THE ART EXHIBIT.

Notes on a Few Passing Pictures at the ontario Society's Rooms.

Now that the catalogs are issued the visitor finds no difficulty in tracing the respective works of the different artists, and the individual qualities of each. As Nature presents herself in countless phases, moods and moments, so do the artists present her in this exhibition. A strong love of nature is the salient characteristic of the Canadian school. No. 1 is a pretty little vase of pansies by Mary H. Reid. It has for a companion No. 3.

No. 2, J. Humme, represents a canceist paddling down a shady stream.

No. 4, Homer Watson, shows a large picture injwhich the heavy rolling clouds of storm are passing away. The top of the neighboring tree torn by the gale lies across the path. There is a little too much formality in the trees; otherwise the picture is excellent.

No. 10, W. E. Atkinson. In this the effect of the evening is very well felt.

No. 20, J. C. Forbes, shows a Rocky Mountain ranche, with good foreground effects.

But free admission to the markets of California, Oregon, Nevada (Idaho, Arizona, New Mexico, Texas, Kansas, Missouri, Kentucky, Arkansas, and dosens of ether States would cause about as much Canadian produce to be sold there as could be sold to the inhabitants of the moon. Of the 50,000,000 people assumed to exist in the United States how many live in a locality to trade with Canadia! Parts of the half dozen States lying east of longitude 90 and between the parallels of latitude 40 dogrees and 45 degrees contain the people with whom we are asked to form a commercial union, taking their manufactures at exorbitant prices. One little corner of the market of 50,000,000 people is offered to Canadians as the price of their sational extinction? Men who advocate a base surrender of their country for money do not cease to be disgusting though they also become ridiculous when it is evident they are sluped by their own sordid imaginations."

June 16.—"If Britain were to purchase the seduction of the American tarift by sacrificing as she would be admitting that her whole commercial policy was based on unsound principles. Shortly after making this concession to protectionists she would find she had made the greatest economical blunder of modern times. She would discover that she had thrown away an empire and had raised up competition of colossal dimensions against herself, on set the consent, and assuming for the modern times. She would be agreatloss to us. We have already supported this assertion with facts and figures, and are prepared to go still more deeply into the subject, if it is necessary."

At a market town in Rutlandshire the following placard is affixed to the shutters of a watchmaker, who had decamped, leaving his creditors minus: "Wound up and the mainspiring broke." As pithy and curious was the motice lately stuck upon the window of a Liondon coffee-house. "This coffee-room removed up-stairs till repaired." There are many curious signs and business announcements to be found in London, of which a few are. "Sick dogs medically attended by the week or month. Birds to board. Ladies' and gentlemen's feet and hands professionally treated by the job or season. Round-shouldered persons made straight. Babies or children hired or exchanged. False noses as good as new, and warranted to fit. Black eyes painted very neatly." In the extreme west we hear of a shanty which bears the sign: "Here's where you get a meal like your mother used to give you."

WALTER O VER, Prop. BILIOUSNESS.

Bilious symptoms invariably arise from indigestion, such as furred tongue, vomiting of bile, giddiness, sick hendache, irregular bowels. The liver secretes the bile and acts like a filter or sieve, to cleanse imparities of the blood. By irregularity in its action or suspension of its functions, the bile is liable to overflow into the bile is liable to overflow into the blood, causing jaundice, sallow complexion, yellow eyes, bilions diarrhœa, a languid, weary feeling, and many other distressing symptoms. Biliousness may be properly termed an affection of the liver, and can be thoroughly cured by the grand regulator of the liver, and billary organs, Burdock Blood Bitter. Act upon the stomach, bowels and liver, making healthy bile and pure blood, and goens the culverts and sluice.
