VARSITY JUNIORS READY FOR FINAL

Lindsay Made Them Move to Win Semi-Final-Played Six Men a Side.

Versity juniors earned the right to meet the winner of the Berlin Union Jacks-Collingwood semi-final in the O.H.A. final, when they defeated Lindsay 12 to 7 final, when they defeated Lindsay 12 to 7 at the Arena last night, winning the round by four goals, or 15 to 11. It was the hardest battle the students have had this season. It developed into six-man hockey soon after the start, when Haugh retired with a cut on his forehead, and the good U. of T. combination was broken up, as Gouinlock was dropped to even it up. Lindsay checked like fiends and Varsity never looked safe until they opened up a link in the final round and drew away.

Varsity never looked safe until they opened up a link in the final round and drew away.

It was 3 to 2 for Varsity at the end of the first period and 6 to 4 at the second rest. Varsity were battling every inch of the way and with Linasay refusing to stop it was nip and tuck for three-quarters of the way. The blue and white locals were hardly up to form and missed Gouinlock on the plays close in to the net. Varsity shot too hard when close in and their passing was not up to the usual. Smythe was hardly as good as in former games and Stratton went in spelis. Saunders was the bright shining light of the forward line and Ramsay opened up some grand rushes in the final round. Lindsay were beaten, but they gave a mighty good account of themselves.

Varsity had it over Lindsay in the speed line but not in the checking. It was the Varsity defence that had a lot to do with the victory. They were head and shoulders over their opponents at the other end and they stopped many a

The other end and they stopped many a rush.

Varsity showed signs of staleness at the start, but got into their stride in the third period, and finished much better than their opponents. They either overdid or failed to show enough of the combination in the first two periods. The Varsity squad carried the puck well enough, but skated too far in before they passed it. Their shooting was too they passed it. Their shooting was too strong, and it generally ended at the end of the rink. With Gouinlock on the ice it would have made a lot of differ-

They were away flying until Haugh They were away flying until Haugh got hit on the head with the puck and retired. Varsity figured that it would be only a short time before he returned and dropped Gouinlock. Haugh falled to appear despite of coaxing, and Varsity were forced to do without Gouinlock for the rest of the game. Varsity broke in front but only had a one-goal margin after the twenty minutes. It was mostly individual work as any combination that individual work, as any combination, that was tried was foozled. Lindsay were every bit as good as Varsity, and their long suit was a pestering checking.

It was much the same in the second period, and both clubs were tired. Varsity showed to the best advantage in the final round. They opened up with two-man rushes that carried them well in every time and broke away many times with the whole Lindsay team up trying to get a goal or two. It was fast thru-

A Brockville despatch says: In an Interscholastic League hockey fixture, played at the local arena, Ashbury College of Ottawa defeated St. Alban's School of Brockville by 7 goals to 2. The score, however, is no indication of the blay Ashbury was fortune in tallying play. Ashbury was fortune in tallying four goals to St. Alban's one in the first four goals to St. Aiban's one in the first period, but the remaining portion of the game was keenly contested, with honors evenly divided. Lower Canada College of Montreal has a commanding lead in the league and will undoubtedly win out. The Brockville hockey team defeated Perth in the final match of the southern series of the Ottawa Valley League by 4 goals to 1. The winners went thru the entire schedule of eight matches without losing a single game. In addition, they won an exhibition match against Cornwall. Should weather conditions permit the Brockvilles are going after the winners of some of the other sections of the league and will be strong contenders for the championship.

A Cornwall despatch says: Cyril Denneny, the well-known member of the Shamrock Hockey team of Toronto, and Miss Malvina K. Eastman, daughter of C. G. Bastman of Cornwall, were married at the Presbyterian Manse, Toronto, last night by Rev. S. Harper Gray. Both are popular young Cornwall people and have the congratulations of many friends here.

Important hockey games are on the card for tonight at Ravina Rink, West Toronto. At 7 o'clock Hustlers meet Century Rovers for group B in the Toronto Hockey League midget series. At 8 o'clock North Toronto meet Capitals to decide group A in the junior series. At 9 o'clock Clinton Street Methodist Church meet North Toronto in a senior game to decide who will play off with Imperial Bank, the winners of the business sectiop. Both the above senior teams have two games to play, but they have decided on account of the lateness of the season to make this game count for two wims or two losses. With the above games the followers of the Toronto League can look forward to one good

FITZPATRICK GOES How Mack Made Ball TO STALLING'S HERD

Leafs' Second Baseman Sold to the Braves - News of the Local Club.

Eddie Fitzpatrick, the Leafs good second baseman, will try to burn up the big leagues. President McCaffery of the local club, announced last night "the little giant" will wear a Boston National uniform this year. Fitz came to the Leafs from the Lancaster of the Tri State League in 1910, and made a hit with Toronto fans the first day he stepped on the Island diamond. There may have been better ball players on the Toronto club at different times, but never a player with the interests of the club more at heart.

The Toronto club is a firm believer in new faces, and an infielder that is well-known to local fans will be secured to fill Fitzpatrick's shoes. His name will be announced within the course of a few days. Very few of the old guard will be left and a young and fast team is the aim of the president. The training stingle handed. Let this point strike wis high took him in hand. He worked with him, drilled him and tutored him. Anything that Mack knew about base-ball he strove to transmit to this awk-ward Maryland farmer boy. Baker had inherent ability and Mack drew it out quickly, where a less brainy directing boss might have ruined him.

And believe me, there has been no piece of Dresden china imported in America more delicate than Baker. If you stroked with him, as useful to a ball club as a bottle of mucilage. The wise Mack knew his idiosyncrasies, plaited his hair the right way, instruced him and made a ball player out of him.

Baker, who might have been a dub under the leadership of a less competent manager, became a star under Mack.

Baker was a component part of a great machine, but he was not the whose machine. Good as he was, he couldn't have won pennants and world's championships single-handed. Let this point strike days. Very few of the old guard will be left and a young and fast team is the aim of the president. The training grounds and the new manager's name will be announced during the coming week. The Toronto club reports at Washington, D.C., on April 1st, and will spend two weeks in the southern town close to the American capital. This is shorter than former spring training trips, but the men will be hustled every minute. chine. Good as he was, he couldn't have won pennants and world's championships single-handed. Let this point strike home. Baker was a creature of Mack's and profited by other creatures of Mack. Mack made Baker, and he also made Collins, McInnis, Barry, Strunk, Oldring and others.

To the fan in the bleachers it would seem that Baker should appreciate his fortune in serving under such an astute master, who built a machine that brought many an extra dollar to Baker's pockets. Besides drawing an extremely liberal salary, Baker enjoyed additional emoluments. He joined the Athletics in October, 1908, and since that time has sharbut the men will be hustled every minute they are in the southern camp and should open at Richmond, Ve., on April 27th in good shape.

SECRETARY KILLED.
