

ANGLICAN CHURCH WOMEN'S AUXILIARY

Joint Thanksgiving Services in Cronyn Hall—A Large Attendance.

In connection with the 21st anniversary of the Women's Auxiliary of the Anglican Church, a joint thanksgiving service was held in Cronyn Hall last night under the direction of Rev. Canon Damm. Nearly all the Anglican clergymen of the city, and a large number of the laity, were in attendance.

The first part was taken by Rev. W. T. Hill, Archdeacon Richardson read the first lesson; Rev. Principal Walker read the second lesson, and Rev. Dyson Hague and Rev. E. B. Clarke took the concluding part.

Taking as his text, "The Love of Christ Constrains Us," which is the motto of the general society, and "Looking for and Hasting Unto the Coming of the Day of God," the motto of the Auxiliary of the Diocese of Huron, the bishop preached a brief sermon. He gave a review of the work of the Women's Auxiliary during the past 21 years, and showed the great increase which had taken place in numbers, and also in the contributions for missionary purposes through their instrumentality. He then went on to show, from early church history, that women had always taken an important part in the work of making Christ known, and pointed to the difference between the condition of woman before Christ and under the Gospel.

The two texts chosen, the bishop said, showed the motive and the aim of the association. First, the love of Christ constrained them; and as it constrained Paul, so it constrained these women to band together in the work of missions; while the second text, "Hasting Unto the Coming of Christ," it implies eagerness, first in the work in which they were engaged, and secondly, to see Christ, the object of their faith. He pointed out the fact that not a door was now closed toward missionary effort, and soon all the earth would hear the good news of salvation. He urged them to be up and doing, as there was much still to be done.

The full choir of the church was present under Mr. Sippl, and rendered excellent assistance in the service. The Very Rev. Dean of Huron, Rev. Canon Smith, Rev. Arthur Carlisle, Rev. G. R. Sage, Rev. R. W. Howard and Rev. J. G. Perdue were present.

MIX-UP IN THE COUNCIL

a half to the tax rate, because, if the debentures were not issued, the council would have to provide the money out of its current revenue.

Ald. Beattie jumped to his feet and accused the four aldermen named of deliberately knifing the water-works by-law because the north end fire hall debenture had not been provided for.

Ald. Stevely, another member of No. 1 committee, declared that the committee should wipe its hands clean of the whole affair, and should let the people know who it was that increased the tax rate.

Ald. Cooper, like "All-of-a-Sudden Peggy," always does the unexpected. He came up out of his chair as though he was on springs and began to talk north end fire hall, much to the detriment of the proposal.

"If the school was put to a vote of the people north of Dundas street," he said, "it would be voted down. The people don't want it. All that is necessary is to provide a couple of watchmen for the big buildings, such as the Protestant Orphans' Home, the Aged People's Home and the other places."

"You used to support the proposal yourself," said Ald. Gairns.

"Yes, until I knew better," Ald. Cooper retorted.

The four aldermen who had made all the mischief, looked pleased. As they heard the other aldermen fume and threaten they simply lay back in their chairs and, like the mob which watched the deliberations of the Third Estate at the time of the French revolution, they thought, if they did not say it: "Messieurs, you must be shaved. If you wriggle, you'll get cut."

The four fight-along aldermen had a principle at stake, and it was apparent that they were going to teach No. 1 that there were other aldermen in the council, and that when a north end fire hall is promised, it must not be considered a joke.

Ald. Beattie violently protested that it was not the desire of No. 1 to shelve the scheme. He explained that it was the intention of the committee to ask the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council to consent to the issue of the debentures required for the proposed fire station.

The mayor in the meantime had been consulting another batch of aldermen, and he learned from them that the law had not been defeated. First he was under the impression that it required a two-thirds vote to carry it on (a second reading), but on further consideration he found out that all that was required was a majority vote. It would require a three-quarters vote to shelve the bylaw at its final reading, but his worship explained that this could not occur until such time as the consent of the Lieutenant-Governor or the Legislature had been obtained. Consequently, the third reading could not be put last night.

No. 1 committee felt relieved, and the other aldermen smiled and appeared to be willing to bide their time. It will be very much as though there were law unless No. 1 breaks up and makes arrangements for the issuing of the debentures for the new fire hall.

DAY LABOR SCHEME MAY YET PREVAIL

Street Watering Question Sent Back to Committee for Further Consideration.

The city council last night went back on its determination to let the street watering contractors have everything in sight.

Ald. Gillean and Ald. Booth stated that they wanted a reconsideration, and Ald. Matthews explained that at the meeting Monday night he had been misunderstood. Consequently, he was willing to have things put straight.

The outcome was that the whole matter was referred back again to No. 3 committee, and in the meantime Chairman Gillean was empowered to go ahead with the street watering by day labor.

At the next meeting of the council No. 3 committee will be expected to produce tenders and specifications for the work which is to be done by day labor.

Tenders will be called for the supplying of drivers and teams for street watering during the year. It is expected that a large number of coal men and others who have not much work in their horses in the summer will be heard from, and there is a chance that the price of $4 a day set by some of the teamsters of London will be reduced to the figure which Engineer Graydon says the different cartage companies pay when they hire teams, namely, $3.50 per day.

It is Mr. Graydon's idea to have the teamsters paid for only such time as they actually put in, and this point will be made clear in the specifications.

PEARCE—WRIGHT

Marriage of Two Young Londoners by Rev. Dr. Daniel.

The marriage took place on Monday at 8:30 p.m. at the parsonage of the Colborne Street Methodist Church, of Miss Alice, second daughter of Mr. R. Wright, of 64 Marshall street, and Mr. Charles Pearce, son of Mr. Henry Pearce, of 442 Central avenue. Rev. Dr. Daniel performed the ceremony.

The bride was attired in a charming gown of gray silk, and the bridesmaid, Miss Ethel Wright, sister of the bride, wore a costume of blue cashmere. Mr. Roland Ferns was best man.

Many valuable presents were received by the young couple, both of whom are deservedly popular with large circles of friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Pearce will reside at 975 Hackett street, East London.

I. O. O. F. ANNIVERSARY

Last To Be Held in the Old Hall on May 2.

The Oddfellows of London are making extensive preparations for the celebration of their anniversary on May 2 next in their hall on the corner of Dundas street and Park avenue.

This will probably be the last public gathering in the old hall, as it has been sold to the London Loan Company. There will be degree work by the lodges downstairs, and by the Rehearsal upstairs. At the banquet following, there will be music and speeches, and presentation of veteran jewels.

Among the speakers is one of the most eloquent members of the Provincial Parliament, P. G. M. Hoyle, of Cannington, the member for North Ontario.

MORRISON—KENNY

Pretty Wedding at St. Mary's Church This Morning.

One of the most pleasant events of the season took place this morning at St. Mary's Church, when Miss Marjory Kenny, daughter of Mr. Felix Kenny, of 259 Grey street, was married to Mr. Wm. J. Morrison, son of Mrs. Annie H. Morrison, of 433 Colborne street.

Father McKee officiated. The bride was charmingly attired in a brown traveling suit, and was assisted by her sister, Miss E. Kenny, becomingly dressed in a beautiful fawn suit. Mr. Wilfrid Stevenson was the best man.

The esteem in which the young couple are held by their many friends was evidenced by the numerous presents. After the ceremony the bridal party proceeded to the home of the bride's father, where a dainty wedding breakfast was served, and the happy couple received congratulations and best wishes. Mr. and Mrs. Morrison left on the 11:30 a.m. G. T. R. express for Winnipeg, where they will reside. They will visit Chicago and St. Paul before taking up their home.

WARD FOREMAN DEAD

Mr. George Powe Passes Away After a Long Illness.

Mr. Geo. Powe, corporation foreman of No. 3 ward, passed away at his residence last evening after a long and painful illness. The deceased was born in Devonshire, Eng., 65 years ago and came to Canada in 1853. For the past 12 years he had been ward foreman. He is survived by a widow, two sons, and one daughter—William and George of this city; and Mrs. Wallace, of Montreal.

The late Mr. Powe was a member of the A. O. F. and No. 75 council of the Chosen Friends.

The funeral will take place from his late residence, 512 Simcoe street, on Saturday at 3 o'clock (services at 2:30), to Mount Pleasant Cemetery. Rev. E. B. Lancelotti, of Dundas street Central Methodist Church will conduct the services.

WESTERN STRIKE IS NOT GENERAL

Some Disagreement Between Owners and Men Easily Overcome.

Ottawa, April 18.—Mr. McCarthy, Calgary, in the House yesterday, drew attention to the strike or threatened strike in the west. He said he had received a telegram from Calgary stating that the miners were leaving work in large bodies, although no strike had been officially declared, and that the situation was the most serious in the history of Western Canada.

Mr. Lemieux said he had also received a similar message. It looked as if there had been some little disagreement between some of the operators and the miners in one of the mines. The miners had agreed to appoint a representative on the board of investigation, a Mr. Eckstein, and the cause of the difficulty was that the operators had suggested the name of a gentleman as their representative who was directly interested in the operation of the mines. The department had remonstrated with the operators, who he was glad to say, had changed their mind, and had suggested the name of an independent party, Mr. Parker. He had received the following telegram from the representative of the miners:

"Ferne—Am hopeful of clearing misunderstanding and reaching temporary settlement when company's representative meets me. Shall do my utmost to bring about peace and am now working in that direction. Eckstein."

Mr. Lemieux added that he hoped that within a few hours the representatives of the men and the operators would have met and agreed upon a third arbitrator, and that an end would be put to the situation which unfortunately existed.

Some of the men had left work, but there was not a general strike.

BUTLER CASE IN HAMILTON COURT

The crown sprung a surprise when it called John Blinnore, a Montreal broker. The witness said that he had a similar experience with Butler to that of Meadows & Williams. That London man placed with him an order to sell a number of shares of another stock. The price was set at 100, and the deal was completed, and Butler refused to deliver the script, with the result that Blinnore lost heavily. He explained that Butler might have put the price of the stock would continue to drop. When it got to its lowest point, he would buy in enough to cover the sale and would clean up a nice margin without risking anything.

Thomas Milan, a representative of a Detroit firm of brokers, said that his firm had dealings with Butler, and the London man had made a profit of over $1,000. Once Butler had made a profit to the firm a worthless check, and the amount of this was deducted from his profits. Mr. McEvoy did not think that the crown had made out a prima facie case, but Crown Attorney Washington thought otherwise. The lawyers got into an argument over the legal points in dispute, and on the suggestion of Magistrate Jelfs, it was decided to lay the case over for a week, when argument will be heard.

AT THE POLICE COURT

Young Italian Goes Down for Seven Months on Theft Charge.

Joseph Pescuzzo, a young Italian, was arrested by the local detectives last night on a charge of theft, and was this morning convicted and sentenced to seven months in Central Prison by Magistrate Love.

Several months ago Pescuzzo was employed in the New York Chinese Cafe as a waiter, and after presenting about $30 from the proprietor of the restaurant, he disappeared. Nothing more was heard of Pescuzzo until last night, when he was arrested.

Pescuzzo, who has appeared on similar charges before, pleaded guilty to the charge of theft.

John Gibson, the Scotchman who was arrested some time ago on a charge of vagrancy, and who was suspected of having begged and borrowed money from his countrymen under false pretenses, pleaded guilty to the charge of fraud, and was sentenced to four months in Central Prison.

William McDonald and John Mullins, two old-time drunks, were each fined $10 or 21 days for being drunk, but could not get the necessary money, so were given the days.

JELIFFE SEES THAW

Defense Alienist Spends Considerable Time With Prisoner.

New York, April 18.—It became known today that Dr. Smith Ely Jelliffe, one of the alienists who testified for the defense in the recent trial of Harry K. Thaw spent two hours with Thaw last night. A. R. Peabody, who was present, but neither he nor Dr. Jelliffe would say anything today.

Thaw had remained in bed yesterday morning until 9, and only arose to see his counsel when Warden Flynn suggested to him that if he wished he might go to the hospital ward. It was said at the prison that Mr. Peabody had summoned Dr. Jelliffe to attend Thaw because Dr. McGuire, the regular Thaw's physician, is ill.

JOHN P. DUNNING DEAD

Philadelphia, April 18.—John P. Dunning, well known in newspaper circles through out the country, died yesterday in a hospital here of tumor on the brain. Dunning acted as war correspondent for the Associated Press in Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippines.

WATERLOO DAY PICNIC

Local English Societies Units to Have a Jolly Time June 18.

All the Englishmen of this city have united to hold a grand picnic at Port Stanley on Waterloo Day, June 18. Two weeks ago the local Englishmen, comprising the members of the various English societies and others, held a joint meeting for the purpose of organizing a movement to have a grand union picnic. An executive committee was formed, and Mr. E. T. Essery was appointed president, while Ald. Cooper was made vice-president; Mr. R. A. Jones, treasurer, and Mr. Coleridge, secretary.

Last night another meeting was held, at which about 250 representative Englishmen of the city were present. The report of the executive committee, which had been working to get things in shape for the picnic, and it was finally decided to hold the picnic on the 18th of June. Committees were appointed to take charge of the necessary preparations. The ways and means committee will have at its head Mr. R. A. Jones, while Mr. Hooper will preside over the sports committee, and Mr. E. T. Essery will be the executive committee. The executive committee will have eighteen members, nine of whom will be chosen from among the members of the English societies of the city, while the remainder will be outsiders.

The programme for the picnic has not yet been made out, but it is expected that it will be run according to the old English style of picnic, having music, games, speeches and such attractions. Neither money nor means will be spared to make the affair a howling success in every way, and it meets with the approval of the public the event will likely become annual.
