

SP. M. EDITION. A CYCLONIC CALAMITY.

Racine, Wis., Swept by a Wild Whirlwind.

Fifty Killed and One Hundred Wounded—Men, Women and Children.

Partial List of the Victims—A Scene of Devastation, Lamentation, and Suffering.

RACINE, Wis., May 19.—The first cyclone in the history of this State struck Racine at seven o'clock last night, and passing through the extreme north-western portion of the city and demolished 125 houses and barns.

FIFTY PERSONS WERE KILLED and one hundred more or less seriously injured. The day was ushered in bright and cool with a fresh wind blowing from the south-east. Towards noon the sky was overcast, and about four o'clock a sharp, electric storm prevailed although but little rain fell. The sun again came out for an hour during the afternoon, and the temperature stood at 70 degrees.

About six o'clock heavy masses of clouds again gathered in the west. The air was oppressive and warm. The cyclone was announced by the heaving of the clouds, which took on a whirling motion, and the storm struck with a noise like the roar and rumbling of a

A THOUSAND RAILROAD TRAINS thundered over a bridge. The path of the storm was a little over half a mile long, and perhaps a quarter of a mile wide. In this territory only here and there a building is left standing. All buildings brick and frame alike collapsed, and their sites are marked only by heaps of debris. Many occupants of houses escaped by seeking their cellars and other places of comparative safety, but the cyclone came with such lightning quickness that many were killed before reaching their cellars. In only a few cases were houses moved from their foundations. Those in the storm centre simply EXPLODED AND FELL IN RUINS where they had stood. Some, nearer the circumference, were turned around, and it is reported that some light articles, such as wagons, were swept into the lake. The cyclone, as it moved from the city out upon Lake Michigan, presented a grand spectacle. The whirling columns of air seemed monster wreaths of smoke, as they bore with their spiral columns of water. All the physicians, and a number of the best of the city, were taken, some to houses of friends, and some to the court house, where an inquest will be held to-morrow. The list of casualties, so far as can be known, is partially as follows:—Mr. Kurtz, Herman Kuhl, Auguste Kessler and wife, Simon Geise, and the son and daughter of Fred. Falke. Killed—Paul Kahl, Joseph and Frank Kautschke, Albert Kahl, the daughter of Barney Williams, Mrs. Rebecca McCarty, the infant Matthew Leary, two children of Mrs. Barry, Mrs. Mary Miller—dangerously wounded—Mrs. Flanagan and three children. The first building struck was Horlick's factory, half a mile west of the city limits. In a dwelling near by seven persons were seriously injured. The space from the factory to the Chicago and North Western railway, half a mile west of the city, and is thickly populated by workmen, most of whom owned their houses. Through this district the devastation is complete.

SCARCELY A HOUSE IS LEFT REMAINING. A little daughter of Barney Willing was blown fifty rods, from where the house stood, against a wall and killed. The scene of Kautschke's death was particularly terrible. Two young brothers were found side by side dead. Near by their mother lay fatally injured. Fourteen persons were in Kautschke's brick store, when the tornado burst. The building was completely levelled. There was not a hole among the ruins large enough for a man to get his foot in yet when the storm passed slowly, there emerged from the ruins, and there an individual. By pulling, digging, and scraping, the bodies of the victims were rescued. The deceased were fearfully mutilated, one having his head severed completely from his body, but both being so disfigured as to be unrecognizable. The railway managers claim that all the usual precautions were taken according to the rules laid down to prevent accidents. The faces will all come out, however, as the inquest, which will soon take place.

A Nice Point in Law. In the Court of Chancery yesterday afternoon, a case—Wardrop v. The Canadian Pacific Railway—was commenced, and some fine points in law may be expected to be settled by the decision. Mr. Wardrop, of this city, recovered judgment on the 12th of April, 1882, against one Wm. Sills for $555, and then partitioned a debt due Mr. Sills by the Brockville and Ottawa Railway, thus obtaining judgment against the latter. He now claims to be paid his debt by the Canadian Pacific Railway, with whom the Brockville and Ottawa have amalgamated, or to be allowed stock therefor, as permitted by certain statutes. The constitutionality of the statute in question will be one of the grounds of argument.

St. Vincent de Paul Society. The Conference of Toronto of the St. Vincent de Paul Society intend celebrating the fiftieth anniversary of the foundation of this great charitable institution with most sumptuous and elaborate services will be held at St. Michael's Cathedral to-morrow and on Monday and Tuesday. The programme will include High Mass, the Triduum, and special sermons appropriate to the occasion, and a general meeting of the society, which now numbers more than 400 active members.

The Toronto Society was founded on the 14th of November, 1850, by Mr. Muir, formerly Clerk of the Legislature, and branches of it have since been established all over Ontario. The Toronto society proper is composed of six branches, or conferences, carrying on their work in and around Toronto, viz.: Thos. of Our Lady, St. Paul, St. Mary, St. Patrick, St. Basil, and St. Peter. All of these conferences have done some good work in succoring the needy poor, and are daily extending their operations and increasing in membership. On the removal of the Government to Quebec in 1854, Mr. Muir, the first president, resigned and was succeeded by Mr. J. W. Macdonnell, Vice Consul of France, who has continued in office ever since. The Conference for many years led a wandering and unsettled existence, but with much devotion on the part of its members, it finally surmounted all obstacles, and is now comparatively prosperous. The society was originally founded in Paris in 1833 by a band of religious medical and law students. Their leader was named Frederic Ozanam, and among his most prominent colleagues were Meles Lamache, Clavi, Le Tellier, Devaux, and Lallier. For the first few years their operations were most modest, and to a large extent their work was carried on under the protection of the sale of newspaper articles written by themselves. The society soon increased in membership, and when its objects had become known it was to some extent patronized by the municipal authorities, but it was not fairly placed on the path of success and extensive usefulness until it received the encouragement of the greatest of pulp orators of that day—Laocordis—the Archbishop of Paris, and other ecclesiastical authorities. Soon after the society extended to every parish in Paris and the Province, and now it has reached to every Roman Catholic diocese in the world. To give a fair idea of the extent of the operations of this society, it may be mentioned that in France, Germany, Austria, Galicia, Hungary, Belgium, Denmark, Spain and Spanish America, Greece, British Isles, Malin, Italy, Luxembourg, Norway, Netherlands, Portugal, Switzerland, Turkey, British India, China, Africa, Egypt, Canada, United States, Central America, Ecuador, South America, Australia, and New Zealand, in the year 1881 the total receipts of the society amounted to $2,227,784 francs, and the amount expended in charities to 7,580,071 francs.

The first St. Vincent de Paul Society founded in Canada was that of Quebec, which was established in 1846 by Dr. Potholard. The persons who attended the first meeting—held in the society of St. Joseph's Chapel, in St. Michael's Cathedral—for the purpose of establishing a branch in Toronto—were G. M. Muir, Thos. Hays, Chas. Robertson, D. K. Feehan, S. G. Lynn, and W. J. Macdonnell.

Railroad laborers in demand. Mr. McDonald, who is staying at the Simco house, in preparation to engage two hundred men on Monday morning to go to Claremont at $1.40 per day.

A man who, from letters on his person, is presumed to be George Williamson, of Owen Sound, fell off the dock at the Northern elevator this morning. He got cooled off and then explained that he had been inveigled into a den on York street and had escaped with the loss of his only available watch. The police will possibly be able to recover it.

Andacious Apaches—Mexican and U. S. Troops Evaded.

The Hartford Steamboat Catastrophe—The Old Story.

HARTFORD, Conn., May 19.—It is stated that the ocean steamer Granite State, was an old craft heavy with paint, her work was dry and inflammable, and the whole structure a floating tinder box. Two of the vessel's floats which were in no condition for launch life preservers were on board, but it does not appear they were used in a single instance. As the flames spread a herd of horses broke loose from their fastenings on the forward deck, and darted among the panic-stricken passengers and crew. A woman stood in the middle of the crowd clasping a baby. She went down like the rest of the terrified animals and was picked up and dragged off the burning boat, with her face crushed in by an iron shod hoof. She never saw her babe again. The body of Jackson was recovered early this forenoon. The select men of town objected to having the remains brought ashore, as they thought an action would entail burial at the town's expense. The body was left in the water until a justice of the peace came from Montreal and held an inquest. The steamer was granted a special permit to carry kerosene, of which there were eighty barrels on the outer deck. It is said here they could be spread over board and blown into the air, and the steam of burning oil thrown over a portion of the vessel. The company's agent denies that the oil ignited.

ATYPOUS APACHES. El Paso, Texas, May 19.—Mexican advancing state that Chattr's band of 60 Apaches entered Chihuahua through the Sierra Madre. They killed one man at Mataves, another at Ojitos, and two south of Bensen Ventura. This is the band that had the boy Charley McComas, who doubtless was killed. The Mexican troops are in hot pursuit. The Indians captured five Mexican soldiers, below Guadalupe. They were the wives of soldiers. One woman was sent back with the message that the Indians want peace. There is reason to believe that the chief is in the near juncos with 250 infantry. He left Casa Grande to penetrate the mountains, and make an exploration of the Indian fastnesses.
