WEDNESDAY MORNING, APRIL 2, 1884.

The True Remedy, Canada is credited, even in her own house, with being afflicted by grave disorder, and consequently many are prescribing for her malady. We have Mr. Goldwin Smith advocating a customs union with the United States, and we do not have gone to Milwaukee to inspect a think that we misrepresent Mr. Blake and pumping machine which a firm there offers the great majority of his party when we for use in the Toronto waterworks. There say that he and they are squinting in the same direction. Mr. Blake wants the right given to Canada to make commercial treaties, and before him George Brown was much given to the promotion of the reciprocity idea. Next to these, only much more advanced, are those who favor annexation pure and simple. Our neighbors more than our selves preach this doctrine. The New York Sun, for instance, of Monday says:

"York Sun, for instance, of Monday says: The argument which Mr. Goldwin Smith uses for the removal of tariff restrictions is a stronger argument for the union of the two countries—for the annexation of Canada to the United States. They "not only lie close to each other, they project into each other; they are dovetailed together." Nature demands that they should be one, and their common interest enforces the demand. Then the "un-restrieted commerce with each other" which Canada especially needs, will be secured beyond peradventure, and without danger of interruption because of legislative action. "Annexation is the true and only efficient fers. She will have to come into the union, and when she come she will bring to us valu-bie moral and political strength, and greatly increase the measure of her own material prosperity. discussing the views he is credited with delivering in the course of a conversation with a young man at Buffalo. They settled the destiny of all living beings in human form. On the day corresponding to the modern first of April every aged woman was presented with pleasant offerings. On the first of May the people who had not given their offerings to the aged women on the first of April were required to see the belfires lighted; watch them un-til burned to hot cinders, and then go through the hot cinders barefooted. Hence comes the hereditary impulse that some of us cannot, dare not, pass an aged woman who makes a sign of poverty on the first of April; nor on many other days. To day, April 1, 1884, in Leader lane, Toronto, one man of a small group of pedestrians turned back, procured a silver coin, returned and gave it into the hand of an aged lady who sat in the lane, her eyes gazing into the innermost being of every passer by. It was the act of the man writing this paragraph; a small act withed from ante-cedent circumstances two thousand years old, the time when Druidical power govadored the visible deity. They foretold by it. Weight is like character ; it cannot be tampered with without injury to its ossessor. The nose is reddened and looks pinched, the skin on the foreead tightens, the eyes protrude from sunken caverns once filled with tissue, and the cheeks, seamed and haggard, droop on either side of the flabby chin. Eight aldermen and two civic officials to christianity, or they, enlivened by their faith, died out under the "mistletce bough" and the "holly berry branch," with "oak tree leaves" and the song of robin red for use in the Toronto waterworks. There is little doubt that the jaunt will be a pleasant one. The firm will see to that, but the expenses must come out of the profits of the machine. And who will pay for that? Whatever Mr. Goldwin Smith says, or

The each bought separate admission tickets and got a seat in partnership. The seat was to be occupied by them turn about, each one holding it during an act. It was an admirable scheme. Those standing against the wall gave it furtive glances of proprietorship. Besides their other oper-atic furnishings, they wore upon their faces that transfigured look of hope which beau-tifies the face of the dying christian. The last chance fell to the politest of the

Abominable Buildings.

The condition of some of our public uildings in Toronto, in a sanitary point of view, is simply abominable. Our city hall, court house and parliament buildings are certainly a disgrace to the city, county and province. It is hard to understand why such indifference should be manifested

The Game of Grab.

The proposal of the dominion to divide several million dollars among the provinces is the worst thing for the country that has happened in many a day. It is simply a game of grab, all the provinces consenting to despoil the federation. It will entail any amount of future complication. It will encourage the provinces to run in debt, to become extravagant, to eschew prudence. Whenever they get in trouble they will trust to the dominion to see them out of it. If the dominion offers resistance the imprudent members will go to the prudent ones and say: Join us and you shall share in the plunder. Ontario is in the position of the latter; she does not need the money but seeing all the other provinces pressing for it, she consents to join in the game of grab. So far no warning voice has been raised. We hear that the liberals are afraid to speak out their convictions; certainly Mr. Blake and the Globe have said nothing as yet. The French Canadian vote has to be considered

This is one of the instances wherein the veto power provided we had one-could be exercised to great advantage. If we had a responsible chief magistrate invested with the veto power he would not be slow to disallow any such plundering scheme as this, which is merely a bribe to the provinces who for the sake of individual gain consent to take it, though in the long run it will prove the cause of untold complications. In the United States so far there has never yet been a division of the resources of the union among the states, and as 3 and Alexandria repeated in the Soudan. consequence they have been free from combinations of states to raid the federal of blundering into situations that its teachtreasury. Fanny Davenport is well-known to the Toronto stage and to all the continent. Recently she has made a great hit in New York in the portrayal of a woman of season is ended. There is a scarcity of fashion, a Russian princess. But in order to make the character it was necessary to reduce her weight, and by a rigid course of "banting," or dieting according to the system propounded twenty years ago by Banting of London, succeeded; we are told, in dimnishing her avoirdupois fifty-five punds. The critics were so pleased at the result that they spoke of the lady's willowy figure. A loss like this, if unac-companied by marked and obtrusive physi-cal derangements, certainly partakes of the matter of a guin. If rigid adherence to a purely nitrogenous diet will thus pare sway redundant flesh, no one, either on fashion, a Russian princess. But in order houses. But as material for construction

When first offered the title he rejoiced and rewarded the messenger tendering it to him. He now recognizes that England's policy is weak, vacillating and uncertain, and has resolved to risk, if not his own life, that of his followers, in an attempt not only at re-establishing his jubilee riots at Toronto and Grand Trunk waning popularity, but at asserting in his own person the right of might.

It is not in order for the Toronto police men to complain that they were beaten by a Yankee trick in the tug-of-war with a Yankee trick in the tug-of war with Buffalo. They consented to the terms and conditions, and having accepted them they are bound to accept the defeat they sustained. Their weak points were over confidence and ignorance of the conditions that they so readily accepted. The lesson of the defeat is for our athletes hereafter to scrutinize well the conditions.
