

THIS MAN DREADED TO SEE NIGHT COME

Was So Restless He Couldn't Sleep And Daylight Was Always Welcome.

"With the exception of a little milk toast, which comprised my diet for more than eight weeks, I could not eat anything," said Capt. Geo. W. Womble, residing at 105 Jennings St., Knoxville, Tenn., a highly respected citizen of that city.

"I am now able," continued Captain Womble, "after taking two bottles of Tanlac, to eat practically anything. I had a bad form of stomach and intestinal trouble for a long time and for months my condition had been such that I suffered agony. I got so I could not eat the simplest food, I tried doctor after doctor and all kinds of medicine but nothing that was prescribed for me seemed to do me any good. I had a terrible pain in my breast just over my heart and for weeks and weeks I got no relief.

"I finally got so nervous that I actually dreaded to see night come as I could not sleep and was always to restlessness that I would rejoice to see daylight come. I was also constipated all the time. In fact, life seemed a burden and I was so miserable that I was almost on the verge of despair. Several of my neighbors told me about Tanlac and advised me to try it.

"I am personally acquainted with Mr. Dan Chambliss, of the firm of Kuhlman & Chambliss, and when I told him of my condition and how I suffered he advised me to begin taking Tanlac without delay and that it had relieved hundreds of the best people in Knoxville. I have now taken two bottles of Tanlac and am giving you this testimonial in the hope that it may induce others to take it. Since taking this medicine I actually feel like I had been made all over again with the youth, energy and ambition of a sixteen year old boy."

An address on Aims and Objects of the Association was given by the R. W. Grand Master S. B. Bustin, followed by one on the Orphanage Fund by R. W. Grand Treasurer Robt. Wells. A large number of the people attended.

After the public meeting, the Orange Lodge held a meeting which was largely attended by the members. After the meeting the visiting officers were served with a nice supper and returned to Newcastle, thence to St. John on the Maritime Express, well pleased with the visit.

Miss Oldbird was airing her views on marriage and men to Miss Flappette, and it was evident that she was a manhater.

"I don't care for men, my dear," she said to her young friend. "In fact, I have already said 'No' to several of them."

"Indeed!" said the young thing, with a twinkle in her eye. "What were they selling?"

"PETER FARREN" SEIZED

Peter Farren, champion pacing stallion was seized by Sheriff Wilson at St. John, on Monday evening, shortly after six o'clock. The legal action rose as a result of a disagreement between Patrick O'Keeffe and his son, David. The latter had possession of the race horse and on Monday morning the father took the pacer out of a blacksmith shop and stabled the animal in his barn on Carmarthen street, and locked the door. The son attempted to get the horse back, but without success. He then engaged K. J. MacRae, and the lawyer had a writ of replevin issued against the father. Sheriff Wilson served the document and placed the horse in custody of the son. The father's action, it was said, is based on the contention that he owns Peter Farren.

PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND

(1) Harvest scene in Prince Edward Island. (2) An Island trout stream.

Prince Edward Island has attractions for others than transient visitors. The island is a decidedly important economic factor in Canada's aggregate wealth and holds within its boundaries great sources of revenue as well as many undeveloped possibilities. Not only is the land self-supporting but in position to engage in a considerable export trade with its products.

Within an area of 2,184 square miles, it has a population of about 94,000 or twice as many persons to the square mile as any other Canadian province. With the lowest extremes of heat and cold of any province east of the Rockies, the island has an admirable climate which makes possible a diversity of agricultural and animal husbandry pursuits under the most favorable conditions.

Farming, fishing, fur-ranching, spinning and trading form the chief occupations of the island. Its small, peaceful, intensive farmsteads number 14,300 and are extremely productive. The province is sometimes termed the "hilling acre farm" and experts declare that the island could support a population of two million people.

Practically all of it is under cultivation with farms varying from fifty to one hundred acres in extent. Mixed farming is practiced extensively and dairying is profitable and popular. The farms of the province per farm, it is claimed produce four times as many cattle and sheep, six times as many swine, and nearly eight times as many poultry as any other province in the Dominion.

There are on island farms practically one acre more in area than in any other part of the U. S. A. with the exception of Iowa. Last year the agricultural yield of Prince Edward Island was about 633,000 bushels of wheat, 4,770,000 bushels of coarse grains, 6,900,000 bushels of potatoes and 349,000 tons of hay and clover.

Of late years Prince Edward Island has become known to the outside world as the premier land of fox ranches. The domestic breeding of foxes originated there and the island has never ceased to maintain the ascendancy, exporting each year a large fur pack as well as large numbers of breeding animals and at the same time, continually extending the number of existing ranches. During the past season for instance more than a million dollars worth of silver fox pelts left the island shores, and in the same period half a million dollars worth of breeding stock found its way from the source to ranches situated in every part of the globe.

There are some four hundred fox ranches on the island with nearly six thousand pairs of black foxes, and about one thousand pairs of red foxes.

The fishing industry is an important one. Lobster, salmon, cod, haddock, herring and mackerel, are caught, while the oyster culture is an important item in fishery revenue. Lobster is the most valuable of the sea products amounting in 1919 to $3,849,979 out of a total revenue of $5,95,421. Cod was next with $120,507, and the oyster culture produced $20,562. Two hundred lobster canneries on the island produced more than $100,000 worth of goods.

Charlottetown, the capital and commercial centre of the island, has a population of about 12,500. Other towns are Summerside, Souris, and Montague, all quaint little burghs with a charming old-world aspect, yet modern in activity.

Prince Edward Island is indeed a land of fortunate possession, having all the beauty of the old world, with the wealth and potentiality of the new.
