

holiday I go back to school tomorrow. We are just going down to put Violet-Bad on the servants bus. She has been here all week.
Jennie's dance was a tremendous success and the house looked so pretty with all the Christmas decorations. They only had sandwiches, cake, coffee, candy, ice cream opened, so it was not much trouble, and would have been a joy had there not been so much on my mind. Jean looked very pretty in her new evening dress which I made as a birthday gift. I am sorry the holidays are over.

Again let me tell you how much you and thought generous gifts have meant to me and as always, and how much we appreciate all you manage to do for us, and your many devotions and in your busy days.
Harry, John, Jean, Robert & Harry Jr. join with me in sending very best love every good wish for 1933 ever your loving mother

Harry Jr. was delighted to receive his telegram better delivered at the hospital.
