SMASH THE WRONG-DOER.

The public suffers long and is indifferent, but it is a long worm that has no turning.

The scandals affecting the Dominion government, exposed in parliament last session, jarred the public conscience.

The insurance investigation has shown that men prominent in both political parties have achieved what is called "a stacked deck," not by "a fair deal," but by "a stacked deck." The discovery of the "political burglary" of the City of London has brought the election cracksmen to the police court, tho' "the fence" still poses as an honest man. Men, trusted and high in public esteem, have fallen low with the fall of the Ontario Bank.

The public no longer is indifferent. Physical inconvenience it can endure endlessly, but when the moral atmosphere gets to the suffocating point you may trust the public to shake itself up. Where is it to seek support? Liberals and Conservatives alike, parties all have been found wanting. The hope of the public is in itself, the people of Canada. The spirit of the people of Canada at its best knows no politics. It stands for right-doing in politics, in insurance, in banking, in the whole life of Canadians. This spirit has been outraged shamelessly, and the platitudes of a lackadaisical press fail to stir its indignation.

Smash the wrong-doer expresses the spirit of the people of Canada to-day. Wherever he is found, wherever he is, or has been, whatever affiliations he may have, let him suffer for his deeds. If he is a public man, let him get out of public life and stay out; if he is a Liberal let the party cast him out; if he is a Conservative let Conservatives cleanse themselves. If he is an official of an insurance company, a trust company, or a bank, let him resign and stay resigned.

He is a foolhardy leader of a party who suggests an arrangement with the leader of an opposing party to save colleagues or followers who have merited the distrust of the public. The temper of the people of Canada will brook no saw-off, no whitewashing, no black-washing. It will stand for no pleasure political trickery. It wants no sugar-coated paragraphs from men who drop the frock to seize the partisan pen. It has reached manhood, it can stand the right action, and it demands it.

These men—to name them is superfluous—have been tried, found guilty and sentenced to retirement by the people of Canada. The wrong-doer in whatever walk of life must go. Thus saith the people.

BEGIN AT THE TOP TO-DAY.

The Toronto Star, on Thursday last, published an editorial that was supposed to convey some meaning to somebody. It was entitled "BEGIN AT THE TOP TO-DAY." It contained the following:

"The public are tired of generalities and platitudes about corruption. They want definite speech and definite action. The government of the day, as the chief holder of political power, is the right body to make a beginning," etc.

Very well. The government did not begin at the top or the bottom or the middle, or anywhere else. Perhaps the Star should be more definite. Where is the top? Is it the cabinet, and is Charles S. Hyman the branch to be lopped off? Does the Star approve of his retaining his purchased seat in parliament? Is it seemly for a man to be the king's councillor who could not face a political meeting in any part of Canada?

Did the Star's pious editorial mean anything? Was it a cheap bluff? How was it followed up in yesterday's issue? We find remarks about "Sanitation in Suburbs," some historical reminiscences about a law suit in Bowmanville, in 1872, and, finally, a dissertation on the "Price of Gas."

Gas—natural gas of a certain kind—is cheap. Platitudes and generalities about corruption are common. Let us have something definite.

"BEGIN AT THE TOP TO-DAY."

THE IMPENDING ELECTIONS IN THE UNITED STATES.

Excepting Maine and Vermont, which voted in September, all the States in the American Union hold elections on Tuesday, Nov. 6. At these elections will be chosen members of congress, who do not take their seats, as a matter of fact, until December, 1907. In many States also the governor and other state officers will be chosen, the latter including members of the legislatures charged with the duty of electing United States senators, as one-third of the senate retires every two years. In addition there will be elected, in many of the states, various county, township and city officers. The official ballot in Chicago, for example, will be upon a sheet larger than The World newspaper, and will contain, among other things, the names of six hundred candidates.

With so many officers to be chosen and so many interests at stake, there is some dubiety as to what the result may be in particular cases; but it is reasonably certain that the Republican party will control both houses of congress, albeit by reduced majorities.

The main interest centres in the contest in New York. The cause of Hearst has been steadily growing in strength, and it is, to-day, the general impression that he will be elected. When we remember, however, that the ballots to be cast in New York State will outnumber the entire popular vote cast in all Canada in 1904, it will be seen how difficult it is for anyone to accurately forecast the result. This difficulty is increased by the fact that party lines are completely broken down. Thousands of Democrats will vote for Hughes, and thousands of Republicans will vote for Hearst. The politicians are completely at sea. Their polls are no longer reliable, because no man can be safely labeled either a Republican or a Democrat. He must be asked the direct question: "Do you favor Hughes or Hearst?" and many refuse to answer. A typical poll in a New York precinct runs like this: "Hearst, 194; Hughes, 110; doubtful, 12."

There can be no doubt as to what Hearst stands for. A recent fine of $108,000 inflicted on the New York Central Railway Company for rebating, is directly due to evidence furnished by him. At great expense he has gained other rulings from the courts, crippling the coal trust, the gas trust, the ice trust and other monopolies. Every man who owns, or is owned by a corporation, hates Hearst.

Yet a secret plibiscite taken to-morrow, Hearst would carry New York by a large majority. But it must be remembered that tremendous influences will be brought to bear upon the electorate, and there is always to be reckoned with the innate conservatism of the American people, when it comes to voting. The election of McKinley in 1896 demonstrated how strong this is.

In Ohio the situation is even more complicated, and the result more difficult to forecast. The two Republican senators antagonized the president during the last session of congress, and Senator Foraker led the fight against the railway rate bill and cast almost the only negative vote. It was, therefore, suggested that when the Republican state convention assembled it should endorse the president and give a less cordial endorsement to the two senators. This was particularly aimed at Senator Dick, but the gauntlet was taken up by his colleague, who swept the convention, and not only had his course commended, but narrowly escaped having himself put in the field, as a presidential candidate. The state platform contains the absurdity of eulogizing Roosevelt for passing the rate bill and eulogizing Foraker equally for doing all that he could to defeat it. The result is that the congressional candidates are proclaiming themselves Roosevelt men pure and simple, and trying to detach their campaign from the campaign for the state ticket. There is really nothing involved in the state contest; and it would not be surprising if the Democrats repeated their victory of a year ago.

In this fight the national administration is sadly embarrassed. It will gratify Mr. Roosevelt, undoubtedly, to see Foraker laid low, but on the other hand, it would cripple Judge Taft, as a presidential candidate, to have Ohio a second time aligned in the Democratic column. In this state, too, the political managers are in despair. Party lines are better absolutely ignored, and every candidate for congress, Republican and Democrat alike, is claiming that he should be elected, because he is the only true-blue supporter of the president's policy.

To revert to New York, the fact that Mr. Roosevelt has done so much toward crippling the trusts lends great weight to his endorsement of the candidacy of Charles E. Hughes. The Hearst supporters claim, however, that the nomination of Hughes was the result of a bargain, by the terms of which he refrained from putting members of the cabinet and other Republican politicians on the stand in the insurance investigation, and received, as his reward, the gubernatorial nomination.

It is a pretty mix-up, with the chances meantime in favor of Hearst being elected governor of New York. Should he be elected, there is nothing to prevent his nomination for president in 1908.

THE TORONTO SUNDAY WORLD.

Everybody nowadays wants to know the news, as soon as it is obtainable. Not alone do they want to know the result of the various sporting events of the day—also in the modern man's knowledge that is not to be despised or by any means ignored—but they wish to know if the world is going on right or all awry. Every day, on Saturday, quite as much as on any other day, and perhaps even more so, something happens of importance, of interest and of value, not to one, but to many thousands of the people. In fact, the knowledge of the day's events may convey to them information of vital consequence. The paper, therefore, that gives this news ahead of its fellows is of prime importance, is worthy of all the patronage that can come to it, and is a paper deserving of both praise and credit.

The Toronto Sunday World does not try to demoralize the community. On the contrary, it does its best to uplift it. Care is taken that nothing shall appear in its columns morally offensive to any man or any woman. Open in its criticism, in its dealings with public questions, it has ever before it the best interests of the people and the highest interests of mankind at large. At the same time it endeavors to make its columns both entertaining and instructive. It provides good pictures of incidents of the time and of people instantly before the public. It gives, in readable shape, all the day's news up to the hour of going to press. It tells its readers concisely of happenings at home and abroad, in the field of play, and in social circles. It does not pry into any man's private affairs, but it seeks along to give such news of men and things that the people at large will care to have.

In the paper that will be published to-night will be found beautiful halftone pictures of prominent football teams; scenes at the Toronto Hunt sports; a group of basketball girls; a portrait of a leading captain of industry; portraits of the principals in a fashionable wedding; pictures of two lacrosse teams, of the Y. M. C. A. runners, of the United Bank, of "Greenwood West," and of a scene in the domestic science class-room at the Normal School.

Pictures, pleasing to the eye, are not the only feature of The Toronto Sunday World. There is a variety of reading for everybody, for the boy, the girl, the man, the woman, the high society lady in her boudoir, the workman and the workwoman in their homes, the church-goer and the non-church-goer, the sage in his study, the politician in or out of his club, the man at the plow, the man in his garden, the lover of the horse, the lover of the cow, the lover of anything or everything. There is reading for all. The paper that will be published to-night will be one of the best. Buy it and try it.

A SORRY SPECTACLE.

Charlottetown Guardian, Oct. 24.—The Liberal journals of late have had much to say of the land speculation of recent years in Ontario. They have, and company, to offset the revelations of corruption, perjury and ballot switching in the Liberal campaigns of recent years in Ontario. There has been a plenty of whitewashing and black-washing, but neither party seems capable of purging itself from its unclean elements that cluster about the head and heart of both. It is a sorry spectacle for honest and patriotic citizens to contemplate.

Three Charges of Theft.

Detective Tipton has gone to Belleville for William Walker, a G.T.R. brakeman who is under arrest there. He is wanted here on three charges of theft: February, 1905, 5 1/2 yards of cloth from F. J. Roddick, 67 Mutual-street; December, 1905, a suit case and overcoat from Oscar A. Lang, 52 West Adelaide-street; May, 1906, clothing and jewelry from Albert Kemp, 72 Ulster-street.

Bondsmen Settles.

Brookville, Oct. 26.—(Special).—When the case of Jacob Brownstein was called in the police court this morning, he failed to answer the charge of stealing 400 pounds of brass from the Grand Trunk Railway. His bondsman, Abraham Vexler, surrendered his cheque for the amount of bail.

School Property Committee.

Chairman Harry Simpson presided over a meeting of the property committee yesterday, when a few minor routine matters were discussed and contracts to the amount of about $1500 awarded.

AT OSGOODE HALL.

WHAT IS A "DEAD ANIMAL?"

JUSTICE GIVES A DECISION.

Result of Stated Case Which is of Interest to Butchers—

Peter Ryan Loses Case.

ANNOUNCEMENTS FOR MONDAY.

Master's Chambers.

Cartwright, master, at 11 a.m.

Divisional Court.

Peremptory list for Monday, Oct. 29, at 11 a.m.

Toole v. Newton.

Walshford v. Ottawa East Railway.

Woodruff v. Colwell.

London v. Luscombe.

Peatridge v. Dunsley.

Scriber v. White.

Stated Case.

George Stroud v. Hamilton was called before Police Magistrate Jelfs on Sept. 11 last with unlawfully feeding to hogs the blood and offal of a dead animal which had not been previously boiled or steamed, in violation of the provisions of the Public Health Act. The fact that he had so fed the hogs was admitted. A stated case was presented by the court was asked to decide (1) whether it is an offence against the statute to feed the blood and offal of an animal, recently slaughtered to hogs, which blood and offal had not been previously boiled or steamed when fresh. (2) Do the words "dead animal," as mentioned in sub-section 8 of section 108 of the Public Health Act include a cow recently slaughtered? (3) Do the words "dead animal" mean an animal which has died from natural causes or an animal which had died? In each of the questions Mr. Justice Anglin had decided in the affirmative.

Mr. Ryan's Argument.

The master in chambers granted judgment against Mr. Peter Ryan in the action of Montgomery v. Ryan. An appeal was taken to Mr. Justice Anglin. He decided that the master in chambers was right in his decision. The judge decided that if Mr. Ryan can file an affidavit within two days that the overcharge of interest would wipe out the debt he may go down to trial in respect of $4000. If not, the judgment will stand for $8000. The costs of the motion before the master are in the plaintiff. Costs of the appeal to the defendants in the cause.

Claim Stands.

Frank Babcock has an action against J. B. Laing. The place of claim did not name the place of trial and the defendant thereupon moved before the master in chambers to have it struck out. The master allowed an amendment to be made, but gave the costs to defendant, which he fixed at $2.

Increased the Allowance.

Joseph Semple, widow of the late Alexander Semple, a farmer of Tecumseh Township, who died in 1888, applied before Justice Anglin in chambers for an increased allowance out of the moneys in court for the maintenance of her son, Hugh Arnold Semple. E. J. Hearn made the application and was granted the order.

G.T.R. Co.'s Actions Settled.

The Grand Trunk Railway Co. have arranged to have three actions against them dismissed. Before the master in chambers the defendants were J. O'Connor v. G.T.R. Co., Venturo v. G.T.R. Co. and Glass v. G.T.R. Co. dismissed the actions in each case without costs. Orders were granted accordingly.

Judgment Granted.

Hugh Lynn of the Township of East Flamborough has a preliminary motion from R. I. and A. E. Henderson, amounting with interest to over $4000. A motion was made before the master in chambers for summary judgment. No one appeared for the Hendersons. Judgment was granted.

Three Creditors of the Hendersons.

Three creditors of the Hendersons, namely, J. B. Laing, J. B. Laing and J. B. Laing, applied to the master in chambers for summary judgment. The claimants' claims and amounts were $4000, $4000 and $4000. The master in chambers granted summary judgment in each case without costs. Orders were granted accordingly.

Could Not Amend.

The William McCann Milling Co. have a suit against O. W. Martin & Co. and Laura V. Murdoch. Yesterday they applied to Master in Chambers Cartwright to have George F. Hope, assigned as a party plaintiff and James Barton Murdoch added as defendant. The master dismissed the motion and ordered the statement of claim to be delivered within ten days. Costs were given to defendants in the cause.

Attaching Order.

John J. B. Flint of Belleville recovered judgment against James McGee on Jan. 12, 1897, for $1848.80 and costs. About $1300 remains unpaid. The Bank of Montreal in Toronto has about $2000 belonging to McGee. An attaching order was issued by Flint, Slattery, directing the bank authorities to appear before the master in chambers and show cause why they should not be ordered to pay sufficient to satisfy the judgment.

Two Years Old Eggs.

John H. Meir, now a merchant of Toronto, formerly carried on business at St. Ste. Marie, and had occasion to purchase certain quantities of turkeys, eggs and apples from McDougall and Lemon, produce merchants of Owen Sound. On Aug. 28 last it is claimed there was a balance due McDougall & Lemon of $1084.48. Meir claimed in defence that the cured eggs supplied by him were worthless and that customers to whom he sold the eggs returned them, and that thereby he lost money and reputation. McDougall & Lemon, on the other hand, claimed that the eggs were fresh and that they were shipped in December, 1904, and a part of the eggs from the same stock were sold to brokers in Owen Sound without complaint and some were kept over by the firm until the fall of 1906 and then sold at 19 1/2 cts. per dozen and no complaint was registered. The trial of the case has been entered for the Owen Sound non-jury sittings in November next. Application is now made to the master in chambers to change the place of trial. Judgment was reserved.

$100 Fine.

Lakenfeld Village passed a local option bylaw. The bylaw was passed on the complaint of Joseph Stewart, license inspector, charged with selling liquor. On Aug.

—MAIN FLOOR—QUEEN STREET—

At last Spellman was convicted before Police Magistrate Dumble of Peterboro and fined $100. Now he is appealing to the divisional court to quash the conviction. The deputy attorney-general appeared for the crown in opposition to the application. The court reserved.

Damages Reduced.

Judgment has been handed out by Mr. Justice Anglin in McCormack v. Toronto Railway Co. At the trial McCormack was given $100 for personal injuries and $125 for the horse that was killed, which he was riding at the time of the accident. Now he is allowed $100 for his personal injuries, but his claim for damages for the horse is dismissed. Costs are awarded to him on the county court scale without set-off.

The Company Has to Pay.

The Toronto Life Insurance Company's appeal to the divisional court of the County of Essex, giving judgment to Mrs. Hartford for the full amount of the policy on her husband's life, has been dismissed.

THE WESTERN CANNERIES, LTD.

Public attention is called to the prospectus of the Western Canneries, Limited, which appears again, and finally on another page of this issue. In view of the exceptional facilities present in Western Canada for stock raising and feeding it is certainly somewhat extraordinary that hitherto no company of this character has yet appeared west of the great lakes for the purpose of carrying on an industry so important locally as that of canning and packing meats. The void will, however, now be filled in a thorough and comprehensive manner, and under auspices which go far to inspire confidence in its rapid and permanent success.

The present time, as it happens, is peculiarly favorable to a Canadian business of this kind. Confidence in the products of the United States canneries has been rudely shaken in European and other markets, and, therefore, a Canadian company running on modern and thoroughly approved methods is in the best possible position to command success. But, apart from this, any purely Canadian enterprise cannot but make for the prosperity of the whole country, and still further assist in the development and settlement of its vast agricultural areas.

Looked at from a purely business point of view, the establishment of such a company as the Western Canneries, Limited, seems to be amply warranted. Central Canada cannot but become a permanent meat producing area as well as grain producing, and the presence of canning factories in its great centres must inevitably lead to the establishment of other industries of both local and national importance. The whole community will thus benefit, both directly and indirectly. The prospectus of the Western Canneries, Limited, is a very comprehensive as well as detailed document, and speaks for itself to the intelligent public. It is understood that shares will be allotted in the order of the applications, which must be mailed within one week from date.

THREE ACTIONS IN ONE.

Canada Foundry Co. Being Sued for Heavy Damages.

In the jury assize court Justice Macgee is hearing an action against the Canada Foundry Co., in which there are three plaintiffs.

Last January the company was building a bridge for the Guelph and Goderich Railroad over the Grand River at Montrose. A derrick car which they were using fell over, killing Timothy Mahoney and David McKenzie and injuring F. J. Symon, who lost his left arm. Those men were employees of the C. P. R. and were erecting the temporary tracks for that company.

The widows are asking $10,000 each and Symon $5000.

The defence is that the railroad is to blame, as the track was not properly constructed, and that the men hurt were not in their employ.

I. F. Hellmuth, K.C., John A. Patterson, K.C., and Richard Greer appear for the Foundry Company, and H. Guthrie, K.C.M.P., Guelph, for Symon, J. M. Godfrey, Toronto, for Mrs. Mahoney and J. A. Mowat, Guelph, for Mrs. McKenzie.
