STEEL CAPS WERE NOT PUT IN BUILDING

Architect Admits That Details Shown in Blue Prints Were Not Carried Out—Vibrations, Shocks and Green Mortar Were Cause of the Collapse.

Coroner J. E. Elliott and a jury resumed the Neilson building inquest last night.

Robert J. Marshall, demonstrator, engineering faculty, School of Science, deposed that the bricks from the Neilson building gave way under test of 165 to 420 lbs to the square inch. The hardest sand and lime brick used for filling gave way at 2070 pounds and the weakest at 1710 pounds. A salmon-colored brick had crushed at 960 pounds per square inch. That had been the weakest brick found. He contended that the mortar had been of the proper proportion and well mixed.

S. G. Beckett, architect on the building, gave technical evidence. He declared the plans presented at a previous sitting by Mr. King were a distortion. "We are not all engineers and not all pulp-mill operators," said Mr. Beckett in reference to Mr. King. He was rebuked by the coroner for whispering something to Crown Attorney Greer. "That is all right, Mr. Coroner," replied Mr. Greer. "Mr. King was only pointing out that I was using the word 'bulge.'"

The inquest was adjourned to Tuesday evening.

NORTH TORONTO TO HAVE NEW SCHOOL

the maximum. In addition to this in the Eglington school the polling booth, thru the action of the deputy returning officer, was closed seven minutes before the statutory time, disfranchising seven voters who were known to be favorable to the passage of the referendum. In view of this Mayor Brown and a majority of council supported the resolution of the high school board for the $55,000.

Started the Argument.
The resolution which in the final analysis precipitated the greatest flow of oratory came after Councillor Reid had moved, seconded by Councillor Ball as follows: "Resolved, that the request of the high school board for the sum of $55,000 for buying a site and building a high school be granted, and that a bylaw to that purpose be passed." Cheers and counter-cheers greeted the introduction of the resolution, and Councillor Reid was the first speaker.

"From the very first I have favored the high school because I knew that it was one of the most valuable assets we have," said he.

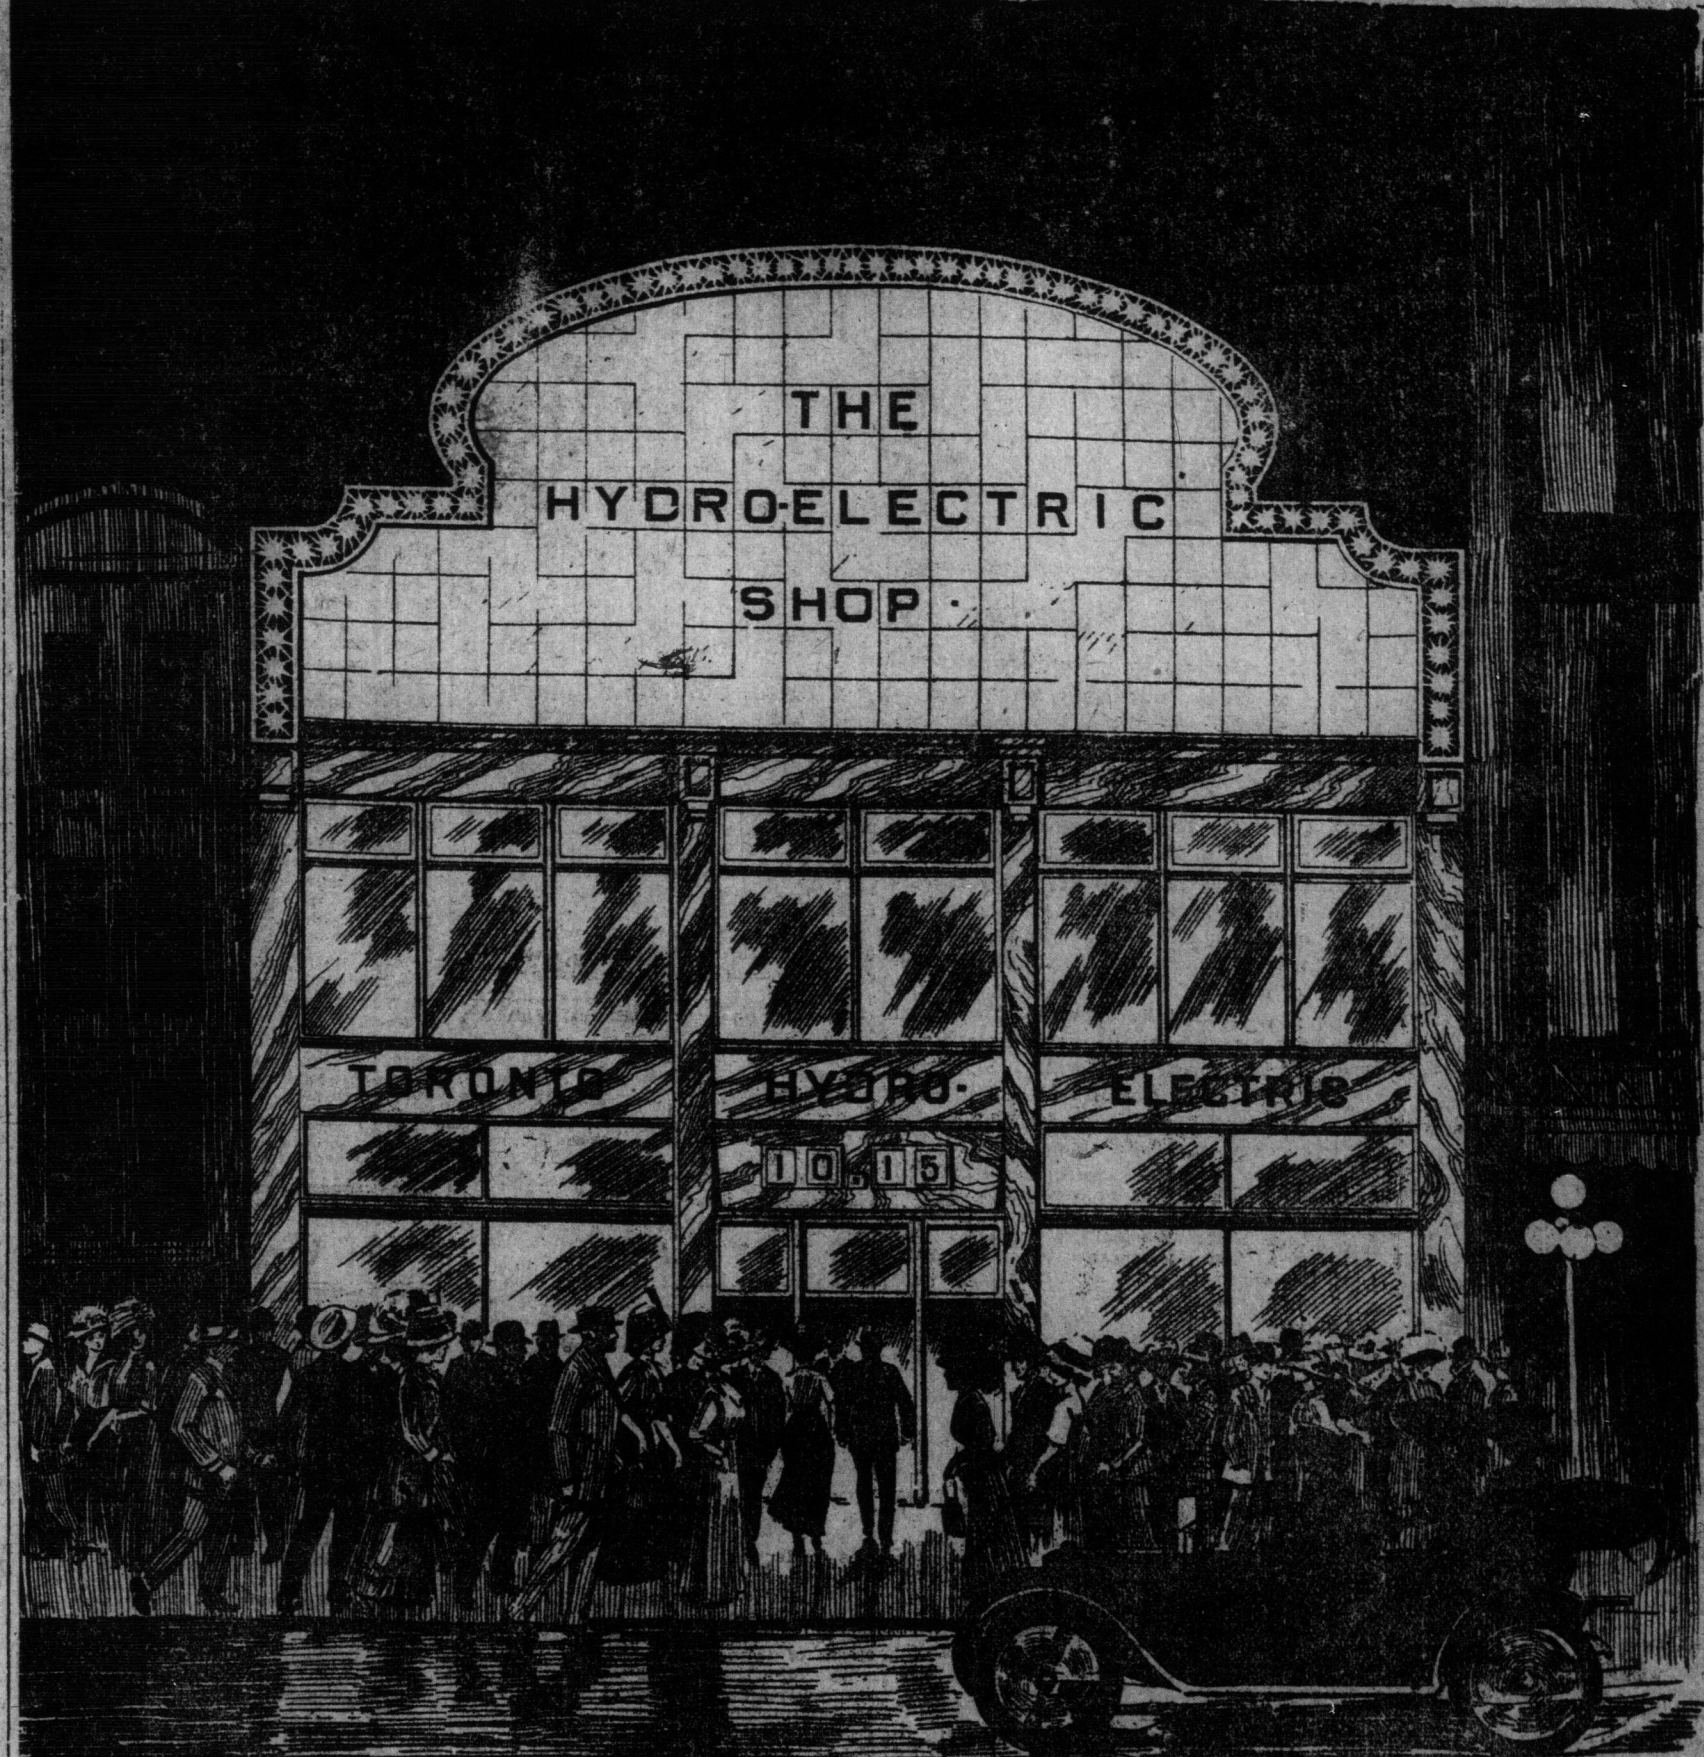

Close Analysis.
Councillor Ball dealt with the objections one by one, showing from a close analysis of the financial phase of the question that the expenditure of $55,000 in the increased government and other grants would amount to about half a mill on the dollar. The poorest man in this town cannot afford to imperil the chances of this high school by voting against this resolution," said Mr. Ball. His remarks aroused a good deal of hostility from those who were opposed to the high school. "I charge back upon the high school board the present defeat of Saturday's vote," said

YOUR ELECTRIC SHOP is Open this Morning

Every citizen of Toronto is a part owner in the Hydro-Electric distributing system. It is your money that has financed this development of public ownership, and your general support that has brought it success.

By the same token you are part owner in the Hydro-Electric Shop, Open Saturday Morning, June 1

This shop has been designed, remodelled and opened for the convenience of the Hydro-Electric patrons. It is a city undertaking, and one of the most interesting developments in the movement to give citizens control of their own public utilities.

Fascinating Features

Electricity is a very interesting thing in any of its phases. We speak of the Stone Age and the Bronze Age as sections of history. Ours will be known to posterity as the Electric Age. In the Hydro-Electric shop there are dozens of fascinating things to see and learn about.

The Electric Clock

Over the entrance doorway there will be a time-telling contrivance, absolutely accurate. It is an Electro-pneumatic Clock, of a unique type, that will surely be one of the landmarks of the city. It is connected with the Observatory and operated by electricity and compressed air. An Ingersoll that keeps time with it is a better watch than the $200.00 instrument which differs from the Hydro-Electric time.

"Live Juice"

In one of the windows you will see live electricity trickling in a stream over an insulated plate. This is the real live "Juice," thousands and thousands of volts of it running like molten metal before your eyes.

Mysterious Messages

will be flashed to the other window through the Telautograph. You will want to see this fascinating instrument in operation, as well as the dozens of other interesting devices, so be sure to call at the

Mr. Ball. "They should have taken the people into their confidence."

Hoodwinking the People.

"You are hoodwinking the people in asking them to vote on the high school question, when you had already made up your minds to support it, and you dare not resign your seats and go back to the people for re-election," said Councillor Howe, as he drew a picture of the irreparable damage the British constitution would sustain if the resolution carried.

"It is the first time, and I hope the last that the will of the people was ever overridden," he said. He also stated that if the mayor's statement as reported in the evening press, was correct, the latter's attitude was an insult to the people. "When the vote was taken," he shouted at the mayor, "you were against the people, and you have always been against them. Now resign and contest the mayoralty with me, and I will defeat you."

Slays in Face.
Little less demonstrative was his colleague, Councillor Baker, who, when the resolution was read, said: "Surely, you fellows are not going to support this thing without telling these people why. If the people in this town ever got a slap in the face it is the proposed action of the council to-night in going against their wishes. I stand by the people every time."

Appeals to the chair on points of order were intermingled throughout the discussion, which was exciting, and at times, fierce, tho for the most part, good-natured.

Councillor Muston made a strong case, tho brief, for the passage of the bylaw. "It's now or never for the North Toronto High School," he declared.

His worship summed up the arguments pro and con, and declared that despite the opposition manifested, council would be well advised to assume a certain responsibility and pass it.

The vote was: For—Mayor Brown and Councillors Reid, Muston, Lawrence and Ball. Against—Councillors Baker and Howe.

"I warn you against going too far in this matter till we learn where we are at," said Mr. Howe. "We must know the statutory time in which an injunction can be taken out if it should be so decided."

Prior to the discussion in council, the mayor gave citizens generally an opportunity to declare themselves, about a score taking advantage of the opportunity. Among them were Messrs. Arnold, Bastion, Brownlow, Ferguson, Letts, O'Brien, Donnelly, McQueen and others. After the adjournment of council the crowd gathered in knots and discussed excitedly the situation. Altogether it was the biggest night's excitement ever held in the historic old town hall.

Only Two More Performances.

With two more performances of "Mrs. Dudsleack," the matinee this afternoon and the performance to-night, the Princess Theatre will close a most successful season in every respect. It has been Manager O. B. Sheppard's aim to give the public first-class plays only, and in a large measure he has succeeded admirably.

The attraction this week, "Miss Dudsleack," with Lulu Glaser in the title role, takes rank with the best musical plays that have been seen here during the season.

It is Mr. Sheppard's intention to have the Princess theatre renovated before the opening of another season.
