Reports that the Germans give quarter" to any of the Belgian peasan try who oppose them fill the mind the average Canadian with horror, b such methods commended themselv to Bismarck. "Prisoners! Mor-prisoners!" he exclaimed at Versaille after one of Prince Frederick Charles victories. "What the devil do we want with prisoners! Why don't they make a battue of them?" To Francs tireurs he strongly objected to mercy being shown, and stormed because Garibaldi's "free company" of 13,000 volunteers were granted terms of surrender. "Thirteen thousand prisoners who are not even Frenchmen!" he cried. "Why on earth were they

Bismarck may have objected to the taking of prisoners, but his prejudices obviously had no effect in the Franco-German War. According to Moltke, who wrote the official history Moltke, who wrote the official history of the campaign, the French prisoners fact—or fiction—that a number reached the extraordinary total of men of that regiment were captured 21,508 officers and 702,048 men.
