Good Friday.

Hester and Samuel were married on Good Friday, March 19 last, at Eidinoff's home. For a month or more they off's home. For a month or more they lived with his parents, his sister his sister's husband. Their marital troubles, Hester alleges, began through unpleasant disagreements "the new graft on the family tree," and the sister who lived at home. One day tion agent, is at Quebec, meeting British somebody left a water-tap running upstairs, and the water leaked through the ceiling in the drawing-room of the Eidinoff family residence, precipitating a large piece of plaster on the parlor carpet. Hester was blamed for it, and the little occurrence precipitated more than the plaster. Hester decided to return to her father. Next day she went down to the market in her second-best clothes and when she returned all her new clothes were hidden, made no complaint, but after dinner her husband asked her to return the jewelry which he had given her during their engagement. There was a bracelet, a necklace and the diamond ring, for which Samuel had paid $50. Hester showed her hands to Chief Williams at the time. She claims that her husband inflicted the bruises in an attempt to wrest the ring from her fingers.

Took Her Clothes. Next day she went back to the house vith a detective and brought away her clothes. After rusticating for a month at her father's home in Thamesville she came back to London and her husoand came to live with her at the boarding-house where she had lived before her marriage. The first week he gave her $12 from his wages, the next week $9, and the third week $10. Here stopped, and the fourth week she bought her houshold supplies on credit. Then her husband advertised that he would not be responsible for debts contracted by his wife, and the fourth week she lived on bread which the baker brought, butter which her husband tinued her way to this port under her personally supervised the purchase of, own steam, and was later met by the and tea which her kind-hearted landtug J. Her husband She now lies at anchor in the stream, at bread, butter and tea for breakfast, with a big hole in her bow, two feet but took his dinner and supper at a water line and her stern downtown restaurant. When the butter supply ran out, Hester went her father a second time. Worked After Marriage. She testified in court that Eidinoff told her "sne could put up with what was in the house or she knew what she could do." She claimed that he had married her under false pretences in as much as he claimed to have $1,000 with which to purchase a home, whereas he only had something more than $400. One day she was very sick and he refused to give her a nickel to buy some lemons. She worked two weeks after her marriage and bought clothes with the $23 she earned. His first connection with the agricultural interests was in this city, he having been a member of the Farmers' Advocate staff.

A Barn Raising .-- A barn raising is scheduled to take place on the farm of Mr. Archie Blake of White Oak on Wednesday afternoon. The barn will be a handsome structure of the hiproofed variety, and will be one of the finest in the township. A barn raising is always an event of considerable interest, the workers as a rule dividing themselves into two teams, who compete in getting their share of the work done. A big crowd is expected at Wednesday afternoon's event. Blake is a member of the Westmin-

Break Repaired. - Work of replacing the defective section of waterpipe on the Horton street service main which broke on Sunday afternoon and caused such a flood, just east of the Horton street pumping station, completed this morning. A valve to cut off water to the east of the special intake to the station was installed, so that it will be unnecessory in future to allow the water to run as long as it did on Sunday and Monday, before a temporary supply could be secured for the purpose of cooling the big transformers in the hydro end of the sta-New Lights for Fair.-No decision was eached by the members of the grounds and light committee of the Western Fair board at its meeting Monday afternoon regarding the proposed changing of the lighting system at the Fair grounds. A number of tenders were received, but it was found that several changes in the specifications as to wiring, etc., would have to be made. The meeting was, acordingly, adjourned until Thursday afternoon. It is considered probable that the present lights will be replaced by 500 Watt Tungsten lamps, so that the grounds will be more brilliantly illuminated than ever at this year's exhibi-

[Canadian Press.] Ottawa, July 29.-The Government has so far received no official intimation of the trouble on the I. C. R., but the labor department is awaiting the men's request for a board of conciliation, which according to dispatches, is on the way. The difficulty is in the hands de General Manager Gutelius, but in the event of the threatened trouble comng to a head, he will confer with the Minister of Railways.

ABROGATE SCHEDULE.

[Canadian Press.] Halifax, July 29 .- The sole development in the threatening strike situation of the Intercolonial day was the announcement that the management of the road proposes to abrogate the present schedule of wages and working conditions. Official notification to this effect was received at the brotherhood headquarers here today in a communication from General Manager Gutelius, giving the required six months' notificaion of the railway's determination to end this schedule.

May Force Reduction. Whether this forces a reduction in the present wage schedule or an attempt on the part of the road to inaugurate a system independent of the brotherhood is not known yet but it is generally felt that the latter course is probably in contemplation. Apart from this action of the mangement nothing had developed yet in regard to the request for a conciliation board sent to Ottawa yesterday.

Queer Cargo For Toronto's Zoo

[Canadian Press.] Montreal, July 29 .- Lions, Australian dingoes, English badgers, ferrets and cranes were the most curious items on the manifest of the C. P. R. liner Montcalm, in port from Bristol and Liverpool. The animols are all from the Dublin zoological gardens and are consigned to the zoological gardens at Toronto. A special keeper from the Dublin zoo came out with them, feeding and tending them all the way. It was the wish of the authorities of For the Playgrounds .- There is to be the Toronto zoo to import some Tasbig day on the playgrounds of Vic- manian devils, and the governors of
