

February 10, 1937

Dr. D. McMurray
McGill University
Montreal, Canada

Dear Doctor:

I am interested to know why you have not yet written me further about the preservation of your records in their original form, - the only proper way to preserve records if we want to hand down to the future authentic facts. Unless we preserve the originals themselves, nothing will be authentic and records can be easily falsified. The Broadman Process preserves the originals.

Do you believe your records so badly mutilated that you assume their preservation impossible? You are in error if you think so. It will be a surprise to you to note the strength of each sheet thus processed. We can preserve master copies of newspapers, files of newspapers no matter how old they may be, records and manuscripts of any kind or description. Send us a sample order and you will be convinced.

Do you expect to wait with the preservation of your records until later, when the paper will be even more brittle? If you do so, the results will not be nearly as good, and more repair work will be needed. The sooner such records are preserved, the better. Our generation owes a duty to the future to preserve the records of our day - perhaps the most important era in human history - and to hand them down to posterity in their original form.

Enclosed please find a sample and price list. If you need any specific information, I shall be pleased to give you same. Hoping to hear from you very soon, I am,

Very truly yours,

Dr. Joseph Broadman

JB:RB
Enclosures