The Modern Method of Washing Requires Little Physical Effort

The Blackstone is a Simple, Efficient and Satisfactory Machine That Washes and Wrings at the Same Time, or Separately, by Electricity

ELECTRICITY has worked wonders in perfecting and making easy the laborious and tiring duties of the housewife, but there is probably no other labor-saving device known that lightens her tasks so much as an electric washing machine.

With such a complete and efficient Electric Washer as the Blackstone, all the disagreeable work of subjecting hands to scalding hot soapsuds and the rubbing process on a washboard are eliminated. She simply fills the tub with hot water and soap, dumps in the dirty clothes, attaches the cord to an ordinary electric socket and pays the electric company two cents an hour for the power of operating the machine.

It is important to know that when our present supply of Blackstone Electric runs out, the next shipment will be priced dollars above the present stock price.

Some of its Special Features and Conveniences

Both washer and wringer are controlled by two levers which are placed together on the side of the machine from which the cover opens, so that the operator may stand on the side of the machine opposite from the hinged edge of the cover and have access to the interior of the machine and to wringer without danger of coming in contact with the driving belt or gears.

Cover can be raised or lowered without turning off the power or disconnecting the gearing.

After the first batch of clothes is washed and wrung from the machine into the rinsing tub they can be wrung back through the rinsing tub while the second batch of clothes is being washed in the machine.

Has cut gears which eliminate noise and make the machine run silently and smoothly.

It has a safety dasher which prevents tearing the clothes, and which washes the finest as well as the coarsest fabrics without injury.

The tub is made of clear red cypress and is a standard size. The interior (both sides and bottom) is fully corrugated, and the outside is reinforced with three extra heavy steel hoops.

The wringer is a reliable five-year guaranteed type, with steel spiral pressure springs on cog-wheel shields and a patent release that instantly takes all pressure off the rolls.

The motor is fully enclosed, is situated underneath the tub, and has an electric cord that can be screwed into any convenient electric light socket, same as an ordinary light.

SUBMITS EVIDENCE FOR A. P. MACAULEY

Toronto Man Telegraphs St. Louis on Suspected Man's Behalf.

WATCH THEORY FALLS

Proves Timepiece Was Purchased From West King Street Jeweler.

Telegraph wires between St. Louis and Toronto were buzzing Saturday with messages regarding A. P. Macauley, Toronto mining man, who has been released by the St. Louis police on $10,000 bail, suspected of being "Christmas" Keough, a swindler of international reputation.

Evidence to refute the charge that he is the man for whom the police of this continent have been searching for several years was forwarded to St. Louis in Macauley's behalf by Louis J. West, a business partner of the mining man.

The St. Louis police claim that a watch found in Macauley's possession identified him as St. Louis merchant, which was swindled from him by Keough. The watch and Macauley's resemblance to Keough form the basis for his retention by the police. As an answer to the watch identification, West has sent a signed statement to St. Louis, which declares that Macauley bought a Waltham movement watch for $90 from A. Isenhardt Jeweler, 105 W. King street, Toronto, shortly before his departure for St. Louis. Isenhardt adds that he has known Macauley for ten years and is confident that a mistake has been made.

To refute the charge that Macauley was responsible for recent frauds in New York City by Keough, West has forwarded documentary evidence proving that Macauley was registered at the Prince George Hotel from Dec. 9 to Dec. 22. Sam Thompson, proprietor, has made the declaration.

Further corroboration of Macauley's contention was furnished in Mr. West's statement that Macauley was in Toronto under the treatment of Dr. Keough for injuries received in a fall from a street car when the 1911 Keough frauds were perpetrated. Mr. West declared Saturday that a telegram had been received from St. Louis indicating that the police were giving more credence to Macauley's story.

All of the bogus cheques issued by Macauley were on the Bank of Commerce Toronto branch, and he secured with them thousands of dollars in money and goods from merchants in American cities.

The watch was sold to Macauley on the morning of December 21 by Mr. Isenhardt himself. The repair book shows that on the same date Macauley had left a silver watch in repair.

The watch was met by his family at the hotel and left for St. Louis, where Mrs. Macauley's parents reside. The watch is 55 years old, and weighs more than 200 pounds. Following are a number of the aliases under which Keough was known: Lawrence Parcell, E. Dunham, G. Dundas, J. A. Paget, M. J. Martin, and G. H. Meighan.

PAID INSTALMENT ON MACHINE GUNS

Hon. G. H. Ferguson Makes Reply to Further Criticism of C. M. Bowman.

REST ON DELIVERY

Critic Misled By Statement of First Payment in Public Accounts.

Replying further to Chas. M. Bowman's criticisms of the government's actions with regard to the purchase of 500 Lewis machine guns for the Canadian troops with half the million dollars raised by one mill taxation, Hon. G. Howard Ferguson said on Saturday that he knew where Mr. Bowman went wrong. He said that only $175,000 had been spent. He had probably gleaned this from the public accounts for the year which recorded only the initial payment of some 30 per cent. of the order. The rest had been paid on delivery of the guns, said the minister, and the public accounts of the year in which these payments had been made.

As for Mr. Bowman's statement that when the troops went over the channel, they had English and not American-made machine guns, Mr. Ferguson explained that the Lewis people had taken an order to place a certain number of guns manufactured in England as well as in the United States. He could not say whether the guns delivered to the Canadian troops had been manufactured in England or in the United States.

Zenana Mission Requests Funds for Indian Relief

An appeal is being made by the Zenana Bible and Medical Mission, with quarters at 14 Seely street, for funds for the widows and children of the 500,000 Indian native troops, who are in the imperial army. The population of India is forty times greater than that in Canada, and the widows number more than all the people of this country. There are over 122,000 child-widows under 10 years of age, and only 2,000,000 of the 154,000,000 of women who ever get medical aid. One-third of the people in India live on one cent and even less a day, and only 70 of the men and 7 of the women out of 1000 can read and write. The Zenana Bible and Mission was founded over sixty years ago, and the late Lady Kinnaird was the founder.

NORTHERN LOANS NOW IN DEMAND

Money Part of Five Millions Voted Years Ago for Development.

FROM NEW ONTARIO

Commissioner Unwilling to Reveal Financial Standing of Settlers.

The money used by Commissioner Fred Dane for loans to northern settlers comes not from a special fund provided by the government during the last session of the legislature, as is popularly supposed, but is part of the $5,000,000 voted some years ago for expenditure in securing settlement of the north country, under the provisions of the Western and Northern Development Act.

The appointment of Mr. Dane as commissioner of the northern loan branch to make these loans was in the nature of establishing a means by which this money might be expended in a manner which the government considered expedient. Mr. Dane said on Saturday that applications for a loan on the security of the land and the improvements made by the settlers were now coming in from all parts of the north country, and not only from the Timiskaming district, where the work of his department was first directed after the disastrous forest fires which ravaged that part of the country during last summer.
