The annual convention of the Women's Christian Temperance Union of this county will be held in the W. C. T. U.'s new rooms, 240 Dundas street, to-day and tomorrow. Thursday evening there will be a reception for the delegates and a public meeting, of which a kitchen garden exhibition will be a leading feature. Friday morning will be devoted to the evening public lecture, "The Ballot for Women."

G. R. Faskin, English master of the Oswestry and Colliery Co., Ltd., has been written to by the company and for a reference to the master at London to appoint a liquidator. F. C. Jarvis, for the respondents, the company, contra. Resolved.
At a call of G. R. Faskin, Sons & Co.—Action to recover $250 40 paid by plaintiffs to defendants to retire composition notes informed by them for John Head, a trader in Woodstock, which notes, as the plaintiffs allege, they were procured to endorse by misrepresentations and concealment of an agreement between Head and the defendants, whereby Head was to pay the defendants the sum of $350 in addition to giving them the composition notes. The plaintiffs claim in the alternative to recover the $350, which they allege was actually paid to the defendants. The judgment for the plaintiffs with costs for $210 30, being the amount of one of the composition notes, and interest.

The following gentlemen were presented to the court and sworn in and enrolled as barristers-at-law: F. Billings, W. J. F.
Smith, W. S. Bell, W. F. Langworthy, R. G.
W. Nealey, T. M. Harrison, R. G. Pegley, H. J. D. Cooke, James Knowles, H. Hardinger, J. McArthur, W. S. Bell, E. F. Fiere, R. G. H. Perry and L. V. McBrady. Mr.
W. G. Ekins was appointed by the bench-ers librarian of the Law Society at a salary of $1,500 a year.

The large audience that Tuesday night gathered in the comfortable lecture room of the Memorial Church were treated by the Children's Ministering League to an entertaining, bright, fresh and enjoyable entertainment in every feature. The pastor, Rev. Canon Richardson, undertook the duties of chairman, and naturally enough they were well done. The reverend gentleman, in a few pleasant words, welcomed the visitors, spoke of the material help that the young people rendered in the great cause of missions, and the good that they themselves received by their training in the League, and then closed with a well-timed tribute to Mrs. Boomer, Miss Bullen, Miss Penny, and the other ladies, to whose tireless efforts the League is largely indebted for its encouraging growth and marked success. Mrs. Boomer was down on the programme for some "Practical Remarks," but they proved no less entertaining than practical. A notable feature was the fact that the long programme was ably upheld by the choir, who rendered in an hour and a half, so that the interest was kept up without flagging from the opening hymn till the end of the closing chorus. Where all did so well it is not necessary to criticise anyone, though it may be mentioned that Little Flossie Barnard, and the still more petite Miss Pavey carried off a large share of the honours. Miss Lilywhite's singing and the piano solos of Mr. Puddicombe and Master Victor Colwell were features of the evening. Following was the programme: Hymn, M. C. L.; piano duet, the Misses Fetherstonhaugh; Snowflakes, M. C. L.; Baker's, Madeline Pavey; quartet (by special request), Flossie Barnard, S. William, H. Richardson, M. Pavey; songs, Miss Lilywhite; piano solo, Mr. Puddicombe; chorus, "Gathering the Mistle with Mary," F. Symonds; piano solo, Victor Colwell; recitation, "Time Enough," Lennie Justice;
"Lenna's Dream," Misses Prunce, Doran, F. Barnard, W. Willis; chorus, "The Nightingale," M. C. L.; "Travelling Remarks," Mrs. Boomer; trio, "Rosy Red Cheek," M.
C. L.; Willis and F. Barnard; piano solo, Victor Colwell; chorus, "The C. L. boys; chorus, "The Syrian Alps," M. C. L.; dialogue, "How the Story Grew," Misses Richardson, Fetherstonhaugh, Macdonald, Doran and Allman; piano solo, Madeline Pavey; recitation, "Traveler's Tales," Beatrice Barnard; recitation, Nona Sarnoff; Flossie chorus, "Le Petit Enfant."
