DOLLAR WHEAT.

January Jumped Up Over Five Cents and Then Fell Back.

Chicago, Jan. 25.—The storm which marked the close of May and July wheat broke forth in January for January delivery was 45c under Monday's close, following in this respect the declines in the futures. A very little was done in January until about 10:15 a.m., when efforts of a few shorts to cover revealed the fact that the market was absolutely bare of offerings.

January had in the meantime crawled up to about 45c, but suddenly it began to climb in a bewildering manner.

In a space of not more than five minutes the price had leaped to 47c, traders raising their bids half a cent and a cent at a time. Then the price dropped with as much swiftness as it had climbed, declining to 46c, and July to 45c.

What started January on the rampage was somewhat of a mystery at first, January wheat in New York was at 12c premium over May, but outside of this news was decidedly bearish. It was the impression among traders that the bull cattle bid up January in response to a readily as they anticipated the "boosting" process was stopped.

Refreshing Sleep.

CURES.

When Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills Are Used.

Miss Margaret Brown, 627 Colborne street, London, Ont., says: "My mother has been afflicted with nervousness and general debility for a long time. She suffered a great deal with insomnia and found it almost impossible to sleep."

"I went to W. T. Strong's drug store and got a box of MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS, which she took, and derived so much benefit from them that I bought another box for her. They have done her a wonderful lot of good, making her nervous system much stronger, giving her restful sleep and removing many other symptoms which previously distressed her."

"I can truly say that these pills are a great remedy for anyone suffering from weak nerves, general debility, sleeplessness or heart trouble."

Two Warnings.
Losing flesh is one and a hacking cough is another. If they come together the warning is a loud and hard one. Scott's Emulsion does some of its best work in just these cases. It prevents consumption.

East Middlesex.

The Patrons Put Wm. Shore Again in the Field.

Speeches by the Nominee and by Mr. Allan Bogue.

Mr. Shore Pooh-Poohs the Opposition Piggery Cry.

Patrons of Industry from various parts of East Middlesex, and numbering in all about half a hundred, assembled at Sherwood Hall yesterday afternoon for the purpose of deciding upon a candidate to represent them in the coming election for the Local House. Messrs. Allan Bogue and Wm. Shore, the present representative, were the nominees, and the ballot was taken in favor of the latter.

When the meeting was called to order shortly after 2 o'clock Mr. Daniel Currie, of Dorchester, was moved to the chair. Mr. Bogue then nominated Mr. Shore, and Mr. Shore in turn nominated Mr. Bogue.

Mr. Bogue said that he was an independent. Not a party whip, he said, he was a Tory of the Tories, Grits, but when they became Tories of industry they each threw aside charges to be made against both parties. One evil that needed remedying was the public servants. Government made too great a distinction between their officials and honest hard-working men. The laws of the country, too, should be improved. They had always been made to conserve the interest of the classes, not the masses. Referring to the possibility of his candidature, Mr. Bogue said that though he would be pleased to represent the feeling of the convention in the legislature, he was not advanced in years to relish the task of getting there. He would rather not accept the nomination.

Mr. Shore said he was a stronger independent than ever. Most of the legislation brought before the house last session consisted of party measures; yet the Patrons got a good many measures passed that they could never have got before the house that way. The cost of the lieutenant-governor's house from $23,000 to $6,000. Another thing was the delay in the gratitudes. The government had passed the motion to that effect, thereby rendering it impossible to pass a Patron bill. Another good measure passed in the same way gives the right to garnish government officials' incomes for debt. But it did not matter how the end was accomplished.

Mr. Shore thought there was not the same partyism in the house that formerly existed. It had been said there was no use sending an independent man to parliament because he would go to one party or another.

A Voice—They say it, however. Mr. Shore thought they were to consider the vote was given to them. The speaker in closing proposed that the perfect willingness to support Mr. Bogue be taken up and the standard himself. (Applause.)

While the balloting was in progress Dr. Foul, of Kilmory, related the history of the campaign of the Progress party in East Middlesex during the last London election. The unfortunate result that day, and of the unfortunate result that day, and of the unfortunate result that day.

The chairman announced that Mr. Shore had received the largest number of votes in the election, and that the election was made unanimous by a standing vote.

Mr. Shore again addressed the convention. He said that he was a Tory of the Tories, Grits, but when they became Tories of industry they each threw aside charges to be made against both parties. One evil that needed remedying was the public servants. Government made too great a distinction between their officials and honest hard-working men. The laws of the country, too, should be improved. They had always been made to conserve the interest of the classes, not the masses. Referring to the possibility of his candidature, Mr. Bogue said that though he would be pleased to represent the feeling of the convention in the legislature, he was not advanced in years to relish the task of getting there. nothing wrong proved. "The opposition," he said, "take up weak things, and hammers away uselessly. If it hadn't been for that piggery question we would have been drawn out 33 weeks, and would have drawn out 33 a day instead of $600 in all." The Patrons were going to force a reduction in the number of members. The business would then be done quicker. At present the members were increasing in numbers. London is a short time would send two members. The government did a good thing, he said, in dropping out timber from going to the United States, and their mining policy was good, too. The opposition had kicked against it, but the speaker claimed they had kicked for nothing but political reasons. "It was one of the best things ever passed by the legislature," he said. The only way to get the country developed is by encouraging capitalists. Partyism should be dropped (hear, hear). The house should be run like a county council, and it would be if the members were reduced to one-third or one-half. One of the burning questions of the day was the school question, and this the opposition had touched upon, but failed to back up their efforts.

The convention was then closed in the usual way.

At an early hour Monday morning the grocery store of Hartley Bros., Brantford, was entered by burglars. Some canned goods, tea, tobacco and other articles were taken away. Entrance was obtained by pushing in the panel of the front door. The office of Schultz Bros. was also entered, and an attempt made to blow open the safe. A hole was drilled close to the safe, and in it, but for some cause the fuse did not go off. No clue to the burglars.

The town council of Sandwich was entertained at supper Monday night at the Old House. During the evening the proprietor, James Moore, was called in and presented with a block of Lake Superior brownstone carved into the semblance of a cash receiver. Mayor Girardot made the presentation, and claimed the privilege of being the first to deposit therein. The council followed suit. A respectable sum was poured into Mrs. Moore's lap before the money box was handed over to her husband.

COW HELD THE BRIDGE.

Had To Be Shot Before B. & O. Trains Could Go On.

Wilmington, Del., Jan. 25.—Monday evening a cow wandered on the high bridge of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad over the Brandywine, 75 feet high. She fell between the tracks so as to endanger trains running both ways. She was discovered in time to prevent an accident, and after two hours' work was shot and thrown into the stream below. All trains were delayed.
