Sidelights On Sport

Well, the St. John League is off again and a good game was enjoyed last evening. There is no reason why the same good spirit should not prevail at all games until the season terminates. Fans and players alike could and should be friends.

Well at last Peter Farren came across and showed what he is capable of doing. He has a large number of supporters in St. John, and they have backed him consistently since the opening of the season. His performance in Sussex yesterday will be a hard one to beat.

It is indeed good news to hear that races are to be held here after all. Dr. McAllister of Sussex is behind the movement and it is up to fans in St. John to back him and show their appreciation by their attendance. If weather conditions are favorable some attendance records should be shattered.

Rowing is attracting great interest at the present time. People flock about the wharves to watch men training for the big races on the 14th and 15th and many are the favorable comments heard about their performance. No definite word has as yet been received from Boston regarding an entry in the sports, but hope is still held that a crew will be sent here. The Renforth crew were out last night rowing on the Kennebecasis river and they are working well together. Two of the oarsmen rowed exceptionally well and have a long, powerful stroke. They seemed to have considerable experience in the sliding seats.

One has but to glance at the sporting pages of the local papers to see what interest is being taken in baseball in this city. Nearly every commercial house in the city is endeavoring to make up a team and challenges are being sent broadcast. All that is needed is a good field to play on in or about the city. Oh! for a park like they have in other cities where four games could be staged at the one time.

Bitter Internal Fight in Case of Carl Mays Expected After Developments of Yesterday

New York, Aug. 4.—One of the bitterest internal fights major league baseball has experienced is expected to follow the developments today in the case of Carl Mays, New York American pitcher, who was indefinitely suspended by President Ban Johnson of the American League for refusal to pay a fine.

The Yankees club officials not only took steps to begin injunction proceedings against the league president to restrain him from preventing New York using the player, but also issued a statement in which it directly charges that Johnson is interfering with the Cleveland club. President Johnson declined tonight to comment on this charge.

In a statement asserting that "to permit the transfer of the player to one of the contending teams for the championship would lower the standard of baseball and place a premium on flagrant violation of club discipline," President Johnson gave his side of the case.

After detailing the manner in which Mays left the Boston club in Chicago during the progress of a game, Mr. Johnson said that the Chicago, Cleveland and New York clubs immediately opened negotiations to obtain the player. This, he said, prompted a vigorous protest from the Washington, St. Louis and Detroit clubs and later from Philadelphia. James D. Owen, owner of the Cleveland club, immediately withdrew his efforts to obtain Mays, so soon as the argument was presented to him that the pennant contender to obtain the services of the player would lower the standard of baseball.

Ten days after Mays left the Boston club, Mr. Johnson said he wired Manager Barrow of the Boston club as follows:—"Please explain why Boston club has neglected to suspend Mays. This must be done immediately, or American League will be forced to take action."

On the same day, he said, he sent the following telegram to Colonel Ruppert of the Yankees:—"Mays left Boston club July 13, 1919, without permission, and has made declarations he will not continue in its service. This is a most flagrant breach of discipline and should not go unpunished. Six clubs have protested that player should not be permitted to go elsewhere. To allow this incident to go unchallenged will work endless harm to the American League. Clubs should stand together and refuse to negotiate for this man."

Colonel Ruppert inquired which clubs had protested and Mr. Johnson named Washington, St. Louis, Detroit, Philadelphia and Cleveland, adding "I support in Ruppert in ownership of the player." When he stated it would be a mistake for any club to take Mays and that personally he would be willing to lay out on the player if other clubs would so agree. Chicago, however, has player was Willie Mitchell, the veteran southpaw, who is now performing in the Pacific Coast League. He passed out of the majors only after the Yankees had taken him. Eric Erickson is pitching for the Senators, Bill James is with the Boston club, and Ellison is now with the Pittsburgh Pirates, having been claimed through the waiver process. This is another case of an interleague transfer.

The Red Sox have sent Pitcher Carl Mays to the Yankees and two other notable of the cast—Jack Barry and Amos Strunk—to the Philadelphia club. Barry refused to report, and at the present time is out of the game. Strunk accepted the transfer and is playing a regular outfield position for the Mackmen. Jean Dubuc, who made the training trip with the Red Sox, is now with the Giants.

The Washington club sent Pitcher Thompson to the Mackmen, but he failed to stick there, and now is back in the minors. Doc Ayers, long a fixture with the Senators, is now wearing the uniform of the Detroit Tigers. Johnny Lavan, owned by the Senators, has been transferred since the start of the season to the St. Louis club of the National League in another interleague deal.

Connie Mack has participated in the transfer of three players from his club to others. He sent Outfielder and Catcher Shibe Park tonight. Although Tendler was knocked down twice in the first round, taking counts of seven and nine, he came back strong in the second round and from then on administered severe punishment to the New Yorker. Jackson's nose was broken and his left eye cut. Tendler discarded boxing and tried to end the fight with a knockout. But Jackson stayed the limit.

Ted (Kid) Lewis of England, former welterweight champion, outboxed Steve Latzo of Hazelton, Pa. Latzo forced the fighting but Lewis' cleverness enabled him to keep the lead throughout.

Frankie Britt of Boston outpointed Joe Tiptitz of Philadelphia in six rounds. Eddie Moy of Allentown, Pa., and Harry Pearce of Brooklyn fought six hard rounds to a draw.

Frankie Conliffe of New York won from Jack Russo of New Orleans. Dundee at Wrong End.

Jersey City, Aug. 4.—Mel Coogan of Brooklyn had a shade the better of Johnny Dundee of New York in an eight-round bout here today.

YOUNG TROTTERS
BECOMING SCARCE

Sale of Two-Year-Olds the Great
Miss Morris for $35,000 Shows
What Best Are Worth

Colt races are becoming more than ever the interesting features of the Grand Circuit since so many old stagers fill the entry lists for the class races. The scarcity of fresh horses of mature years has never been so conspicuously evident as in the present campaign.

Tommy Murphy, Walter Cox and Ed Geers usually have several new trotters of the highest class to uncover at Cleveland the earlier meetings on the mile track, but their aged horses this year were for the most part the ones they had driven last season or the season before. What will happen next year is uncertain. The number of youngsters coming on is growing smaller and smaller with each succeeding season.

The answer to this pertinent inquiry is suggested by the recently reported sale of the two-year-old filly, The Great Miss Morris by Mr. A. D. Stokes to a syndicate of Boston horsemen for $35,000, a record price for a filly of her age, and the highest paid for a trotting horse of any age since W. E. D. Stokes sold her sister, Peter the Great, 207½, to Mr. Fletcher for $30,000 when the stallion was twenty-one years old. The filly is a full sister to Peter the Great, 209, that lowered the world's record for yearlings, two-year-olds, three-year-olds and four-year-olds while he was in training; also the unfortunate filly Volga, that quit the turf unbeaten with a record of 2:07-8 as a two-year-old and of 2:04½ as a three-year-old, winning $25,645 in her two short campaigns. Their dam, Nerrold Belle, now only thirteen years old, is also the dam of worthy Volga, 2:08-4, as a two-year-old and of Axel, 2:07½, as a four-year-old, so that as a producer of early and extreme speed she is in the class with Peter the Great or a little ahead of him.

Another straw showing which way the wind is blowing in the market for trotting horses is the reported offer of $25,000 made by Mr. Fletcher for the four-year-old colt McGregor for the Great, 2:05½, owned by Sanford Small of Boston and driven by Cox.

Johnson's statement said. "When the announcement was made in the newspapers of July 31 that the player, and Boston for the Braves. Lee King was one of Hugo Bedez's outfielders, but Hugo decided that he was not needed, and now King is wearing a New York uniform. Kilguff of the Cubs is with Brooklyn, Douglas with the Giants, while Mann and Pick have been traded to the Braves. As mentioned above, the Cincinnati club has not been affected by the transfer of players from club to club, yet there has been more than the usual number of transfers.

Many Giants Have Departed.

A glance over the playing rosters to-day, and a comparison of them with the roster of the club at the start of the season, show many shifts. Take the Giants for example. Even before the deal which shunted Lee King to Boston for the Braves, Lee King was one of Hugo Bedez's outfielders, but Hugo decided that he was not needed, and now King is wearing a New York uniform. Kilguff of the Cubs is with Brooklyn, Douglas with the Giants, while Mann and Pick have been traded to the Braves. As mentioned above, the Cincinnati club has not been affected by the transfer of players from club to club, yet there has been more than the usual number of transfers.

In the American League the Yankees have made deals which involved the transfer of four players to whose services they held title when the season opened. I was astonished. I immediately suspended Mays indefinitely and wired both the New York and Boston clubs to that effect.

"The action of the American League club owners in the Mays case was prompted by a determination to preserve the game's integrity and with a keen sense for the welfare of the organization as a whole."

FUND IS $113,740,000.

Amount of Total Subscriptions in Methodist Centenary Campaign.

Methodists of New York issued their final Centenary bulletin yesterday, says the New York Times, announcing subscriptions to Centenary funds of all kinds amounting to $113,740,000, the largest sum ever obtained by any religious body in the world for any cause, it is said. This does not include the sum obtained by Methodists of the south, who have an additional $12,000,000, the sum announced yesterday is not the total. It is expected, according to the bulletin, that an additional $12,000,000 will be raised in the early fall. The amount originally set as the goal was $80,000,000.

New York Methodists exceeded the amount set for them to raise by $200,000, pledging $7,215,000. Chicago Methodists raised the large sum of $12,850,000, and Cincinnati members of the denomination raised $15,788,000.

The bulletin states that 451,000 persons are definitely pledged to pray for the success of Christ's cause throughout the world; that 188,210 have pledged to give to church and to charity a tenth of their incomes annually, and that 26,000 persons have volunteered to give their lives to Christian service wherever they may be sent. A big drive is planned by Methodists to obtain 1,000,000 new members.

GOVERNMENT TO KEEP OUT OF INDUSTRIAL DISPUTES

London, Aug. 4.—The Daily Mail says that the government has decided to revert to its pre-war policy of non-interference in industrial disputes.

SWEDISH "ALDERWOMEN"

A servant girl in Stockholm, says Woman's Century, has just been elected alderman of that city. She enjoys the distinction of being the first domestic servant elected to a body corresponding to our city board of supervisors. She is said to be capable, and to take her new dignity with becoming modesty. She will retain her position as maid with the family by whom she has been employed for a number of years. She was elected on a ballot system of proportional representation.
