

TABLOID PLAYERS IN NEW PRODUCTION

Present "The White Hat" at the Opera House—A Clever Comedy Hit—A List of Good Musical Numbers.

The Whyte Dramatic and Musical Tabloid Company inaugurated the second week of their engagement in the Opera House last night presenting a delightful comedy, "The White Hat." The piece has several bright features which pleased the audience. There is a thin plot, into which are woven several very amusing situations. The dialogue is crisp and the musical selections, which are eight in number, are all good and well sung in most cases. Among the pieces which seemed to strike the fancy of last night's audience were "The Old Maid's Ball," sung by Billy Whelp, the comedian, Irene Cassini, sourette, was called upon for encores and her work throughout was pleasing. The duet, "The Garden of Dreams," by Mr. Burton and Miss Baird was well chosen of the musical list and was well received.

The following was the cast: Sam Slocum, of the "People's Troupe," Billy Whelp, Harry Fielding, rather fast, Jethro Warner, Mr. Moergridge, elderly and jealous, Tom Burton.

Mrs. Moergridge, subtle and sympathetic, Miss Elsie Baird, Araminta, admitted by Harry, Miss Edith Carlisle, Sarah Tibbs, with an antipathy to white hats, Miss Irene Cassini, "Booby Booby," Mr. Burton.

"That's Why the Violets Live," Miss Baird. The musical numbers included the following:

"I Love You," Mr. Warner and Miss Carlisle. "The Garden of Dreams," Mr. Burton and Miss Baird. "Dream on Dear Heart," Miss Carlisle.

"The Old Maid's Ball," Mr. Whelp and Miss Cassini. "On Her Verandah," Mr. Whelp. "Booby Booby," Mr. Burton.

"That's Why the Violets Live," Miss Baird. "Help, Help, Help," Miss Cassini. The piece will be repeated today and tomorrow.

WEDDINGS.

McLaughlin-Ferguson.

A wedding of much interest took place in the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception yesterday morning at six o'clock. The contracting parties were Edward McLaughlin and Miss Annie Ferguson, daughter of John Ferguson. The ceremony was performed by Rev. D. S. O'Keefe with nuptial mass. The bride was attended by her niece, Miss Geraldine Bowes and John Deering performed the duties of groomsmen. The bride looked charming in a blue tailored suit with large black hat and carried a white prayer book. After the ceremony the bride and groom were taken to the bride's home in St. John's street, where an excellent breakfast was served. The many beautiful presents received showed the high regard entertained for the bride. The groom's presents to the bride included a handsome gold ring, and to the best man a pretty silver pin. The happy couple left by boat for a trip to Boston and New York.

Ewing-Holt.

The Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception was the scene of an interesting event yesterday morning at 7:30 o'clock, when Moses Courtwright Ewing, of Haverhill, Mass., was united in marriage with Miss Sadie Martin, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James T. Holt, 145 Orange street. The sacred rite was administered by Rev. D. S. O'Keefe, with nuptial mass. The bride looked attractive in a white Bedford cord suit and white picture hat, draped with pink roses and lilies of the valley, and carried a bouquet of roses. She also carried a bouquet of roses. Humphrey Sheehan supported the groom. After the ceremony the bride and groom were taken to the bride's home in St. John's street, where an excellent breakfast was served. The many beautiful presents received showed the high regard entertained for the bride. The groom's presents to the bride included a handsome gold ring, and to the best man a pretty silver pin. The happy couple left by boat for a trip to Boston and New York.

Agar-Hodgin.

The marriage of Allen Agar to Miss Ellen Hodgins was celebrated in the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception yesterday morning at 10 o'clock. The contracting parties were Allen Agar, of St. John's, and Miss Ellen Hodgins, of St. John's. The ceremony was performed by Rev. D. S. O'Keefe with nuptial mass. The bride was attended by her niece, Miss Geraldine Bowes and John Deering performed the duties of groomsmen. The bride looked charming in a blue tailored suit with large black hat and carried a white prayer book. "AMINA", PAINTY SPANISH GIRL. HIT AT NICKEL.

"The Octoroon" also, Strong Magnet—J. W. Myers Scores Another Success—Excellent Picture Programme.

The Nickel's program yesterday brought to light another musical star of exceptional brilliancy in Amina, a chic little visitor from Madrid, who is filling a number of engagements under the direction of J. H. Alos, a Montreal impresario. In a most winsome manner the tiny performer charmed her audience with a violin. Her father is a renowned "Paiste," following it up with a very pretty rendering of ragtime. Although several violinists have graced Nickel programs during the last few months, this little Spaniard has unquestionably carried off the laurels for artistic play, and genuinely good selections. It is no wonder indeed that Amina is a true artist for she has been performing in public since the fifth year of her age. Her father is a renowned Spanish pianist, Marceliano Aprior, and when he brought his daughter to America five years ago they played together in the best musical circles. Now that Amina's father is reacquainted in Madrid she is playing solo under special auspices. Before coming to St. John the little violinist was very successful in the New Imperial Theatre, Montreal.

That will know drama, "The Octoroon," was of intense interest yesterday, and will be concluded today. It is a Viagraph production and introduces some talented players as Clara Kimball Young, Leo Delaney, Wm. Ramous, Lillian Walker, Mrs. Maurice, Earle Williams and others. The story is called "The White Slave," and deals with life in Southern States before the war. It is a two-part drama of melodramatic character and holds the audience's attention from start to finish.

In addition to this excellent picture the little pretty comedy entitled "Pat the Cowboy," J. W. Myers is singing another pretty ballad entitled "Good Bye Sweetheart," and is as usual being received with much favor.

ENTERED SUMMER CAMP. Patrolman McNamee arrived at central police station early last evening with five small boys who are charged by Jas. L. McAvity with breaking into his summer camp on the Red Head Road. The boys are Arthur O'Connell, 12; Guy Northrup, aged 12; Cornelius Flynn, aged 10; Harry Wilson, aged 11, and John Wilson, aged 12. The youngsters were allowed to remain in the guard room until their parents called for them and then they were taken to their homes on the parents' promise to have them in the court this morning. It is a case where the boys have played truant from school and took day in the country. They claim to have found the camp open when they visited it.

pany, and his claim of $10,000 against Carbonneau failed.

In his evidence Carbonneau said that he first floated the Mexican and Cuban Estates Company in New York. He registered it under the laws of South Dakota. The company had a nominal capital of $5,000,000. Many New York business men had big interests in it. The deeds of the property were drawn up by Vidal, a New York attorney. After the registration some difficulties arose, and ultimately he incorporated a new company, called the Cuban Land and Plantation Company. All debenture bonds were issued from registered offices in New York.

Carbonneau's evidence proceeded to outline a big scheme which he said had been organized by financiers, who had tried to get control of the company to wreck the Cuban land concern. Notices, he said, were published in the principal New York daily papers, and ministers of the Cuban government received anonymous letters alleging irregularities on the part of Carbonneau. His evidence was to the effect that the present proceedings had really been instigated by this opposition group of financiers, who were trying to ruin him, and that Kinnear was only a pawn in the game.

This was the view that the jury apparently took when it awarded the action of Carbonneau, who is now under arrest in Paris on charges concerning big financial deals. The American authorities are also said to be interested in these Paris charges.

CHAMBERS NOW HAS THE MONEY

Aviator who Would Attempt Trans-Atlantic Flight Declares He has Secured Unconditional Backing in Venture.

C. F. Montague Chambers, who has announced his intention of attempting a transatlantic flight, informed The Standard last evening that the needed backing, which has heretofore been conditional has now been given unconditionally and that he will attempt the flight, beginning from a point in Newfoundland during August. I see no difficulties in the way, he said. When asked who the parties backing the venture were, he stated that this was private. He, however, seemed highly optimistic of the success of his proposed trip.

Last evening both Mr. Chambers and Samuel Larsson, his mechanic, appeared on the platform at the Nickel and were introduced to the audience by W. H. Golding, the manager. Neither of the men made a speech but were heartily applauded by the large number present.

Courtenay Bay will soon have another church, making the third to be established in that vicinity. At a Methodist district meeting held in the city this week it was decided to have erected a church on the land at Courtenay Bay. The piece of land on which it is the intention to erect the building is situated in Regent Avenue, Courtenay Bay Heights. It is the intention to have a start made on the building at an early date.
