Canada's Greatest Store
190 Yonge-st. Toronto

Making a New Record

for November. Forging ahead at a mile a minute clip. No stops, no slow-downs—nothing but clear running, with all the steam we want and the right of way all along the line. There's nothing to hinder our making fast time and doubling the distance between this store and all the others.

We're in fine trim for bigger business. At a time when all kinds of goods are going up in price, we're charging less than usual. You see it in everything you buy here. You notice it more particularly in making comparisons. No matter what anybody else professes to do or does do, it'll be to your interest to know exactly what we're doing in the same line.

The store is so big and its stocks so numerous we can't possibly tell of all the good things as they come along. Suggestions are given here and there and shoppers are welcome to the freest inspection of every nook and corner. We want you to visit the store as often as convenient and see things through your own spectacles. Every day in the week we're paying you to do this by letting out some goods at the lowest prices ever quoted.

Special values for Saturday morning will be apt to bring you, whether or no. You'll see lots of other goods equally interesting with these:

- 50 Ladies' Capes (samples) in plain and fancy cloths, heavy winter weight, plain tailored, made and fur-trimmed, all new designs, regular price $7.50 to $12.50, on sale Saturday morning $5.00.

- 500 Curtain Poles, polished imitation mahogany, walnut, ebony and oak, with brass fittings and curtain pins, complete, regular price 25c, Saturday at $1.22.

The floor managers will direct you to the different stocks, but shoppers are never importuned to buy. And, of course, you get your money back if things aren't exactly as represented. Shopping here is surrounded with every possible safeguard, with no suggestion of trickery in methods or merchandise.

- 108 only—No. 8 or 9 Copper Bottom Wash Bowls, good quality tin, regular price, 80c each, on sale Saturday morning $1.00.
- 500 Table Covers, assorted, in plain, colored, bordered, fringed, regular price, 40c each, on sale Saturday morning $1.00.
- Linen Towels, assorted, in Damask and Huck, size 18 x 36, regular price, 20c per pair; Saturday morning $1.16.

Clearing Prices in Silks:

A miscellaneous lot we want to close out. Instead of fadling with them for a week or so, we make prices that'll sweep 'em out in one day. They go on sale to-morrow:

- Fancy Silk Gowns and Gracelines, for evening dresses and trimmings, in a variety of new tints, including white cream, tuscany, pink, sky, mauve, blue, butternut, cardinal and silver tints, together with fine Swiss embroidered effects, in fancy silk crepe and fancy silk crepe effects, in 43 and 44 inch widths, regular price from $1.50 to $5 per yard; ready Saturday morning $2.75 to $2.

If you see them you'll buy—sure. The difficulty is in describing colors and effects. Half-prices will clear the lot in short order, and there'll be no more to sell at the prices when these are gone.

DALY'S RAREST TRIUMPH

"MIDSUMMER NIGHT'S DREAM" IS LOVELY, INDEED.

The Delightful Rendering of Shakespeare's Fantasy Applauded by a Great Audience—Miss Rehan's Acting and Mr. James Lewis' Clowning, Combined with Mendelssohn's Music and Great Scenery.

Augustus Daly had his triumph at the Princess last night. His talents as a manager were never put to a severer test than when he attempted to stage "Midsummer Night's Dream," in a manner that would make the general playgoer alike. No fantasy, or comedy, or tragedy, that Shakespeare has written seemed less suited for the modern stage, he carried home the plaudits of a great audience.

The modern mind is intensely practical, and realistic. Shakespeare's "Midsummer Night's Dream" does not nowadays convey to the imagination of an audience the vivid pictures that swept across Shakespeare's brain when he wrote the lines beginning, "I know a hawk shall win the plaudits of a great audience."

The modern playgoer wants the real, the real fairies, the real picture that he can see, and he has given an elaborate production, but he has not given the production of Shakespeare's "Midsummer Night's Dream" as it was given by Augustus Daly.

Miss Rehan's acting was a masterpiece. She has given an elaborate production, but she has not given the production of Shakespeare's "Midsummer Night's Dream" as it was given by Augustus Daly.

THE PRESS AND THE GAS COMPANY AND ALDERMEN APOLOGISTS.

Civic reform is a popular subject with newspaper editors all over the American continent. The theory of press freedom is as badly as the rest of them. Every few days we find some of the dailies delivering learned disquisitions on the theory of press freedom. The principles by which the affairs of cities can be properly administered are laid down and authorities quoted to show what should be done. The press of Toronto are all right in their regard for good civic government, but their earnestness in the matter is very questionable when we see that all parties to the aggregate of the people to demand greater honesty and efficiency on the part of those whom they elect.
