Rockets Trim the Stars In a Good Game 5 to 4

Nip and Tuck Contest at Tecumseh Park—Rain Spoils Second.

J. Pluvius got into the game on Saturday, and as a result only one game was pulled off at Tecumseh Park, the Rockets celebrating their second time on earth by trimming the Stars—5 to 4, in a real good exhibition of Uncle Sam's favorite time-killer. The second season reached the third round when the showers began, and it was called off. There was a good crowd in the stands.

This game had none of the hired men make misplays, would probably have been a shut-out affair, but every once in a while some of the players would break in with a tantalizing toss that would change the complexion of the game. Still, it was a highly-colored affair, and seemed to be tied up every minute or so. The Stars scored first, then the Rockets would Alphonse it a tie. This happened until the Rockets got Alphonse away from home, and then they won. If the Stars had had another chance they might have got up even.

The real feature of the game was the work of one "Clucker" Dunn, who once before was in the big ring, but of late has been back with the minors in the East End. "Clucker" looks to be about the only shortstop the Rockets have had since Noah invented sailing. He got them on all sides, tossed them over in rapid style, watched the play every minute, and all through showed some real baseball intelligence. He is good. The work of O'Rourke, the outfielders was rather good, too at times.

Both the pitchers were right. L. Hyttenrauch, who twirls from the starboard side, was in good form, and had all that was necessary. His curves were good, and he used the whiff ball quite often. He would turn this on when he was in a hole, and it was success. With men on bases he was very good, and should have won on the hit. Jack Wilson pitched a pretty fair article, at that, and they were not taking any too many liberties with him. His finish was not so strong or as impressive as the boy's with the tangle-foot name, but it was good. The latter is some pitcher.

Stars Start Fast.
The Stars started off fast. Gatecliffe hit, but was tossed out at second—stealing. C. Jeffries came on with a single over short, and then Graham and O'Rourke were walked. Then the cute little cushions were fluffed. Here was a swell chance for a double play. Mickey Tierney, who used to be mascot with Doc Sippli in Methusalem's team, rolled one to third. Graham stepped on the bag, cutting off Graham, and threw like a shot to Mines at the plate. Brother Chester was coming down the line like a motor-boat, and Bobby saw him coming. He then did the most artistic piece of slide-stepping ever pulled off in a ten-foot ring, and the ball rolled for many leagues. When it was recovered Jeffries and O'Rourke had come home. Two runs.

The Rockets got up in the second. Wilson bared one into Mines' ribs, but the next two could not help him. Maitland came along with a hit, and then Hyttenrauch shot one to left, which "Scat" Wilson booted for a spell, and Mines scored. Arthur's hit scored Maitland. Two runs.

A Nice Double.
Graham's bat on balls, his steal, and Tierney's hit scored a run for the Stars in the third. A nice double stopped trouble this period. Dunn, Sippli and Arthur's figuring in the play.

GRAYS HAMMER THREE PITCHERS

Defeats Oriens in the Springbank League by Fourteen to Five.

It would be too horrible to cite what those Grays did to Oriens in the first game at Springbank on Saturday; the figures are sufficient—14-5. Clarke was on the slab for the Grays, and only one hit was secured off his delivery; that's going some. The Oriens had three pitchers out. "Mose" Cox was the first victim, and they got after him right off the reel. He passed five men, and when the third man was out the score-board showed 7. Turner pitched one inning, and was a little steadier. Thompson finished out the game. It lasted only six innings.

In detail:
Grays.....7 0 3 0 2 2—14 10 5
Oriens.....4 0 1 0 0 0—5 1 8
The teams lined up as follows:

The Second Game.
The second game was a splendid exhibition of baseball. It lasted only five innings, rain stopping further play; but the Cubs were two to the

The Rockets got back a pair in their part of the sixth. Gillette hit to left, making a pair on "Scat" Wilson's booting exercise. He went to third on Gibson's out. Maitland's hit to Tierney, who fumbled, the run scoring. Hyttenrauch rolled one to O'Rourke, who broke the long-distance throwing record. Maitland scoring. Two runs.

The Stars evened up in the seventh. With one down Isshy Clark went to bat for Wilson and tore off a hit over second. He cantered to third on a passed ball, and scored on Sippli's fumble off J. Wilson. One run.

There was nothing more doing until the last half of the ninth, when the Rockets emboldened the game. With one down, Sippli walked, Arthur doing the same. Dunn laid down a bunt, but Tierney dropped T. Jeffries' toss. Sippli scoring by one of the greatest sprints ever shown since Adam invented running—winning the game.

Umpire Smith, of St. Thomas, was good. His judgment of balls and strikes was fine. One or twice players started an "Advice to Lovers" conversation, but he would not stand for that. His comedy work was very fair, too, his impersonation of "Silk" O'Loughlin's ball "uh" line being very realistic.

Gatecliffe and Maitland hit well.

J. P. Butted In.
The second session promised to be a real racy affair, and had the spectators sitting up. Both Thompson and Gibson were in good form, and the teams behind them looked good. The Biscuitmakers wanted the game badly, and so did the other fellows. There were not enough plays to make it worth while going into the hair-raising details.

Costello had his hitting uniform with him, and he showed the second baseman home with a brace of runs in the three innings the fun lasted.

Perrins had floated one home in their two chances with one down. Wanless hit past second, and Summer dropped a Texas Leaguer into right. Pook threw a mile to catch Wanless off third, and the first baseman scored. Summers was caught trying to come home on the play. There was nothing more doing.

And then the rain came.

good. Both Lee and Durham pitched good ball, and were given splendid support.

The Iveys' lone tally came in the first. Durham singled, stole second, and scored on a passed ball.

The Cubs' evened things in the third. Marr walked, went to third on a fielder's choice, and scored on a passed ball.

In the fourth they gathered in two more. Moore singled, stole second and third, scoring on a passed ball. Brodison reached first on an error, went to third on a passed ball, and scored on a fielder's choice.

STARS TAKE ONE FROM THE ORIENS

Get Busy With Willow and Win Out in Easy Fashion.

Only one game was played in the East End Baseball League on Saturday, the rain putting a stop to the second contest between the Ramblers and Wortmans after two innings had been played.

The first struggle, between the East End Stars and the Oriens, illustrated the uncertainty of baseball. Every time these teams have met this season, the Oriens were returned comparatively easy winners. No doubt, they expected to turn the trick again, on Saturday, but it was not to be. The East End Stars surprised everyone, including themselves, administering a clear-cut defeat to the fast Oriens team.

Everything went smoothly until the fifth inning, both teams playing errorless ball up to this point, and it looked as though there was to be another close contest.

In the fifth session, however, the Stars began to find Pitcher Mucker. With one on base, Legg, Buller and Murray singled in succession. Then Pitcher Tom Smith caught one of Mucker's shoots right on the face, sending it far into the middle distance, clearing the bases, gaining second himself before the ball was returned. Two more runs were added in the sixth inning. Legg meandered to the first sack, and got third when Buller came along with his second single. Both scored, when McCall overthrew to third base in an attempt to catch the lively Legg.

It was the seventh spasm, however, that proved most disastrous for the Oriens. Mucker, who has had great success this season, seemed to lose his charm, and sought the seclusion of the bench. McCall was taken off the first bag, from which point of vantage he had been fattening the error column during the afternoon, and located on the rubber, Richardson taking his place on the initial sack, while Seltzer disported himself around the difficult corner. McCall may be a pitcher some day, but not yet. He has a jerky wind-up, that looks good to scare the opposition, but it didn't take on Saturday, those nasty Star willow-wielders evidently hinting that the cheerful McCall should take the next car. Well, to make a long story short, as the fairy-books say, that inning netted the east end boys five runs.

It appeared that the Oriens were about to receive a proper kalsomine finish. The Stars were playing fast ball, and although the Oriens could hit Smith, they couldn't get together and produce runs.

In the eighth, however, Seltzer hit, and scored on Brennan's ringing single to left field. They had formed the habit now, and increased their total of runs to three in the ninth inning, on hits by Collins and Pirie, assisted by Murray's wild throw from right field.

The score tells the story:

The game between the Ramblers and Wortmans, which was called in the second innings on account of rain will be played at 10 o'clock today.

Buller had his batting eye with him on Saturday. He did some nice work in the field too.

A most regrettable incident occurred in the eighth innings of the first game. Carruthers had popped up a fly to Richardson at first base, and evidently jostled the latter in running for the bag. Richardson caught the ball all right, and then deliberately hit Carruthers with it. The star catcher made a rush at the first baseman, who exhibited some fine footwork, but Tommy Brennan at once jumped into the fray. Carruthers. They were separated by the players, and Umpire Pierce removed all the participants from the game.

Baseball is a strenuous game, and, no doubt, a player's feelings run away from him at times, but such actions are not good sport, and should be avoided. The executive upheld Umpire Pierce in removing the players, and say any repetition of the offense will be severely dealt with.

Henley Senior Singles Goes to Don Crack

Toronto Oarsmen Make Fine Showing at St. Kitt's Regatta.

Henley Regatta Course, Aug. 3.—The second and final day of the annual regatta of the Canadian Association of Amateur Oarsmen brought out a large crowd of spectators, though the sky was heavy and rain threatened early. The boats from Toronto brought a thousand lovers of the royal sport from the Queen City, and the Niagara district furnished the usual quota of holiday seekers.

In the final heat of the junior fours there were three crews, Toronto R. C., Argos and Winnipeg. They got away sharply on gunfire. At the half-mile post the three crews rowing a good course to the turn. Argos were rowing well together. At three-quarter mile Argos increased the lead to two lengths, and were in a good position to round for the journey home.

At the turn the Torontos steered for the Argos' flag, following the Argos, and the judges called a fresh start. At the re-start the Argos pushed right to the front with a strong, steady stroke. At the quarter flag they were leading by a length, Winnipeg a length ahead of Toronto. It was a procession to the grand stand, Argos increasing the lead to three lengths. The time for the three-quarter mile was 4:06 3-5.

Two for the Dons.
The final of the senior doubles was between the Don R. C., Toronto, and the Metropolitan R. C., of New York. The winning team were Jacobs, stroke, and Bowler, bow. Fuessell was the only competitor in the Metropolitan boat, carrying his partner, Dunn, all the way. It was a procession and the Dons won by half a dozen lengths in 9:31.

Three crews were in the junior fours, 140 pounds, Argos, Dons and Ottawa. At the gateway it was nip and tuck between Argos and Dons, Ottawas two lengths behind Dons. They started away with 22 strokes to the minute, the Argos 40. Argos were rowing about 38. At the quarter flag the Dons were a quarter of a length in the lead, keeping a good course. Ottawas got over into the Dons' water. Dons took the turn first, Argos following immediately, but getting off the course. It was Dons' race all the way, increasing their lead to three lengths. Junior Ottawas were half a length to the rear of Argos. Argos increased lead over Ottawa a couple of lengths. Dons won by six lengths in 9:21.

Toronto Expert Wins Canoe Singles.
Canoe Singles—O. A. Elliott, Toronto; C. C. Warren, Corryton, Parkdale; C. C. V. A. E. Goad, Island A. A.; C. B. Davidson, Toronto; C. C. R. C. Blackburn, Toronto; C. C. and G. S. M. Davidson, Lachine B. and C. C. were the starters. The race was from the half-mile flag to the grand stand. Blackburn took a comfortable lead, early gaining an advantage of four to five lengths, which he retained until the Island A. C. closed up and made it even for second place with Davidson, of Lachine. Warren Corryell, of Parkdale C. C., was fourth. Elliott, of Toronto C. C., fifth, and Davidson, of St. Catharines, sixth.

Junior Singles—Richard Seagrave, Don R. C.; M. J. Burns, Corryton; C. C. Buffalo, and W. Downey, Mutual R. C. Buffalo, faced the starter. The race started at the grand stand and was a mile and a half with a turn. Downey pulled well in front, Burns leading the Don representative by a length for second place. Burns' straightaway first on the home run, although Downey made the buoy first. Burns forged ahead at every stroke, putting two lengths between him and Downey. Seagrave was away in the rear. Downey tired on the stretch, but he had a long lead and kept it. Seagrave was unable to overcome it, although he closed the gap several lengths. Burns third by six lengths. Time, 9:48.

In the intermediate fours, first heat, Toronto R. C. was scratched and Dons rowed Fort Williams, Dons winning. Second heat, Argos beat Lighthouse of Buffalo.

Lighthouse R. C., Buffalo, and Argos, winners of junior fours, contested the second heat of the intermediate fours. The foreigners got the better of the start, but their advantage was very brief. Argos pulled a steady stroke and rounded the outer mark first, drawing slowly away and winning by two lengths. Time was 9:16.

Junior doubles—This brought out J. A. Thomson and C. G. Toms of the Argos, and W. Crawford and H. Lang of the Dons. The Dons reached the turn first. On the home run it was a pretty race, full of interest for the spectators, who cheered each team enthusiastically. The Don crew won by three feet. Time, 9:47.

The war canoe event brought out six canoes: Balmly Beach, Toronto; C. C. No. 1, Toronto; C. C. No. 2, Parkdale; C. C. No. 3, C. C. No. 2, and Island A. A. and as a spectacular feature it was good. The crews were started at the outer mark and came down the stretch pretty well bunched. Toronto C. C. No. 1 (Nicholls), was first by two lengths, Island A. A. second, being fouled at the finish by Parkdale No. 2. The Parkdals bunch were leading for second place, but were disqualified.
