Perhaps the most extraordinary part of the whole situation is the way in which very important and essential agricultural interests have been entirely overlooked. The farmers' party cortainly always pretend to be a friend of the farmers. Dairying business is absolutely essential to the prosperity of Ontario and Quebec, yot increases in railway rates on butter of 80% still stand. There were similar rate increases on cheese and eggs. At the risk of repetition, not only for the purpose of showing the claim that the Western farmers above all others of undue and exorbitant rates - that they only suffer is entirely without basis in fact, but also in the hope that some proper consideration may be given to other agriculturists, the following further tables are given. Important butter markets will be found in Toronto, Ottawa, and Montreal, and butter moves in carloads and less than carload lots. A few of the principal points shipping to these centres are picked out so that the rate situation may be plain.
