VETERANS PROTEST IN STRONG TERMS

Earlscourt Branch Takes Exception to Court Decision Regarding Capt. Bailey.

At a meeting of the Earlscourt branch of the G. W. V. A. held at Belmont Hall Thursday evening a resolution was brought from the executive committee as follows, and passed:

In action, May, 1917.

Pte. Davidson, formerly of the Royal Shoe Store, enlisted December, 1915, with the 123rd (Royal Grenadiers) Battalion, went to England August, 1916, and to France, December, 1916, with the Machine Gun Section of the 1915 Battalion.

Women, as a rule, are anxious to do their "bit" and usually try to think of the Union Stock Yards for this action, insisting that it was disloyal and an injury to Canadian soldiers fighting at the front and their dependents at home.

Alien Storekeepers.

Sergt.-Major Gardiner moved a resolution regarding the increase of the alien storekeepers in Earlscourt, and contended that unless some immediate attention was given to this matter that St. Clair avenue would be overrun with aliens, many of whom were of military age. He characterized this condition of affairs as largely the fault of our own people, particularly the working classes.

"While the formation of such a body would be a good thing, properly constituted, and with equitable representation on the board for each section, it is doubtful if a united body of delegates representing the whole of York Township's ratepayers' associations would accomplish as much good as two separate organizations representtwo separate organizations representing the east and the west. The township area is so wide that a convenient central meeting place would be difficult to find for a united body, and the west and west have each their own E. F. at the front. There have been many cases of slander in the past, both private and public, and the plea of foolishness or ignorance of the law has been of no avail to shield the culprit. Why should it be in this case? A professional man and a military officer should be the least entitled to the women's registration cards, and so far as is known, there has not been so far as is known, there has not been the pencit of such an excuse." one answer in the affirmative thruout in the western section were older and longer settled than in the east, and representation on a central council would have to be adjusted accordingthat the members now representing ward one did not understand the need care.

"We need a radical change in the system of granting land allotments to the returned soldiers," said F. G. Pratt, yesterday, at the provincial offices of the G.W.V.A. "The 100-acre lots up north are very well for those soldiers who enjoy good health and the full use of their limbs, but for the imajority of the fellows who come back from Flanders and other fields these rough, unkept tracts are worse than useless."

Continuing, Mr. Pratt, who is now officiating as the provincial secretary for Ontario in the absence of W. E. Turiey, stated that someone should devise a system whereby a returned spidler might be allotted a four or five-acre plot for the cultivation of garden truck. Such a scheme would prove beneficial in more ways than one. In the first place it could be taken up by the man with perhaps one limb, who could do most of the light work. There would be little of the heavy team work necessary on this place that one would find on the larger farms. There was no reason why the government should not make an agreement with owners of properties adjoining towns and cities whereby they would lease for long periods or sell their five-acre holdings for this purpose. And there were lots of these holdings to be found in the province.
