TRAINED APE GOES ON SPREE

Breaks Loose Aboard Ship, Gets Wine and Proceeds to Celebrate.

New York, Nov. 18.—When the steamship Uluu of the United Fruit Line arrived here, forty-seven cabin passengers agreed that things other than changes in the weather sometimes happen on the high seas. What brought about this general agreement were the antics of Mephisto, a ten-year-old trained monkey, member of a troupe of trained animals which Captain Charles Betts and his wife had under their care.

Both Mephisto and the weather were behaving excellently until the vessel was about three days out of New York, when in some unaccountable manner Mephisto broke a chain that held him to a stanchion on deck.

"Now a monkey adrift at sea is bad enough," Captain Betts remarked in speaking of the affair, "but Mephisto, or Mephy as he had been affectionately called, made matters worse by going on a drunk, using as his beverage a bottle of native wine made in Havana and guaranteed several hundred per cent. volatile. From that moment on Mephy was a changed monkey.

"What a sober monkey can do is bad enough, but a monkey full of liquor and running wild—" The captain could not find words to express his thoughts on the subject.

"Mephisto was captured and subdued, but not until he had played havoc with the morale of other trained animals in the troupe. He pulled the bright feathers from the red parrot's tail, taunted poor little Toto, the eighteen-month-old monkey, some extremely naughty monkey words, and finally essayed to play about the chutes on the slippery backs of the trained seals.

"One of Mephisto's tricks consisted of drinking a mixture of sugar and water from a bottle. When he was seen with the flask raised to his lips it was thought he was just trying out his trick. It was not until the contents of the bottle had gotten well settled inside the brown body of Mephisto that the true nature of the bottle's contents was even suspected. It was that time it was too late and the forty-seven passengers began seeking points of vantage and safety from which to watch the excitement. The man on watch sud-

$25,000 FURS DROPPED BY FLEEING THIEVES

Experts Make Careful Selection Then Stumble Into a Wire and Give Alarm.

Burglars had packed up $25,000 worth of fur ready for removal in the store of A. & E. Pierce, Ltd., furriers, at 218 West Twenty-eighth street, New York, when they stumbled into a wire connected with a burglar alarm. They left in a hurry without their loot.

Investigation by the police of the West Thirtieth Street Station indicated that the burglars were experts, who had worked at least two hours in selecting and packing the furs, choosing nothing but minks and silver foxes. They had entered the one-story building by cutting a hole in the tin roof and lifting out a piece of the roof carefully enough not to touch the burglar alarm wires across the top of the room. In trying to lift the first bundle of furs up through the hole in the ceiling they hit one of the wires and gave the alarm. Two agents of a private police agency arrived soon after the alarm was given, but the burglars had escaped.

Nineteen fur coats valued at $5,000 were stolen Sunday from the fur shop of Axel Phisken at 226 Livingston street, Brooklyn. The burglars broke a show window and loaded the furs into an automobile.

Silk shirts and other clothing valued at $2,700 were stolen from the store of Luskin Brothers, 299 South Fourth street, Brooklyn, early Monday.

A man entered the jewelry shop of Morris Waitzell, at 48 Varet street, Brooklyn, and asked to see some diamonds, and threw red pepper into Waitzell's face when the latter took out a tray of rings. The thief ran out with a $600 diamond ring, but Waitzell followed and drew a crowd, which caught a man two blocks away. The prisoner said he was Jacob Sommers of Bayonne.

CANADA WAR BONDS ATTAIN NEW HIGHS

Good Market for Them in New York That May Make Govt. Financing Easier.

(New York Times.)

Montreal, Nov. 18.—As illustrating the present strength of the Canadian investment market, the advance in the price of Victory loan bonds here during the last few days has been most illuminating. All maturities, but more especially the later ones, have figured in the advances, and new highs on the present movement have been attained all through the list.

The 1937 maturity has risen sharply to a premium at 101.40, while the 1934s are up to a new high at 96.65, and the 1929s at 97.75. The 1922 bonds are 98.60, the 1925s 98.60, the 1924s 97.65—all new high levels on the advance. The floating supply has diminished appreciably during the past few days.

Much of the buying of these and other high grade Canadian securities is stated to be for United States account, this source of demand having fairly well cleared out the Canadian market recently.

This is greatly improving the outlook for the forthcoming dominion government financing, and opinion is now turning to the belief that the market here may be in a position to absorb at least the greater portion of anything up to $400,000,000 by the turn of the year, providing the terms of the issue are right.

Stock brokers state, however, that call money is rather tight at the moment. The lending rate holds around 6 1/2 per cent., with some instances of a little higher being paid.

GERMANS IN RIOTS LOOTING THE FOOD SHOPS IN BERLIN

Berlin, Nov. 18.—Food riots occurred on Wednesday and Thursday in many parts of Berlin and the suburbs, large bodies of unemployed looting the provision stores.

In the Reichstag the government has had to meet many criticisms for its failure to suppress profiteering, which has forced up the cost of living.

USE The Want Ad Way

Now IS A GOOD TIME TO BUY FURNITURE!

In furnishing a home, as in so many of life's enterprises, there is no time like the present. People who continually postpone furnishing, waiting for a more convenient occasion, seldom profit thereby. They awake at last to find that the years are passing, never to return, and they have been missing the happiness of an artistically furnished home which could long ago have been theirs.

Your family is growing up. See that your home is what it should be while your children are with you.
