THE HEIRS FOUND.

Worth $142,000 Died in California Hospital.

LOS ANGELES, July 19.—The mystery surrounding the identity of the mast known as "Charles Hill," who died at the Good Samaritan Hospital here on May 17, leaving 1142,000 in cash, has been solved. His real name was Salem Charles, and his home was at Brimsteld, Mass. The story of the search for heirs by the public administrator and his attorney, Leon Moss, is intersiting. After following innumerable alleged "cluck," all of which came to haught, administrator Kellogg found among the old man's effects an old amily Bible, on the fly leaf of which was written sentences almost faded and rendered illegible by age. The witten sentences almost faded and rendered illegible by age. The witten sentences almost faded and rendered illegible by age. The witten sentences almost faded and rendered illegible by age. The witten sentences almost faded and rendered illegible by age. The witten sentences almost faded had been a sentenced in "Charles" and "Brim—" were delighered. Attorney Moss went to Brimteld, Mass, and without disclosing his dentity, found a family named Charles, which had been prominent in the locality for 200 years. After a thorough investigation, Moss became tonyinced that he had found the family of the deceased.

There are eight direct heirs to the state, the most prominent of whom is salem Darius Charles, chairman of the local of street commissioners of Boston.

The old man, Salem Charles, always had been an eccentric character, and no reasen has been found for his change of name. He is said to have made his money by importing cloth while residing in Jexas before and during the Civil War.

THE SUMMER SCHOOL.

It Will Open at St. Stephen Next Tuesday-The Speakers.

(Calais Times.)

Calais Times.)

The Summer School of Science opens at St. Stephen Tuesday of next week. The speakers announced for the opening meeting in the rink are Prof. L. W. Bailey, Fledericton, the president of the school the mayors of St. Stephen and calais; G. W. Ganong, M. P.; Hon. Vm. Pugsley, Attorney General of the province and acting premier; Hon. Mess. Hill, McKeown. Dunn and Labilois, of the New Brunswick government; Hon. J. W. Longley, attorney scheral of Nova Scotia; the chief superintendents of education for New Brunswick and Nova Scotia; Dr. Stetson, state superintendent of education, Maine; Dr. Hall, of the Nova Scotia Novals Scotia Normal School; and Inspector McCormach, Prince Edward Island.

spector McCormac. Prince Edward Island.

Evelng classes of the school will be open to the public. Dr. Longley will address the evening meeting, Tuesday, the 22nd, according to the provisional programme. Dr. Flecher, the domandon contempolist, Othwa, will be the speaker, the 25th; his subject being probably the relation of natural sclence to general eduction. Miss Van Horne, St. Andrews, is expected to occupy the next evening subject not yet announced. Prof. Ramsay Wright, Toronto, will speak the 20th, on the work of the Marine Biological Station at Canseau. Dr. Bailey S. A. Starratt, Yarmouth, N. S., Inspector McCormack, Dr. Andrews of Mount Allison University, and Prof Vose of the Maine State College, Orino, are among the other speakers. The lectures by Dr. Fletcher and Dr. Famsay Wright will be illustrated by electric lantern views, and will probably be in St. Croix hall.

CAPT. PITT'S SCHEME.

Capt. W. H. Pitt, erstwhile owner of the ill-fated airship Addino Paddock, is experiencing considerable difficulty in securing another boat to take the place of the burned steaner. But the gallant captain is a man of many ideas and from his fertile bath has sprung another plan which threatens to knock on the head all the fassible suggestions made hitherto in regard to a new ferry steamer. Capt. Pitt is engaged in booming what will in all probability be known as the '5t. John-Gondola Point Automobile Co., Ltd." It is Capt. Pitt's intentior to form a company in which he himself will be one of the principal shareholders, for the purchase and operation of an automobile to carry twenty passengers and run from Haymarket square to Gondola Point.

COMPARISON.

"Would you like to trade your mule for this automobile?" asked the facetious tour-ist.

SATURDAY SERMONETTE.

"When Adam delved and Eve span, who was then the gentleman?" The question whether or no you accept the dectrine of the original Adam and his companion does not materially enter into the discussion of the lesson to be drawn from the text. The matter at issue relates to the rise of that peculiar system known all over the earth as caste. Missionaries who labor in India say that it is the most difficult thing with which they have to contend, and poor mortals, who earn their bread by the sweat of their brows in lands which are referred to as more enlightened, know that caste is as supreme here as there. Mr. Macaulay speaks of the time when "the great men beinged the poor, and the poor man loved the great," and when "the Romans were like brothers in the brave days of old," but it is generally conceded that the first subdivision of the human family into sets came when one of Cain's grandchildren, stronger than the others, appropriated certain and sundry of the goods and chattels of his relatives. His children became the first "four hundred." So the race was divided into the weak and the strong, the latter, of course, being the bloated capitalists. All other sets are simply subdivisions and effects, and we now have castes without number. That good old doctrine so emphatically mouthed at public gatherings and in addresses to the independent electorate, that all men are free and equal and are privileged to enjoy life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, has become as sounding brass and tinkling dymbal. You are not free and you are not regarder as on an equality. You are privileged to exist, and if there is any happiness in that you are free to enjoy it. Circumstances over which you never had any control have placed you in a certain social position, and there you are almost as certain to stay as if the mark of the caste had been indelibly imprinted on your forehead. Born in the purple, its folds will ever surround you, no matter how mentally incapable, how morally stultified you may become. What you are any other could be proved the great unwashed. If you don't belong to either, Yarmouth, N. S., Inspector McCormack, Dr. Andrews of Mount Allison University, and Prof Vose of the Maine State College, Orno, are among the other speakers. The lectures by Dr. Fletcher and Dr. Rimsay Wright will be illustrated by electric lantern views, and will probably be in St. Croix hall.

For the special needs of men who are interested in the de'rimination of minerals, the school provides a course in mineralogy, under Dr. Bailey, who will bring with him maticial for the work of fifty students. No blowphe work is required in this cotres, and no expensive text book. Dr. Andrews's course in blowphe analysis, which is always one of the most attractive of the school curses, will be at a different hour; so that those who wish it may take both.

Miss Eleanor Robinson's becures on English literature are likely to be very largely attended, and it is desirable that all who take advantags of them should begin with the first lecture. Miss Robinson has studied English literature at Harvard, and has continued her studies in England. The course she will give at the Summer School is upon Tennyson's Idylls of the King, and is very highly spoken of by those who attended her private lectures upon this subject in St. John.

ROME AND PHILIPPINES.

Indignation Expressed at the Attitude of the Vatican.

ROME, July 17.—Great indignation is felt among Americans in Rome, who are astounded at the utter want of appreciation of the courtesy of the Unit-ed States which the Vatican has shown. An American prelate said to Chronicle's correspondent:—

"The Vatican has befooled us and missed the greatest chance offered to her prestige for a century, and, what is more, the treatment meted out to our mission and the exposure of the unbusinesslike methods of Rome are incidents in our history which Americans will never forget."

LONDON, July 17.—The Times correspondent in Rome, giving a complete history of Judge Taft's negotiations with the Vatican, says:—

"Speaking broadly, the result of the negotiations is a triumph for the regular clergy at the expense of the church, and, in view of the composition of the cardinals' commission, the outcome could hardly have been different. At present in the government of the Roman church the regular clergy pays, the piper and has the right to call the tune.

"The Vatican stood to gain much."

man church the regular clergy pays the piper and has the right to call the tune.

"The Vatican stood to gain much politically and financially by subscribing to the American contract—politically because the contract would have been signed on behalf of the pope and the president, thus conferring upon the apostolic delegate in Washington, who possesses no locus standi in regard to the government, the right to communicate directly with President Roosevelt, instead of having recourse to the friendly offices of Archbishop Ireland, and financially because the compensation would have been twice, if not thrice, as high as it will now be. "Contract or no contract, the friars do not dare to return to their parishes except under an American escort, and consequently their reinstatement is a practical impossibility: whereas, by contracting to remove the friars, the Vatican would have received some $19,000,000 in gold with which to endow the Philippine clergy, and would have enhanced its prestige by appearing to protect Filipino Catholics against the unworthy monks, with whom it will now be the duty of the American sovernment to deal."

The Rome correspondent of the Morning Post declares that the failure of Judge Taft's negotiations with the Vatican is attributed there to the influence of the heads of the religious orders, especially to the Jesuit Cardinal Steinhuber, and that the Vatican is considered to have sacrificed a splendid opportunity.

BROTHERLY LOVE CONTINUES.

The dear old Globe in neighborly love referred on Thursday to an incident of the Deaf and Dumb investigation. We beg to remind our ancient contemporary that people who live in glass houses should never throw stones. There have been legal proceedings quite as interesting as the Deaf and Dumb inquiry in which the Globe is more immediately concerned. But no particulars have been published.

THE GRIT SPOILSMEN.

THE GRIT SPOILSMEN.

Charles F. Seely, for twenty years keeper of Machias Scal Island light, has been dismissed without cause except that a grit wanted the job. He gets no retiring allowance. Discussing the affair the Sun says: "Mr. Seely sees nothing better to do than to join his nearest relatives who are in California. So a large family of exodists has been provided by a government which is spending immense sums of money to bring immigrants to Canada from the ends of the earth."

METCALFE GETS FIVE YEARS.

Gordon C. Metcalfe, who in December last robbed the C. P. R. at Sault Ste. Marie of $243, was yesterday sent-enced to five years' imprisonment in the Kingston penitentiary. It is probable further charges will be laid against the prisoner on his release from the penitentiary, as United States railroads and express companies are after him.

AFTER SIX YEARS.

AFTER SIX YEARS.

Ahout six years ago, on the Kempt road, near Campbellton, a robbery was committed, and the perpetrator has never been found out till the other day, the editor of the Campbellton Events was handed a letter by a man unknown to him. The letter has been written by a Swede, in which he confesses to the robbery. He is dying in decline, and at the end of the letter says he is going home to Sweden, his mother having sent for him. In the course of a pathetic letter he says: "My mate and I ran away from the ship, because the captain and mate were cruel. We were cold and hungry. We asked a woman on the Quebec side for our breakfast, and she refused. We came to a house, and there was no one home. We searched the house and I took two pairs of socks, a needle and 25 cents out of a bag on the wall. I entered a room at the back and took $50. I heard lots of wrong stories about this money, and I write this letter so that the innocent will not be blamed."

The letter is signed "John Osro" and is dated Campbellton, July 12, 1902.

PEACH STATE OF THE UNION.

(Mobile Daily Register.)

Georgia is the peach State of the Union, having 7,860,000 peach-bearing trees. Next is Maryland, with 4,015,000, then New Jersey with 2,700,000, and Delaware, with 2,400,000. Ten years ago Georgia was at the bottom of the list composed of these four states. Alabama and Mississippi are also becoming peach states. The south will be the fruit region of the United States.
