Careless Shampooing Spoils the Hair

If you want to keep your hair looking its best, be careful what you wash it with. Don't use prepared shampoos or anything else, that contains too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is just ordinary, mild, coconut oil (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than anything else you can use.

One of two teaspoonsful will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mild coconut oil at any pharmacy. It's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.—Adv.

DEFENDS FREE SPEECH, PRESS

Borah Bill, Introduced in the Senate, Provides Fines for Officials.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Senator Borah, representative of Idaho, has introduced a bill proposing fines, imprisonment and removal from office of any federal official found guilty of unlawfully trespassing on the rights of free speech, free press and assembly granted by the constitution.

In drafting the bill, it is said Senator Borah had the advice and assistance of lawyers, some of them formerly connected with the department of justice. The measure will be supported, it was announced by the National Popular Government League, the organization which recently attacked Attorney General Palmer for department of justice raids last year. State and municipal officers as well as federal officers would come within its terms.

Introducing the measure, Senator Borah said: "The civil rights of the private citizen have of late often been challenged and many times wholly denied. This condition has been on the increase for the last quarter of a century. More and more, there has been a disregard of the great guarantees of the federal constitution so far as the rights of the private citizen are concerned. The facts in support of this judgment are at hand and overwhelming. Men in authority, officers and the like, have made arrests without warrant, broken into private dwellings without authority, and practiced brutality toward citizens guilty of no offense. The private citizen under such conditions is practically without resource. This practice seems to be greatly on the increase. Lawlessness in public office and in public places fattens by what it feeds upon."

"I do not think we get anywhere, however, by merely criticizing particular individuals or by denouncing for a day a particular public officer. In fact, when such practices have become ingrained in our system, no particular officer is individually responsible. The situation deserves general consideration and permanent treatment. I have therefore introduced this bill, which is designed to protect the private citizen in his constitutional rights, particularly against the arbitrary and lawless acts of public officers. It seems to me that, if fairly gets at the situation and would help greatly to remedy this growing evil. In any event, it will serve as a measure around which possibly a better measure may be constructed. There is no one whose duty it is to be more scrupulous of the obligations of the constitution or more regardful of the constitutional rights of the citizen than the officer entrusted for a brief season with great authority. Lawlessness among those whose duty it is to enforce and uphold the law breeds lawlessness, and not only that, it betrays distrust and disaffection for the Government itself among the people generally. A high and sincere regard for law, a profound respect for our constitution must begin with those who are entrusted with the execution of the law. Obedience to the law is the primal pillar upon which free institutions rest. When this spirit of obedience is broken down, law itself becomes in a sense mockery."

RESTAURANT KEEPERS BEWAILING THE SLUMP

Fashionable London Hotel Proprietors Say Receipts Drop.

LONDON, March 3.—Proprietors of fashionable west end hotels and restaurants are bewailing the slump in their receipts, they declare, has taken place.

"We have the same number of people dining each night," said the manager of one of the best-known restaurants, "but our receipts are 50 per cent below those of a year ago. The difference," he added, "is chiefly a matter of wine. During the war, and before the war, it was customary for a small party here to have a magnum of champagne. Now they are satisfied with a bottle of Chablis or some other wine, which costs much less than champagne."

Apart from the greater expense, said a famous hotel manager, "there must be admitted that dining out is not as pleasant as it used to be. The restaurants, where there used to be refinement and charm, not only in the surroundings, but in the people themselves, have been invaded by a new type of diner."

"The conversation and the behavior of these new clients have rather vulgarized some of the best restaurants and the old frequenters prefer to dine at home or at their clubs. Two nights ago I saw a man in what used to be one of the most fashionable and refined of London restaurants dining with his servant tucked all around his collar. That sort of thing rather spoils the charm of dining out for patrons of the old school."

"As far as the best brands of champagne are concerned, the sale is dead," said the head of a large firm of wine merchants in Pall Mall. "We are selling very little champagne to our private customers, who are instead drinking port, sherry, Marsala and claret. People cannot afford champagne. They could when it could be had at from eight to nine shillings a bottle, but what with increased taxes and high prices generally, they naturally light shy of paying from 16 to 20 shillings for a bottle of champagne, which is now demanded of them."

QUEBEC LIQUOR BILL AROUSES INTEREST IN ENGLISH NEWSPAPER

London Daily Telegraph Comments On Situation in Canada.

LONDON, March 3.—(Canadian Associated Press).—The Daily Telegraph in a recent issue discusses at some length a dispatch from its Montreal correspondent, stating that a general caucus of supporters of the administration has been held to discuss the proposed policy of Government control of the liquor business throughout the province, and that the result has been the definite adoption of that policy, which will have the full support of the majority in the Legislature.

The Telegraph says of the scheme: "If the proposed legislation comes into force in Quebec, the United States will, for the first time, have a Canadian neighbor whose Government is directly interested in the sale of liquor—a strange proximity for a country which has done what is possible to make liquor wholly unobtainable within its borders. But it need scarcely be said that the authorities in Quebec do not propose to stand behind the vast organization of 'boot-legging' which is carried on at present on both sides of the frontier. So far as Quebec is concerned that organization is likely to disappear. The trade done by the Government, of course, to be a legitimate one, and it is intended to enforce the law with severity when it comes into operation. One industry which is doomed to destruction, according to our correspondent, is that of the large number of physicians in 'dry' areas who profit by the exception made in favor of persons who need liquor for medical reasons. These practitioners, it is stated, sell signed prescriptions at a dollar a piece, with a space left blank for the name of the particular 'medicine' required—a particularly unsavory example of the vast growth of fraud and hypocrisy which seems inevitably to follow on the enactment of 'dry' legislation. But when all forms of illegitimate business are ruled out, there appears to be no question that the Quebec exchequer stands to benefit very largely by the policy which is about to take statutory shape. The province will still be, as our correspondent puts it, 'the Mecca of the people of the United States and the provinces' who need a respite from prohibition sufficiently to seek it in Quebec; and of these there are growing numbers enough to create a busy tourist traffic from all parts of the English-speaking North America. The experiment, whatever may be said of it and it will come under a hot fire of criticism from widely different bodies of opinion and interest—will be highly interesting to serve in its development; and it may very easily be more successful in its political social results than prohibition at present seems to be."

BRITISH ACTORS ARE STRONGLY OPPOSED TO SHOWS ON SABBATH
George Bernard Shaw Had the Meeting Roaring With Laughter.

LONDON, March 3.—British actors and actresses have no desire to emulate their fellow players in America by giving Sunday theatrical performances. A proposal to open London theatres on Sundays has just been voted down by an overwhelming majority at a meeting organized by the British Drama League. Most of those who voted were members of the theatrical profession.

The suggestion that plays be given on Sunday was made by Arthur Boucher, an actor, and Father Adley, a popular Socialist divine.

Mr. Boucher said that only such plays should be produced on Sundays as did not occupy the usual weekly bill and that acting on Sundays should be optional. Any attempt at coercion, he declared, should be made illegal.

Father Adley urged that it was a question of common sense, not of religion, that the fourth commandment had long ceased to be God's law. He believed that Sunday should be a day of recreation, and that "if there is one thing that really does recreate it is seeing a play."

George Bernard Shaw quickly had the house roaring with laughter. He began by supporting the proposal with extraordinary enthusiasm, in his capacity of playwright who wanted to make money out of his plays, and ended by condemning it with even greater fervor as a "friend of the actor."

"If you give up your present Sunday holiday under the impression that Sunday will be any different from the day of the week, you are making a mistake. The British public, as I have held in the past."

MENTIONED FOR HARDING CABINET

MONTREAL, March 3.—After a running fight and a shooting duel, Alfred Daudin, a chicken thief, was shot dead at St. Bruno, Que., this afternoon by a posse of farmers. A companion of Daudin was captured after he had exhausted his stock of ammunition. The two were found driving along the road to St. Bruno with a sleighload of chickens, geese and turkeys, the result of thefts from barnyards in the vicinity.

CATTLE EMBARGO DEFEATS GRIFFITHS

High Price of Meat Made Issue in British Election.

LONDON, March 3.—(By Canadian Associated Press).—Sir Arthur Griffiths, Boscawen, the newly-appointed minister of agriculture, was defeated in the Dudley by-election, the result of which is announced today by J. Wilson, Labor candidate. The vote was: Labor, 10,244; Coalition-Liberal, 9,588; majority against 276.

The defeat of the minister is mainly attributed to the controversy over the question of the embargo on Canadian cattle, used as an argument by the Opposition, who ascribed to this cause the high cost of meat in Great Britain. Lord Beaverbrook took this position and flooded the constituency with copies of the Daily Express, owned by him, in which he stated that "every vote for the Government candidate was a vote for dear meat."

Dudley is a large working-class constituency.
