Memorial Service at Gower St. Church.

A most impressive Memorial Service for the late J. E. P. Peters was held in the Gower Street Methodist Church last night. The Pastor of the Church conducted the service, assisted by Revs. Dr. Cowperthwaite and Dr. Fenwick; and the pulpit, rostrum, choir gallery and pew of deceased were draped in black.

The service was opened by the rendering of "Abide With Me," a favorite hymn, by the choir, followed by prayer by Dr. Fenwick. Then came another hymn, the reading of the scriptures, and the anthem "Hallelujah, what are these arrayed in white" by the choir. The panyer, which was indeed a sermon and eulogy combined, was delivered by the Rev. Dr. Cowperthwaite, who despite his more than fourscore years, spoke with remarkable strength of voice and fervency of spirit. It was a wonderful and affecting address, which deeply touched his hearers and will abide a lasting memory.

His acquaintance with the late Mr. Peters, said Dr. Cowperthwaite in part, extended over a period of thirty years, in fact he was the first resident of Newfoundland he was acquainted with. The acquaintance developed from a letter, written by the deceased thirty years ago this month, and signed by him as Recording Steward of the Circuit, inviting him to become the Pastor of Gower Street Church and congregation. He believed the call was of God and accepted. On July 15th, 1890, Dr. Cowperthwaite and family arrived in St. John's for the first time, and was welcomed to the city and church by the late Mr. Peters and other kind friends. In the years since elapsed the friendship then formed has been cemented. They did not always see eye to eye in regard to the minor matters of life; but in the great essentials that form the warp and woof of the body politic and especially the Christian faith, they were in entire accord. He greatly prized the friendship of this good man, now momentarily broken, but which he hoped to renew in the land where partings would never take place. In accepting the invitation to speak he did so because it afforded him an opportunity of saying a few words of appreciation and drawing attention to some of the lessons we all might learn from the life of our dear brother lived.

"In the course of my long ministry said Dr. Cowperthwaite, I have met some good men, but I can say honestly that I have rarely met a man who in my judgment more fully met the scriptural requirements of a good man. Try the late Mr. Peters by any test and he was a good man—diligent in business, fervent in spirit, serving the Lord. He did justly, loved mercy and walked humbly with God; such a man as Isaiah speaks of—"and a man shall be as the shadow of a great rock in a weary land." The words particularly refer to the Saviour, but in a general sense they are descriptive of the man of God."

The service was closed with the "Dead March in Saul."

The shadow means influence, of which there are two kinds: voluntary or involuntary, conscious or unconscious. Voluntary influence was the outcome of a deliberate act. We are beings of influence. No one liveth to himself; the law of interdependence rules in the universe. The influence of a good man is the outcome of the shining of the Son of Righteousness upon his character and life. God designed to save the world through the agency of his people; but the work was not carried on altogether by the greatest leaders. The greatest factor in the aggregate was the influence of men and women less known, less renowned, who are content to work in the more circumscribed spheres of effort; and we should be thankful for the noble people who have served faithfully and well in their day and generation. "Need I say of the man who Sabbath after Sabbath walked up that aisle, but who will come back no more—the life and influence of that man is something to which we all can bear witness."

Influence was reproductive. No one liveth to himself. A man influences others and they in turn influence others still. The late Mr. Peters was a man of probity, industry, fearless in the denunciation of wrong and contention for right. In the Gower St. Church his influence will ever be felt; and his memory will be an inspiration to the workers who follow in the long years that stretch before the church in its opportunities for doing good.

As the sun of life draws near its setting, its influence is greatest, even as the natural sun as it goes down in the west casts a longer and broader shadow. He had no hesitation in saying that the influence of the deceased brother was greatest at the time of his death. He was in full possession of his mental powers, went regularly to his business, was always found in the House of God. For a few weeks we missed him, and then he fell asleep—"He was not for God took him." On last Sunday morning, just as the morning light was breaking over the Southside hills, the heavenly light caught him vision and he passed on.

A few minutes after Mr. Peters' death, word had come to him, and he thought of the words of a famous musician:

"Spirit, spirit, thy labour is o'er.
Thy term of probation is run;
Thy steps are now bound for the un-
trodden shore."

And the race of Immortals begun." The departed now knows the mysteries of the hereafter—mysteries of which he had freely talked with Mr. Peters, with his late friends Dr. Shea, and Mr. Alexander Shirran. Here Dr. Cowperthwaite feelingly referred to the changes of the past 30 years. The middle aged have become old and passed on, the young had become middle-aged, and a new generation had grown up. Only a few of his age remain, and he was standing on the shore waiting for the boat to take him across the bar, and out into the Deep, where he hoped to meet his Pilot face to face. In his closing tribute, Dr. Cowperthwaite pointed out that the work of those who had gone on before, would have to be carried on, and the same difficulties would have to be experienced, but he exhorted the members of the congregation upon whom the burdens of the church would fall, to be not slothful but follow the example of the good men of God who had carried it on before them.

In the limited space it is impossible to do justice to the beauty of expression or the sympathetic appeal of the address. Nay it was more than an address, it was a benediction. The service, memorable as well as memorial, closed with the "Dead March in Saul."

MAJESTIC THEATRE

The Hit of the New Year.

ENRICO CARUSO, The World Famous Singer, in a Wonderful Screen Production,

"MY COUSIN,"

In which he appears in the prologue of the great opera Pagliacci, as produced in the Metropolitan of New York, and to see which the people of that city paid big sums. CARUSO has appeared in a limited number of pictures and this is the best. This is his first showing on the St. John's screen.

A MOST UNUSUAL AND NOVEL ATTRACTION.—Besides seeing the famous Italian singer on the screen, Majestic patrons may actually hear him sing to-night—his own, bona fide voice has been brought to St. John's for the picture, and as you see him on the screen you may at the same time hear him sing! Without giving the secret away, let us urge upon every lover of good pictures and even better music to be present to-night. See grand opera right here in the home town!

Special Selections from the Opera Pagliacci will be rendered by the Orchestra.

MAJESTIC THEATRE

fronting the future welfare of Newfoundland.

THE AMERICAN WORKINGMAN.
I don't believe the workingman is mad
with lust and hate and greed
I don't believe the men I meet have banished justice from their creed.
I know the toiler at his bench, I know
the printer at his press,
And they are men who hold The Flag
above material success.

I do not fear the feet of those who
march to work from day to day.
Will follow men who deal in hate and miss the broad and open way.
I have no fear that doctrines vile expounded by an alien breed
Will lure one real American to utter any vicious creed.

I know the workingman to-day; I know that he would sooner die
Than see the flag which shelters him
In shame come fluttering from the sky.

And this I also know of him; that he would quickly strike to earth
The man who dared to raise his voice
Against the country of his birth.

I know the toiler in his home; I've seen his wife and children smile,
I've seen them nappy and content
With all the joys that are worth while;
And I refuse to-day to think that such a man would ever be
The mouthpiece of an alien few or do
one treasonable deed.

A Prophetic Postage Stamp.

During the late war Turkey was hard put to it to provide postage
stamps.

The beautiful stamp issue of 1913
was engraved and printed in London,
and when Turkey joined in the war,
she had only a six months' supply.

As a belligerent she could obtain no more supplies from England, and so the Turkish postal authorities determined to use up their old stocks
of declassified stamps, by overprinting
on them the values required and a legend that these "surcharged"
stamps were available for postage.

Unfortunately for the Turks—
though luckily for collectors of "varieties," the overprinted design included in the national insignia of the "Star and Crescent" a six-pointed star instead of the Moslem five-pointed species. Now this six-pointed star happened to be the heraldic emblem of Bethlehem, and orthodox Moslems at once pointed out that Turkey could not use a hated Christian symbol.

So a fresh set had to be issued this time, with a star having only five points. Another curious "point"
about the whole thing was that soon afterwards Bethlehem once more became Christian in possession as well
as sentiment.
