IRENE.

Shops and offices were pouring their streams of life into the crowded streets. It Shops and offices were pouring their streams of life into the crowded streets. It was 6 o'clock at evening. At a corner where a human tide swept like a torrent from a broken dam a woman stood under a lamp post. She was tall and dark, and so motionless that she might have been a statue. Her arms were folded under her cloak. A policeman, edging his way through the crowd, asked her a question. She shook her head slowly, and did not look at him. The policeman passed on, and the next moment there were two quick wistel shots, a scream, and a stampede. The officer ran back, fighting his way through the swirling crowd. He found the woman, pistel in hand, bending over a man lying upon the pavement. The officer range swile, as she relaxed her hold on the pistel she said. 'I am a woman, and I demand to be treated as such."

When she had been taken to the station and asked to make a statement she said: 'My name is Irene Rom. The name of the man I shot is Roy Campbell. I shot him because he ought to be kiled. He was engaged to marry my sister. He did not keep faith with her, and she died of a broken heart. He is a brute, and ought to be dead.'

Campbell was taken to a hospital. His Camp'ell was taken to a hospital. His wounds were pronounced dangerous. An effort was made to interview him. But all he would say was: 'I suppose she thought she had a right to shoot me.' He asked if they had put her in jail, and appeared to be pleased when told that she had been allowed out on bail.

These weeks later the wounded man was sitting proposed up in bed, when a card sitting propped up in bed, when a card bearing the name of Iren Roms was hand-ed to him. He looked hard at it, rubbed his eyes, held it further away, then closer, and then remarked: 'I don't understand why she should want to see me. Let her why she should want to see the scome in.'

With a timid, awe struck air the woman approached the bed. She coughed in embarrassment as the seated herself on a chair which the nurse placed for her. She but back her hair, made aim'ess motions in her confusion, and then, looking straight at Campbell, said:

'I am awfully sorry I shot you'

Campbell smiled. 'And are you sure you haven't come to shoot me again?' he asked.

She frowned in reproof. 'You know I

She trowned in reproof. 'You know I haven't. It you had thought that you would have told them to keep me out.

'No, I wouldn't. You have come so far out here that I couldn't have found the heart to disappoint you."

'A plaster of sarcasm won't draw out a soreness, Mr. Campbell. I have suffered so with remores that I have come to see if I could find some sort of consolation. You don't know how I have suffered. And

You don't know how I have sollered. And I must go through a hateful trial, too, with everybody looking at me. Oh how wish I hadn't shot you!'
'Yes,' he drawled, 'I rather wish so my-

Yes.' he drawled, 'I rather wish so myselt. So, you see, we have something in common. But you needn't be worried over the trial. I shall not appear against you.'
The nurse had withdrawn. They were alone. She put back her hir again, and he followed the movement of her graceful hand—the hand that hid shot him. 'No, I will not appear,' he went on. 'It is something of a distinction to be shot by the haadsomest woman in Liverpool.' He hesitated as he saw the tears gatering in her eyes. 'I take it all back,' he said. She wiped her eyes, and sat looking far away through the window. The mystery that lies in the cloudland was reflacted in her eyes, and he gaz id at her. She turned her eyes upon him, and the mystery flew from them.

flew from them.

'Yes I am sorry I shot you,' she said;
'but I hate you, and never cantorgive you'
'Ah! and I am therefore consoled by the thought that you never can torgive me'
'Brute!' she said. 'I almost wish I had

When a woman almos: wishes a thing, when a woman aimos: wisnes a thing, she wishes it doubly, he replied.
'I don't know but there is some truth in that,'she assented. 'But what a beast you were to treat Florence so. How could you?'

Yee, you were. She was taken ill with fever shortly afterwards, but it was a broken heart that killed her.' Her eyes shot shafts of harred at him. 'Bat I didn't come to reproach you.' the said.
'Then why did you come? he saked.
'To ask you why you could have been so heartless. I simply want to know. Was it because you have no heart at all?'
'It was because I had too much heart.'
She darted a fierce look at him. 'Ah!
it was because you loved another woman.'
'Yes. Forence made me promise to tell her if—if I should love anyone better than I did her. It was not my fault it another woman set my soul afree, when Florence had only warmed my heart.
'God knows I fought against it with all my

'Ah! And then you went to the other woman and told her of your love, and she spurned you.

'No, I did not tell her. Indeed I was determined that she should not know.'

She looked at him searchingly. 'You killed my sister, but you are more of a man than I thought.'

He smiled sadly. 'A man is always more or less of a man than a woman thinks.'

'If you hald so poor an opinion of women, I don't see how you could love coa."

'I don't see, either.'

'That's consoling.'

'Thea let it console you. But really I am sorry for y.u—for your weakness. You ought to have had more strength than to let that other woman—and I know she is a trigh:—win your love. You ought to have known that she was playing with you.'

'Reason addresses the brain, but it cannot reach the heart. I told you that I fought——'

'Yee, I know.' And after a long silence she said: 'I wish you would tell me the name of that woman.'

'Irene Roms.'

She sprang to her feet with a cry, and a nurse ran into the room. She found the visi or on her knees by the bedside.'

'Leave us,' the man said, and the nurse withdrew. He put his hand on her head, and she sobbed under his touch. 'And that was the reason I could not keep faith with her,' he said. 'You set my soul on fire, and in the flames I could see your sm le.'

She had caught hie hand, and it was wet with her tears. 'And for that love I was willing to die,' he said, unable now to see her, kneeling beside 'hm, but feeling the warm tears upon his hand.

'O, don't—don't say that!' she sobbed. 'In my despa'r I hated you be ause I loved you so '— Princess.

Anasthetic Plants.

A German chemist has prepared a fluid that has the power, when injected into the tissues of a plant near its roots, of anaesthi ing the plant. The plant does not die, but stops growing, maintaining its fresh green appearance, though its vitality is apparently suspended. It is also independent of the changes in temperature, the most delicate hothouse plants continuing to bloom in the open. The composition of the fluid is shrouded in mystery, but it is said to have a pungent odor and to be colorless.

DAVISON CASE

ANOTHER BRUJE COUNTY VICTORY FOR DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

One More Victory for the Greatest Medi-cine on Earth – The Tide of Cures Seewps Steadily on – No Case of Bright's Disease, Diabetes, or Any Other Kidney Disease can Withstand Dodd's Kidney tills.

Lucknew, Jan. 16—It the Bruce County residents, who have been cured of Kidney Diseases by Dodd's Kidney Pills, were to organize a club, it would have the largest membership of any similar body on this continent. Day by day, hour by hour the number of persons cured by this wonderful medicine increases.

Every form of Kidney Disease, no matter how virulent or how stubborn, yield speedily and infallibly to Dodd's Kidney Ells.

A. T. Davison, Lucknew, was cured of

A. T. Davison, Lucknow, was cured of Kidney Disease, recently, by a few doses of Dodd's Kidney Pills. His case was an extrema one, and no other remedy did the slightest good.

Dodd's Kidney Pills win a victory over Kidney Disease, EVERY TIME THEY BE Didd's Kidney Pills win a victory over Kidney Disease EVERY TIME THEY'RE USED. They are the only modicine on earth that has ever cured Bright's Disease and Diabetes. These diseases yield to them as surely and inevitably as snow mel's before the springtime sun.

The work of cu.ing Kidney Diseases resembles that of a farmer who undertakes to clear his land of thistles. He may try a dozen methods, but all fail, till he hits on the right one—one that has been designed specially for the one purpose, and for no other. So with Kidney diseases. You may use hundreds of medi ince, but none will cure till you try Dodd's Kidney Pills. They are made to cure Kidney troublest will cure till you try Dodd's Kidney Pills. They are made to cure Ki Insy troubles' and no other. They always do cure them. They always will.

Dodd's Kidney Pills also cure Lumbago. Lume Back, Rheumatism Heart Disease, Paralysis, Female weakness, Gravel, Stone in Bladder, all urinary troubles, Sciatica, Neuralgis, Dropsy, Gout and all impurities of the blood. They are sold by all druggists, at fity cents a box, six boxes for $? 50, or will be sert on receipt of price by The Dodds Medicine Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

An Irish Exhibition.

A laudable effort is being made in Dublin for the holding of an exhibition of manufactures and raw materials in that city next year. It is proposed to establish a limited liability-company which shall under take all expenses, and in the event of the capital being subscribed immediate steps will be taken to organize an exhibition which shall be placed on a permanent basis for the display of Irish manufactures and products in the city of Doblin, and shall in every way promote the native industries of the country.

Cure Yourself of Rheignatism

The application of Nerviline—nerve-pain cure—which possesses auch marvelious power over all nerve pain, has proved a remarkable success in sheumaissa and neuralgia. Newriline acts on the nerves, soothes them, drives pain out and so gives relief. Try it and be convinced.

Swine were adored in Caste, weasals at Thebes, rate and mice in Troas, porcupines in Persis, the lapwing in New Zualand, bulls in Benarce, serpents in Greece and many of the African countries. The Hindoos never molest enakes; they call them stathers, brothers, friends and other endearing names. On the coast of Guinea a hog happening to kill a snake, the King gave orders that all the swine should be destroyed.

Accidents to Ohildren.

Children, in their play, are apt to get sprains, bruises or cuts, and the pain these little ones suffer before relief is brought to them should convince mothers that it is necessary to be always prepared for accidents. "Quickcure" is a healer, that acts quickly and removes pain at once.

Next to the mistletee and holly the laurel and ground pine are most favored, the former's glossy leaves and green berries suggestive of good cheer and always forming :n effective back-ground when gay berries or mosses are used in addition. The ground pine coils easily and gracefully into wreaths and invaluable for twining about staircase or pillars or for using in decoration on a large scale when boughs of apruce, bemlock and cedar also much in vogne.—St. Louis Republic.
