from New York to Europe and a study of prevailing winds during the season at which it is proposed to make the passage, shows that they lie parallel to the eastbound course laid down by Atlantic liners.

Wellman and Vaniman are by no means sure that their attempt will be successful, but they think that the chances are good enough to warrant a trial.

LYNCHING OF WHITE MAN AT NEWARK, OHIO

Swift Justice for Anti-Saloon Detective. SHOT POLICE CHIEF.

Rioting Caused Big Effort To Enforce Prohibitory Law Culminates in Tragedy—Victim 22 Years Old.

Newark, Ohio, July 8.—Carl Etherington, 22 years old, employed Thursday night by the State Anti-Saloon League, as a blind tiger raider, was lynched here at 10:35 tonight, following a day of almost continuous rioting.

Etherington early in the evening, confessed he killed Wm. Howard, proprietor of the "Last Chance" restaurant, and former Chief of Police, in a raid of alleged "speak easies" during a scuffle at 1:30 this afternoon, and narrowly escaped lynching at that time.

The doors fell after nearly an hour's attack. Crying piteously, Etherington, a curly headed Kentuckian, who had been serving as a strike breaker since he was released from the city prison, three months ago, was dragged forth. "I didn't mean to do it," he wailed, but his cries fell upon deaf ears.

Fearing that the mob spirit would not be satisfied with one victim, Sheriff Linke immediately asked Adj. Gen. Winbrecht for troops to protect six other "dry" raiders held at the city prison, in another section of the town. A hurried guard was thrown out in the defence. The mob after the first taste of blood, seemed to it is feared that they will storm the city prison before the night is finished.

Etherington's last moments, while he heard the mob battering down the doors, were spent in praying and writing a note to his parents, farmers residing near Williamsburg, Ky. "What will mother say when she hears of this?" he kept moaning to the jailer.

While the mob was battering down the doors, Etherington was in his cell. In an attempt to commit suicide he smothered his head in his coat and set fire to it. He was caught in time.

In the melee as the mob was leaving the jail, eight prisoners held for other offenses were released. One refused to leave.

Made a Speech. As Etherington mounted the block ready for the swing he was asked to make a speech. "I want to warn all young fellows not to try to make a living the way I have done—by strike-breaking and taking jobs like this," he declared. "I had better have worked, and I would not be here now."

The swing of the rope cut him short. He hung there for an hour while the crowd quietly left. After the first excitement there was no disorder. At the finish there were hundreds of women and little children in the crowd, all eager to accomplish the death. No member of the mob was masked and no attempt was made to conceal their faces. The leaders were personal friends of the dead man.

Howard, it is charged did not resist the detectives when they entered his place on the outskirts of Newark. He, it is said, put his arms about Etherington, however, as if to hold him, whereupon the officer fired a bullet into Howard's head.

The detectives arrived this morning with search and seizure warrants procured from the mayor of Greenville, a village, Licking county, of which Newark is the county seat, is dry under the Ross local option law, but anti-saloon league officials declared that the law has not been enforced.

Wayne B. Wheeler, state superintendent of the league at Columbus tonight declared that today's situation was brought about by alleged negligence on the part of Mayor Albert of Newark, in not upholding the law.

CAMP SUSSEX ENDS WITHOUT SHAM BATTLE

Rain Spoiled Warlike Preparations. PEACE WITH HONOR.

Decided To Call Fight Off And Leave Camp Peaceably—Commandant Well Pleas'd With Conduct Of Men.

SYDNEY D SCOTT. Sussex, July 8.—All dahger to St. John from the formidable attacking forces is now at an end, and the winter port was saved today without a blow being struck by the defenders. When the troops fell in at about 6:30 o'clock this morning the weather was not very promising and before the first shot of the sham fight had been fired the rain was coming down in torrents and those in charge of the manoeuvres decided it would be the wisest plan to call off the fight and so peace was declared between the Blues and Whites and all hostilities ended in a most peaceful and Christian manner without even signing a treaty of peace. In fact the ending of the great sham fight at Camp Sussex is an example to the world at large of how a war might be prevented by all concerned simply deciding that it is too much trouble to fight and going home in a peaceable manner, especially if it rains.

Farewell Frolics. A few of the men left tonight but the greater part remain in camp till Saturday when they will be for the most part transported by special trains. As the end of camp draws near the men begin to indulge in the time honored custom of putting their fellows under the pumps and occasionally one sees a figure running for dear life across the drill field with a number of his "friends" close at his heels trying to catch up to him and persuade him to come and join the fun. Eventually the pump, under which he is held kicking and struggling till his "friends" choose to liberate him. The shower baths thus provided without expense by the militia department are not limited to privates only and it is often the custom to put several or all of the officers of a corps under the pump. This was the case with the engineers who did not overlook anyone from the captain to the cook in their frolics last night.

Leaving For Home. But now camp is over and the men are scattering to their homes in various parts of the provinces not to assemble for another year. All who were concerned with the camp this year agree that it was one of the most successful held here for some time, the men seemed to be of better material than usual and they especially thank the staff officers and officers commanding brigades and units for their assistance and for the zeal that has been displayed in carrying out camp orders and instructions.

RUSSIA AND JAPAN AGAINST AMERICA

This Is Interpretation Of The Recent Agreement Closing The Two Countries—Closing The Open Doors.

Berlin, July 8.—The liveliest interest is felt in official circles regarding the Russo-Japanese agreement, the text of which has not been forwarded to the German government. The maintenance of the status quo which the agreement is ostensibly intended to secure is considered most desirable. The most delicate point in the agreement refers, according to the semi-official Frankfurter Zeitung to the understanding to act mutually on the defensive against the intervention by third powers in Manchuria which still belongs to China. The agreement therefore cannot be directed against China. It is pointed out that America obtained a concession for the Aguda Chi-Chow railroad from China and the question is now raised here whether the agreement is intended to oppose America's unwelcome intrusion in the Russo-Japanese sphere of influence. If so the agreement is taken to mean the closing of the open door.
