Kalamazoo Point Number Four

The Kalamazoo

Loose Leaf Binder

has great expansion

(note the big stretch)

Expansion is an important feature in a Loose Leaf Ledger. One binder is said to be superior to another in that it has greater expansion. :: ::

The "Kalamazoo" Binder, however, is in a class by itself. Its expansion is practically unlimited, and it is the only binder that will hold one sheet or five inches of sheets and hold every one as firmly as in a bound book. :: ::

Other binders have to be filled to a certain thickness in order to be workable. The "Kalamazoo" holds just as few or as many sheets as one requires, whether fifty sheets or one thousand.

Can be made in any size and to suit any purpose.

Ask for Booklet "CI" describing the binder, and giving a partial list of firms using the Kalamazoo.

lengthy affair, and she had not yet arrived.

He watched her come without going to meet her. She had a sensation of a great many Cecílias, tall and stately, in all the long mirrors with which the room was lined. She felt curiously shy—a little afraid to look up and meet his eyes.

"It has just occurred to me," he said, as she came and stood by him in front of the fire, "that you never paid me anything for the blue cornucopia. You said you wanted to buy it back?"

"So I did," said Cecilia, with shy gaiety. She took it for one of his jests. He was full of merriment in these latter days. "I'm so sorry. How much?"

"You, Cecilia!"

"I?" She grew red, and bent her charming head. "But—but—" she began to stammer.

He put his arms about her. "I never could be worthy of the price, I know," he whispered. "But I should be miserable all my life if I did not get it."

Miss Wade appeared at the door, leaning on Pratt's arm. They neither saw nor heard her. With great presence of mind she drew back and closed the door.

"I will go straight to the dining-room, Pratt," she said. "It will save me another journey."

Pratt was too well trained, or perhaps she understood too much, to wonder when the old lady added, with great satisfaction:

"And after all, the blue cornucopias, the pair of them, may come back to Knoll."

The Reason.—Crawford—"I hear he was operated on. What did he have?"
Crabshaw—"Money." — New York Times.

A Neat Retort.—When Oscar Wilde came to the United States to lecture on aesthetics in his highly aesthetic velvet costume—and incidentally to prepare the public mind for the proper appreciation of Gilbert and Sullivan's "Patience," in which the aesthetic movement was held up to ridicule—he used to complain that America was very uninteresting since it had "no antiquities and no curiosities."

But he ventured on this disparagement once too often, for in the course of his travels he uttered it to the American Girl, and she replied with the demure depravity of candid innocence that this not quite a fair reproach, since "we shall have the antiquities in time, and we are already importing the curiosities."

Good Scheme.—"How are you spending your vacation?"

"In an ideal way. I'm pleased nearly all the time."

"That is rare. What is your method?"

"I spend two days in the country, then I'm glad to get back to the city. I spend two days in the city, then I'm glad to get back to the country."—Washington Star.

Didn't Miss Him.—He—"I must apologize for not turning up at your party last night."

She—"Oh, weren't you there?"—London Opinion.

His Report.—A New Mexico homesteader received from the United States Department of Agriculture a quantity of dwarf milo maize seed, with a request to plant it and report the result.

Here is his report: "Mr. Wilson: Dear Sir—I planted your dwarf maize and it did fine. It was the dwarfest maize I ever saw. But the jack-rabbits ate it as fast as it got ripe. Please send another lot of seed, and send along a lot of dwarf jack-rabbits to match the maize."

Queries.

If a burglar skipped through a basement door
To steal a ham, would the furnace roar?
If he stopped to learn if the ham was good,
Would the coal-chute quick as the kindling-wood?

—Satire.

Natural Inference. — Chau'ur —
"Didn't you hear me blowing my horn?"
Victim—"Yes; but I thought perhaps you were a candidate for the presidency."
