THE SCRIPTURE READERS.

What Prominent Persons say About Tory attacks Upon Them.

Rev. Dr Caven, Principal of Knox

College. The Minister of Education is attack ed from various quarters in regard to the book of "Scripture Readings" for use in the Public Schools. This attack seems to me quite groundless, and such as no exigencies of party warfare can justify.

Rev. Dr Dewart. Editor of Christian Guardian.

I do not hesitate to say that, if the other grounds on which it is alleged that Protestanism is in danger in this that Protestanism is in danger in this dence before the Boyal Commission, Mr. Province are as weak, as flimsy, and as futile as what has been urged about the statement of Mr. Mowat was made. "Scripture Readings" in the Public Schools, they are not likely to secure had directly or indirectly that any at-tempt was being made, or was said to the confidence of candid and intelligent have been made, to use improper means to secure the defeat of the government. This was contradicted by Mr Merrick, who said:—After I heard the announcepeople.

Rev. Dr Cochrane, Brantford.

Unless we give up our national and non-sectarian system of education, and erect denominational schools, subsidized by Government, where .ach Church may teach its own creed, and put its o wn interpretation upon scripture. I see no better way than that which has been adopted. To name such a retrograde movement is to doom it. No reasonable man would for a moment seriously consider such a proposal.

AN ILLUSTRATED WEEKLY.

As finite structure was been called "the model of what a periodical for young readers ought to be," and the justice of this commendation is amply sustained by the large circulation it has attained at home and in Great Britain. This success has been reached by methods that must commend themselves to the judgement of parents, no less than to the tastes of children namely, by an earnest and well sustained effort to pro-vide the best and most attractive reading for young people at a low price. The illustrations are ceplous and of a conspi uously higd stan dard of excellence.
