SUPREME COURT

One of the most interesting and important cases before the Supreme Court in session in Annapolis last week, Hon. Mr. Justice Ritchie presiding, was one for breach of promise. The case was introduced on a supplementary docket and was brought by Miss Gladys J. Longmire against Capt. Eugene B. Coates, damages claimed being $1,500. Parsons, K.C., for plaintiff, Harris for defence. It appeared that the plaintiff after having prepared for the wedding, was assaulted, on going to the railway station to meet the defendant on his return home, to have him step off the train with another woman whom he introduced as his wife. The jury returned a verdict for the plaintiff for the full amount claimed.

The other cause on the supplementary docket was Fred E. Cox vs. Freeman Corbett, action for commission on sale of a farm. Continued.

Regular docket cases included: Ernest H. Jackson vs. Isabella F. and Chas. H. Shafner, dispute about a wire fence at South Farmington. Plaintiff's action was dismissed with costs and nominal damages awarded defendant.

Andrew Smith vs. Joseph Edwards, action for abuse and assault. It appears that Edwards is a native of Damascus and since his settlement in Dalhousie has lived always to do credit to the fact that he came from "no mean city." The jury were out only about five minutes and brought in a verdict for defendant.

A. S. Connor vs. Geo. S. Lee, action for damages for auto collision. Settled. There were three criminal cases: Harry Whynot, for wife beating, not his first offence, sentenced to two years in Dorchester penitentiary.

Warren Pyne, charged with perjury, was acquitted. A verdict, charged with failing to provide for family, was dismissed, the Grand Jury finding a bill. —Spectator.

PORT WADE

John McGrath, of Victoria Beach, captured a moose deer here on Friday last, and hauled him home on an ox team in the afternoon. Many others have been unsuccessful so far.

The rumblings and whisperings which are first cousins of a Council election have been in evidence the past few days, preparatory to having nominations in before 17th. We understand Arthur W. Chisholm and Stewart Mills, both veteran mail drivers, to be the aspirants for office.

We are sorry to see so many of our citizens going over to Uncle Sam's. "No truck or trade with the Yankees" don't seem to work, as most of our people are over there now and as the Municipality of this County have made it easier to get into the "San", the balance of us may go there.

Capt. John W. Snow made the run from Beaver Harbor Saturday getting home here in the afternoon, making a very good trip and disposing of his apples, etc., to a fair market.

The recent heavy rain storm damaged the roads here considerably, sweeping many tons of gravel into the ditches.

Mrs. Fred Ramsay and family will leave here for Boston on Friday 20th.

Edward Keane and James W. Snow expect to attend the International fishing schooner race at Gloucester this week.

Harry Reynolds arrived home here Friday, accompanied by his wife, who went some time since to meet him.

Ernest McGrath came home from the West last week, looking well. Apples are a light crop here this fall, though of good size and smooth. Cider or common apples are nearly an average crop.

IMPROVEMENTS RECREATION HALL

Already the band of men and women behind this Institution (it may well be called that) are planning for the annual Christmas tree entertainment and have set the date as Thursday, December 28th. They are making this early announcement so that their many friends and supporters may mark their calendars and keep the evening clear.

During the year further equipment has been added to the Hall in the shape of eighty-two chairs purchased from the Bridgetown Steamship Co., and an order is now being placed for a "Pipeless Furnace" which will be installed within the next few weeks. These things will add greatly to the use and comfort of the Hall.

The daughter of Mrs. (Capt.) Wm. Willett, of Round Hill, Miss Phyllis, who is now in Ottawa, is taking part in "The Maid of Wisteria", the big success of Messrs. Beal and Emery of New York, who have entered into an arrangement with the Rotary Club of Ottawa, for its production there in aid of the fund for crippled children.

This brilliant musical festival will be produced in the Russell Theatre for four consecutive nights. The Halcyon Club of 300 members was asked to select 24 girls for the chorus and Miss Willett was one of those chosen. The many friends of Miss Willett will be pleased to learn of the recognition of her talents.
