A Broken Wedding Ring

By Bertha M. Clay

If it had been Hettie, it would have been more bearable—for he was by no means averse to money—but Leah, bright, beautiful, proud Leah, who was to have crowned the name of Ray with fame—it was worse than parting with his life's blood to lose her. Angry passion surged in his heart against the man who had taken her. He could not endure the simple, innocent prettiness of the child who had been faithful to him. He turned to her with a darkening face that almost frightened her.

"Hettie," he said, "you are too young to know that all a vow imports; but you understand its solemnity."

With beautiful wondering eyes she answered "Yes."

"You must register a vow to me," he said. "I will not hear that man's name again. I forbid you to mention it. Swear to me that neither his name nor that of the girl he has taken with him shall ever pass your lips. Swear it, Hettie."

Pale and trembling, the girl looked at him.

"I am afraid," she said. "I have never sworn in all my life. Let me promise that I will do as you wish, father that will meet the case as well. I shall keep my word."

"No, you must swear it, Hettie—neither man, woman, nor child; every promise made to me shall be bound by an oath. You need not tremble, child; many persons take oaths."

"But if I break it?"

"That is the very thing," he said. "You hesitate, Hettie, not because you are afraid of an oath, but because in your heart you intend to keep up a correspondence with Leah. If you do so, you will never more be child of mine. If ever I find that by word or deed you have in any way sought her or held any communication with her, that moment we part, and the curse of an unhappy, disappointed father will rest upon you until you die."

"Oh, not that! Do not say that!" cried Hettie.

"Then swear what I wish you to swear, and bear in mind always the punishment that will follow if you do not keep your oath. Swear to me that the names of the two in question shall never pass your lips, and that, in no circumstances will you ever hold any communication with either by word, deed, sign, or letter."

She was a timid, frightened, loving child, and she swore as he bade her; then he was content.

If Hair is Turning Gray, Use Sage Tea
Here's Grandmother's Recipe to Darken and Beautify Faded Hair

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray or streaked, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the mixture; you can get this famous old recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients at a small cost, all ready for use. It is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and lustre of your hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's" Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy and lustrous. This ready-to-use preparation is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire dark hair and a youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

It Works! Try It!
Tells how to loosen a sore, tender corn so it lifts out without pain.

Good news spreads rapidly and druggists here are kept busy dispensing freezone, the ether discovery of a Cincinnati man, which is said to loosen any corn so it lifts out with the fingers.

Ask at any pharmacy for a quarter ounce of freezone, which will cost very little, but is said to be sufficient to rid one's feet of every hard or soft corn or callus.

Yes, apply just a few drops on the tender, aching corn and instantly the soreness is relieved, and soon the corn is so shriveled that it lifts out without pain. It is a sticky substance which dries when applied and never inflames or even irritates the adjoining tissue.

This discovery will prevent thousands of deaths annually from lockjaw and infection heretofore resulting from the suicidal habit of cutting corns.
