Surnames and Their Origin

MULDOON

Variations—Meldon, O'Muldoon.
Racial Origin—Irish.
Source—Given Name.

The family name of Meldon is not one which would be popularly regarded as Irish, though there'd be no doubt about the forms Muldoon and O'Muldoon.

There are two different Irish clan names from which these Anglicised forms have developed, and there is no method of telling from which any one of the three have come, in the case of the individual, aside from a genealogical research. You could make a guess with some chance of being right, if you knew the section of Ireland from which your ancestors came.

In the ancient province of Meath was the headquarters of the clan "O'Mooldubhain," which was founded apparently about 870 A.D. by "Maolduin" (from "maol" and "Dubhan" meaning "follower of St. Dabhan"), who was a brother of "Fogharthach" (Fogarty), the 16th monarch, or "High-King" of Ireland. (This line of "High-Kings" or emperors reaches from 1700 B.C. to the thirteenth century A.D.)

In Tirowen was the clan known as the "Siol Maolduin." It is a branch of the O'Neills of Ulster. It was established by "Moaiduin," the son of "Aodh O'neighe," the 164th monarch of Ireland.

MORLEY

Variations—Marlay, Marley, Mahrie, Mehrle, Merle, Merley, Merly, Varley.
Racial Origin—Irish.
Source—A given name.

Few of the variations in this group of family names would be popularly regarded as Irish. Yet they are.

If persons bearing these family names to-day were to spell them in the true Gaelic fashion, it would be "MacMearlaigh," but the pronunciation wouldn't be materially different, barring those certain little twists to the vowels and the faint guttural which you sometimes hear in the speech of the Irishman and the Highlander and term variously a "brogue" or a "burr." The form of Marley comes a little closer to this pronunciation than Morley, though the latter of the two Anglicised forms is the more common spelling.

This clan took its name about 1150 A.D. from a chieftain named "Mearlach." The meaning of this given name is "quick-warrior."

The form Varley, not often met with in this country, is a variation embodying a Gaelic twist, for in certain combinations the Gaelic letter "m" takes the sound of "v." The letter "y," though not the sound, is absent from the Irish language.

Most troubles, like April showers, soon pass on, making the sunshine which follows the brighter by comparison.

Canada holds the last great area of unoccupied land to be had for nothing or at nominal cost.

Radio Adds 5,000 Words to the English Language.

The English language has been increased by 5,000 words by the advent of radio, according to the Australian Musical News. Radio not only has promoted the exchange of ideas, but it has enriched our very speech with a vocabulary indispensable to those that would understand the mechanism.

Who ten years ago ever concerned himself with radio frequency problems? Who to-day would neglect to tune in and get his favorite station? We may have known of atoms, of electrons, of protons and of triodes; but we now have a knowledge of inductance, of crystal detectors, of tuning coils, of variometers, of triode detectors and of autodynes. Audion and potentiometer were once Greek to most of us, and the amplifiers, radio amplification and radio triodes were little less than a dead letter.

To-day the radio world has enriched us contributing not merely the working knowledge of these terms themselves, which every live wire in lexicography has placed on record, but by compiling new, useful and educational words to our language.

Preserving Dignity.

A curious custom exists in Genoa. Many of the aristocrats are rather poor, but they must keep up appearances at any cost. So five or six of the nobility club together and buy a coach and horses, and then they arrange among themselves the days the different families will use the outfit. Thus one family uses the coach on Mondays, another on Tuesdays, and so on. Each family has a set of doors for the coach with their own coat of arms on the panels, and they are put on according to the family which is going to use the coach.

WHEN THE SYSTEM IS ALL RUN DOWN

Often All That is Needed is a Tonic to Build Up the Blood.

There are many women who have been invalids or semi-invalids so long that they accept their condition as a life burden. They have endured broken sleep, stomach trouble, nervousness, headaches and weakness so long that they have given up hope of enjoying good health. In most of these cases a well chosen diet, fresh air and a tonic to build up the blood would do wonders. To all run-down, nervous people the experience of Mrs. H. J. Cameron, Waterville, N.S., will be of deep interest. She says:—"About two years ago I was in a miserable run-down condition. I was unable to do my work, my head ached day and night, my nerves were all unstrung, and for three weeks I could not eat or sleep. I then decided to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial and got six boxes. By the time I had used half of them I felt much better, and when I had taken the six boxes I was as well as ever. I could work all day and not feel tired, and had been strong and healthy ever since. I have never taken any medicine that did me so much good and will always highly recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

You can get these Pills from any medicine dealer, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Good Beef Sires Pay.

Some men breed beef cattle for pleasure, but more men breed them for profit. If you expect to make profit you should breed what the butcher wants, who is the final judge of all block animals.

The butcher wants a steer low down, square, thick fleshed and fat. If you are using a scrub sire can you ever expect to produce such animals?

The answer is "no," because such sires do not possess the low down, blocky, thick-set form. A beef bull breeds into his calves what has been bred into him for generations. If this is scrub blood he will breed scrub calves. If it is good blood he will breed good calves.

The market wants thick, meaty steers and will pay a premium for them. The right kind of a sire will put the meat over the back loins and in the thighs. This is what the butcher wants when he buys a steer.

If you are using a scrub sire you are producing steers that are small in size, thin fleshed over the back and loins, and which usually have a large paunch. This is cheap meat and sells for a low price.

Can you afford to continue this practice? Not if you expect to put your business on the same plane as the banker. If you do not have ready money most banks will loan you a sufficient amount to purchase a good beef sire.

A good sire will increase the milk production—will increase the fat production—will enable one to get more product from same amount of feed—will increase selling price of surplus stock. All these will increase the net profit.

The milk production of the heifers out of ordinary cows sired by Holstein, Ayrshire, Jersey, and Guernsey bulls increased over that of their dams by 64 per cent. The fat production increased by 52 per cent. The second generation increased in milk production over the original cows 130 per cent. In fat production 109 per cent.

Minard's Liniment for Colds.

These Frying Officials.

When we use the same word to mean two different things—and the English language often economizes in that way—we risk causing misunderstanding of the kind that annoyed a lady that the Minneapolis Tribune tells about. She approached the post-office window belligerently.

"I've been expecting a package containing medicine for a week and have not received it yet!"

"Yes, madam," replied the post-office clerk. "Kindly fill in this form and state the nature of your complaint."

"Well, it's no business of yours," the woman snapped, "but if you really must know it's rheumatism. I have it very bad across my shoulders."

UNSURPASSED FOR CHILDHOOD AILMENTS

Mrs. Howard King, R.R. No. 5, Truro, N.S., says:—"I am the mother of four children and have always used Baby's Own Tablets when any of them needed a medicine, and I can recommend the Tablets as being unsurpassed for childhood ailments." Thousands of other mothers agree with Mrs. King as to the merits of the Tablets. There are thousands of homes throughout Canada where the Tablets are always kept on hand in readiness for the least sign of any of the minor ailments which afflict little ones. Baby's Own Tablets never fail to regulate the stomach and bowels, thus they banish constipation and indigestion; break up colds and simple fevers; relieve colic and bring the baby through that dreaded teething period in safety. The Tablets never do harm—always good—as they are guaranteed absolutely free from any injurious drugs. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Scotland's Eternal Snows.

One usually thinks of Switzerland and the Alps in connection with eternal snow, but there are areas on the mountains of Scotland where the snow never melts.

Lidged away on the mighty slopes of Ben Nevis and Cairngorm are bulges and chasms to which the sun's rays never pierce. There the snow never melts, and has possibly never melted during thousands of years.

The northern precipice of Ben Nevis is always covered with a counterpane of dazzling whiteness, and even in the hottest days of summer, when the valleys are sweltering in heat, snow falls up there. In one of the clefts there is a miniature glacier, the last remnant of the age when one continuous glacier extended from the Gramplians to what is now known as the Irish Sea, and which carved out the hollows in which now lie such lakes as Loch Lomond and Windermere.

In England and Wales there is no mountain which has even a patch of snow which never melts, but there is a gully on Snowdon called the Deep Cut where snow often lies while summer visitors are disporting themselves in tropical heat at Llandudno. Mid-summer snowstorms are by no means uncommon on the summit of Cader Idris, while in the Lake District snow often covers the mountain tops till the end of May.

Give a lift to the man who is "down at the heel." A bit of kindly, friendly encouragement is often more acceptable than any gift of money.

Between Ourselves.

Proverbs are often a discouragement. "There's many a slip 'twixt the cup and the lip" would almost deter you from drinking the best wine of life. "Look before you leap" often prevents you from leaping at all. These are the cautionary proverbs. Give them only their due weight. "Go in and win" is better. "Right is might" is better still. To "do right in scorn of consequences" is the acme of human endeavor. The over-cautious never make a great venture. While they are looking over the hedge, and measuring the ditch on the other side, the hint has swept on! We must take time by the forelock; He's bald behind!

There are times to be cautious; but oftener there are times to be bold and aggressive, to risk all to gain all. The great adventurers have opened up the world, have made the wilderness the granary of the nations, and the "desert to blossom as the rose." They did not "linger shivering on the brink and fear to launch away."

Fewer Books for the Youths.

The British Scientific Society, after long debate, has decided that the encouragement of bookishness and sedentary habits among boys is a vital error. According to the majority of the members parents make mistakes in forcing their children in educational affairs. It is also claimed that the forcing does not educate because the forced knowledge is quickly forgotten. A moderate amount of study is advisable, but children should be taught to think rather than study and healthy sports do them more good than books and burning of the midnight candles.
