Russia Will Back Germany in Her Transvaal Attitude,

And France Will Back Russia-No Abate ment of Anti-German Feeling in England.

London, Jan. 9 .- A special dispatch received here from Berlin this aftermoon says that Russia's co-operation with Germany in the Transvaal matter has been assured, and that France will act with Russia. This, apparentanti-British alliance, and that the action of Emperor William toward the republic was a thoroughly-weighed step.

The Pall Mall Gazette says: "The German newspapers, official, semi-official and reptile, are tumbling over that the tension of relations was the fault of England. We are now told it was no concerted action toward the Transvaal, and that the extreme point of German interference would have been reached by the landing of a few olicemen at Delagoa Bar to protect the German Uitlanders, and that the Emperor's telegram was not meant for what it was thought to mean." There is little or no abatement in the anti-German feeling here. At a meeting of the London Radical Federation today, after many flery speeches, a resolution was passed demanding the immediate removal of the name of Emperor William from the British army and navy lists, and when a baseless report was received that the Emperor was made honorary colonel by Queen Victoria, had burned his Majesty in effigy there was a prolonged outburst of cheering and other applause. The colonel of the First bragoons this afternoon telegraphed that there is absolutely no ground for the story. Telephone Weather Bulletins. A vary important step has been taken in the organization of a supplementary weather warning service by means of the telephone, and a plan is now being proposed for affording to a large number of communities the advantages of the new scheme. In New York the local telephone company has placed at the service of the chief of the weather signaling department a telephone to be used only in giving special information of weather forecasts to the general public. Anyone can call for answers to special questions at any time, and be sure of an immediate reply. Mereover, ly, tends to confirm the report of an any subscriber who wishes to have all important weather news can send his name to the telephone company and he will thereafter be telephoned by them whenever any marked change is expected. These special warnings, all of which are to be sent to the office of the one another in their anxiety to explain telephone company and from there to the subscribers wishing to receive them, include all heavy storms, cold waves, warm waves, sleet and storms, etc. This movement for bringing the weather reports more within the reach of the general public has the strong support of the chief of the Weather Bureau at Washington, and he has written to all the principal cities urging the making of the necessary arrangements. In this way the country will be practically covered. The value of such a service to business men will readily be seen. Shippers, for instance, often wish to know before deciding on unpacking or unleading perishable goods whether there is an probability of cold weather, and they have hitherto been limited to the two forecasts a day given in the papers, unless they went to some trouble to get the most recent probabilities. Men who are contemplating building ditches, repairing houses, doing a hundred things that would be interfered with by a storm are constantly sending to the Weather Bureau for special information. When the weather in general is warm and fine there is comparatively little inquiry, but as soon as the season of storm and frost Give Us Your Trade joining country, as well as from the city. The forecasts as at present made are of great value in preventing loss to many commercial interests. The new arrangement, which makes them more easily accessible, premises to be highly appreciated by the public. Inhaling Absinthe. Nearly every man has his pet cures for the various ills of which mankind is heir, and there are probably hundreds of cures for headache which their inventors will proudly tell you "have never been known to fail." But it remains for a Girard House bartender to suggest a remedy which is as simple as he claims it to be effective. "Absinthe," says this modern priest of Bacchus, "possesses remarkable curative powers, and as a destroyer of headache it has no equal The beauty of it is that you don't have to endanger your mental equilibrium by drinking it. Just take a few drops in the palm of the hand, rub both hands together until the liquor is partially absorbed into the skin, then conver the face with your hands and inhale the odor until you can no longer detect it. It is a positive cure."-Philadelphia Record.

A Bottle at Sea. On the 20th of August last, as a party of business men of Pawtucket, R. I., was enjoying a day of fishing on Long Island Sound, the idea was breached to throw over a bettle and see how long it would be before the bettle was found on shore, and how long before the party would get word from it. So a note was written asking the finder of the bottle to forward the note to the address of ene of the party in this city as soon as it was found, and as a little incentive to the finder to take this trouble and the expense of mailing, a dime was placed in the bottle with the note. Then the bottle was tightly corked and thrown into the sound. Day before yesterday morning the man whose address was on the note received a letter from James Smith, of Shelter Island, L. I., containing the bottled note, and stating that the bottle was picked up by him on the 20th inst., on the south shore of Shelter Island-just three menths to a day from the time it was threwn over.

conditions

In some conditions the gain from the use of Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil is rapid. For this reason we put up a 5oc. size, which is enough for an ordinary cough or cold or useful as a trial for babies and children.

In other conditions gain must be slow, sometimes almost imperceptible, health can't be built up in a day. For this Scott's Emulsion must be taken as nourishment, food rather than medicine, food prepared for tired and weak digestions.
