A Rich Gold Discovery in Sask.

Prince Albert, Sask., Aug. 5.—Re-genuine gold rush equalling in ex-ports from Hudson Bay Junction state, that the whole town is excited over an alleged rich discovery of gold which has been made thirty miles north. Trapped By Flames Seven Perish

[Associated Press.] New York, August 5.—Seven lives were lost early today in a fire which destroyed a three-story lodging house in the foreign section of Jamaica, Long Island. The blaze started in a hallway, the only exit, and spread so rapidly that few of the inmates could escape.

The lodging house was occupied for the most part by poor workmen employed in the neighborhood. The owner, George Dunbek, and household, escaped safely in their night clothes by jumping from the windows to the street. The dead, five men and two women, were all foreigners. They were asleep at the time and were all suffocated by smoke in their beds. The blaze was a small one and a single company of firemen with one line of hose extinguished it within a few minutes of their arrival. The property loss will not exceed $15,000.

LANDSLIDE WRECKS TRAIN ON THE ERIE

Beef Freight Hit Rock On Track and Three Men Are Killed.

[Associated Press.]

Middletown, N.Y., Aug. 5.—A landslide on the Erie Railroad, five miles west of here early today caused the wreck of an eastbound fast freight train and the loss of three lives. The dead: James J. Bartley, engineer, of Port Jervis; Howard Taylor, fireman, of Port Jervis; George Carpenter, brakeman, of Jersey City.

The landslide is believed to have been due to a heavy rain which loosened the hillside so it caused large quantities of rock to crash down and block the tracks. The freight hit the obstruction with terrific impact. The wreck was badly wrecked, eleven refrigerator cars being tangled up.

Wrecking crews were rushed to the scene to clear the road.

The donor was W. J. Bell, the Sudbury lumberman, who nearly lost his life in the accident, and who gives Brakeman Morrison a large share of the credit of his escape from death.

LENEVE GIRL PUTS HER FAMILY ASIDE

"My Case Is Doctor's," She Says—Declines Relatives' Aid.

DOCTOR CABLES LONDON

Premier Gounin Says Extradition From Canada to England Is Not Necessary.

Quebec, Que., Aug. 5.—Those mysterious London friends of Dr. Hawley Harvey Crippen, who have already retained counsel to defend him on a charge of killing his wife, proffered further assistance by cable yesterday. Two messages were delivered to the dentist in his cell. The first asked if he needed funds; the second inquired about the rumors that he had confessed.

Crippen replied by cable that he would appreciate some money, and reassured his friends that he had made no admission that would hurt his case. The wording of neither the message nor of Crippen's reply was made public, nor were the names signed to those from whom obtainable. It was said that a local attorney, whose name the authorities declined to divulge, sent word today to Miss Leneve offering to represent her in any legal proceedings she might care to undertake. Although this attorney said he had been retained by the girl's family in England, she declined to accept his services. In her answer the young typist showed that the lawyer of London, with the pale, pasty face and fishy eyes, still exerts a stronger influence over her than her own relatives.

Guards Crippen's Name.

She sent back word that her case was Dr. Crippen's and that she would return to England to make her fight with him. And she has let fall no word likely to incriminate the man for whom she cut off her beautiful light brown hair, put on boy's clothing and fled from England.

Persons who have talked with the girl here believe she had no part in the alleged killing of Belle Elmore, and those who share this view think she is a great deal more than a simple-minded creature. Crippen must have told her to explain their flight after she had learned through the newspapers that they were wanted for homicide. It is possible, even, that Crippen kept her in the company of his companion all knowledge of the cause for which he was hunted. This, in a measure, would explain her unfeigned surprise when she was arrested about the murder here.

Premier Gounin said this afternoon without qualification that Dr. Crippen has made no confession. The premier, who also is attorney-general for the province of Quebec, threw some interesting legal light on the Canadian end of the case.

Question of Gift Foreign.

"The crime, if crime there was," he said, "was committed in England. As Canada is a part of England, she is bound to take jurisdiction of the case. His departure for London can be brought about only through the prescribed operation of the fugitive offender act. It will be necessary, therefore, for the English police to prove only that the accused is a fugitive from justice, charged with homicide. The question of whether the accused is guilty does not enter into the matter here."

"The papers on which Dr. Crippen will formally be released from Canadian jurisdiction will be signed by the Governor-General of Canada at Ottawa. The only point on which the attorney-general's office might enter officially into the case is through the possibility of Dr. Crippen's announcing his decision to make a confession. In this event, he would be called upon by the jailer as his superiors to take such a document in the proper form, and with the observance of all the accessory legal details."

GANS WILL WIN RACE WITH DEATH

Is Nearly All In But Will See Parents Before He Dies.

[Associated Press.]

Pittsburg, Aug. 5.—Joe Gans, one-time lightweight champion of the prize ring, will live to see his parents in Baltimore, toward the end of the race with death. Wasted by the ravages of consumption, and only able to faintly articulate between gasps, "fix my head," or "drink," the champion pugilist of the first arena passed through the city shortly before 7 o'clock this morning. His train arrived from Chicago at 6:30, and departed for Baltimore at 7:30. He is due at Baltimore at 3:30 this afternoon. With Gans is his wife, his attending physician, Dr. H. T. Southworth, of Prescott, Arizona, and "Old" Jimmie, an old-time ring partner of the former pugilist. The party is travelling on train No. 2 of the Pennsylvania Railroad, in the car Raritan, in which Gans occupies a drawing-room.

Dr. Southworth to the Associated Press said that Gans had done fully during the trip from Chicago, where they left at 5:30 last night, and had taken half a glass of milk as nourishment.

MANY AFTER IRON MINE

Keen Competition To Get Control of Deposits on Mattagami.

Cobalt, Aug. 5.—It is reported that the Mackenzie and Mann interests and the Nova Scotia Steel Corporation are both bidding for large blocks of claims on Grand Rapids, Mattagami River, 75 miles only from Moose Factory. There are at least a dozen parties representing big interests in the United States already upon Mattagami, employing men to do assessment work, or making examinations.

Professor Baker has just left the iron fields after months of sampling. Parties who have met him report that he is most enthusiastic over possibilities and there is no question but that he will make a favorable report. The distance from Michipicoten, on Lake Superior, the nearest market, to Grand Rapids, as the crow flies, is only 22 miles. Little development work has been done. The iron ore has shown up solid in two more occurrences of a thousand feet long each.

CONSERVATIVE COUNCIL WARNS THE PREMIER

Weyburn Gives Sir Wilfrid a Great Welcome—Talks to Americans.

Moose Jaw, August 4.—In a day of travelling, punctuated by brief stops where the premier speaks his mind informally from the rear of his car, the people of the west are getting close to the personality and convictions of Canada's First Commoner. Expressing his appreciation of the civic entertainment at Weyburn, where the mayor is president of the Conservative Association, and by a peculiar coincidence every member of the council of this year is of that political faith, Sir Wilfrid referred to the fact that his greeting had been one of the most cordial in the whole tour.

"I am coming with a full heart," he said, "that you have received me with the warmth of a brother Canadian whom circumstances have for the moment placed at the head of our common country."

The premier availed himself of the opportunity to congratulate the town upon the fact that the council were just being made that the council were all of one political faith. It was a good thing for a community that municipal matters were not conducted on party lines. It was his conviction that a higher standard of municipal efficiency was obtained where party lines were obliterated and citizens sought only to secure the services of the men best able to conduct their civic affairs.

The House of Lords.

Speaking particularly to United States settlers, Hon. Mr. Graham drew a series of happy parallels between the characteristic features of British and American institutions. "In one respect," he said, "the constitution of Canada is better than that of the old country. It may be that our system of appointing men to the Senate is still faulty, but what I object to in the constitution of the old land is that the people can be born into a Legislature. A man is born into the House of Lords, although he may have no fitness for the position. In the recent struggle some of the men who came to the door of the House of Lords did not know the way in and had never been before. It was not a credible spectacle. I am a good British subject, but I do not believe in people being made legislators because they are born into the House of Lords." (Prolonged cheering.)

To the United States settlers in Yellowknife Sir Wilfrid appealed to take part in the public life of their new land in civic, provincial and Dominion affairs. "Identify yourselves with one of the great parties under the system of our government," he stated, adding, with a smile: "It were better that you should become members of the wrong party than of none at all."

He was impressed with the great opportunity confronting the American-Canadian. "You are the greatest of all patriotic privileges," he observed. "You can do much to improve the relations between the land of your birth and the land of your adoption. You can do much to weld the bond of union. I have had great dreams. I am too old now to expect to see them become realities; that may be your privilege. I pray that it will. An alliance, offensive and defensive, between the British Empire and the American Republic would result, in my humble opinion, in a state of world-affairs that would be a single man in the world could fire a shot without permission. Perhaps this is too ambitious a dream, but something we can do. Our commercial relations in the past have not been what they should be. We have taken our stand on British preference. We will not depart from that. It is and shall remain part of our policy. But I am conceiving of a wide field of reciprocity. That is a goal we can attain."
