Took Bait Too Early.
Four drunks were arrested on Saturday by the police, and two yesterday. About seven o'clock yesterday morning one of the drunks was found lying on the Marsh bridge by Constable Gibbs. When found he had a fishing rod in his hand, while a fishing basket was strapped to his back. As there were no fish in the basket, it is thought he had made an early start for one of the streams or lakes in the country intending to spend the day fishing the waters for the speckled beauties, but that before he got well started he consumed the "bait", with the result that the police made the catch.

JAMES A. RYAN PLUNGED TO HIS DEATH FROM HOSPITAL WINDOW

Man, Under Treatment for "Nervousness," Escaped from Semi-Private Ward, Made His Way to Open Window and Fell Out—Coroner Roberts to Probe Case.

James A. Ryan, of 98 Brussels street, who was a patient in the General Public Hospital, died in that institution on Thursday night as the result of injuries received in a fall from the second story window of the hospital. Coroner Roberts will hold an inquest into the death, and although the funeral had been advertised to take place Saturday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock, a postponement was made and interment will not take place until this afternoon. In fact, the Coroner's jury did not view the remains until Saturday afternoon, and the corpse was not removed to the bereaved home until Saturday night.

From what can be learned of the case Ryan was admitted to the General Public Hospital about three weeks ago, to be treated for a nervous trouble. He was in a semi-private room with a couple of other patients, on the second floor. About 6.30 o'clock he was seen to leave his bed, climb over the window sash and fall to the ground below. Those in the room called for help but it was too late to save him. He was picked up and taken into the hospital and died a few hours afterwards.

The Coroner's View.

When asked for information on the case last night and when asked if Ryan was supposed to be insane when he climbed out of the window of the hospital, Dr. W. F. Roberts, the coroner, said that they were not supposing anything in this case, and that he did not think the newspapers should suppose anything. The Coroner gave the names of the jury empanelled, told of viewing the remains and gave the date when the inquiry would be resumed. Asked further regarding the case, Coroner Roberts was not communicative.

House Doctor Wouldn't Talk.

Dr. H. L. Walker, the house doctor at the General Public Hospital, was interviewed late last night, and when asked if he would tell any of the circumstances surrounding the death of Mr. Ryan replied: "You will have to take the matter up with the Coroner, it is entirely in his hands."

When asked by the reporter if a patient in the hospital such as Mr. Ryan was had an attendant with him at all times, Dr. Walker replied: "You will have to take the matter up with the Coroner."

When asked what Mr. Ryan was being treated for while in the hospital, Dr. Walker said that he had nothing to say on the matter.

What Dr. Macaulay Said.

Dr. Albert E. Macaulay, the superintendent of the General Public Hospital, was also interviewed by The Standard at a late hour last night. He said that Mr. Ryan was being treated for a nervousness brought on by some other trouble, that he had been a little silly, and that his mentality was not up to normal, also that his action in climbing through the window was quite unexpected. Dr. Macaulay said that Mr. Ryan died about two hours after he was removed from where he fell.

Mrs. Ryan Tells Her Story.

Mrs. Ryan, when seen by a Standard reporter, said her husband had been in the hospital for two weeks suffering from what was supposed to be a tumor on the brain, which was caused by an injury received six years ago at Memramcook, when he was struck on the head by the side of a sloven box. When he first went to the hospital he was placed on the lower floor and afterwards removed to the top of the building. He had been wanting to go home and Mrs. Ryan thinks he took advantage of the open window and, thinking he was still on the ground floor, dropped to the ground.

When picked up no bones were broken, but he must have been internally injured. Mrs. Ryan was notified as soon as she could be located and went to the hospital and stayed with him until about 9.30 when she left. Mr. Ryan was seemingly as strong as ever and was able to talk to her up to the time she left. When leaving she told the hospital authorities that she would telephone in about an hour and a half to see how he was getting on. When she called up she was told that he was dead. As near as she could tell the accident happened about 6.30 and Mr. Ryan climbed out of the window and dropped from the railing of the fire escape. She did not know if there was an attendant in the room at the time or not but she understood that none of the other men in the room were capable of making any effort to stop him when he started to climb out.

Inquiry into Tuesday.

The inquiry into the death will be resumed at the hospital on Tuesday evening at eight o'clock, when the entire story, which could not be obtained last night, will be told to the Coroner and the jury. On Saturday afternoon the jury was empanelled; they viewed the remains, also the room and the window through which Mr. Ryan climbed to his death. The names of the jury follow: James Daley, foreman; Fred C. Beattie, J. A. Kennedy, Richard Walsh, John Thornton, Percy Steel.

CHARGE OF SELLING "HOME-MADE BOOZE" MAY FOLLOW RAID

John Wells' House on Smythe Street Visited by Police and Liquor Seized—Coloring Material for Whisky Production Also Found.

Gus Paimre, a Russian, and Otto Nelson, a Norwegian, left the premises kept by John Wells, 54 and 56 Smythe street, at 12.15 o'clock yesterday morning. Both men were intoxicated, and Detective Barrett and Constable Armstrong, who were near at the time placed them under arrest. As soon as the men were locked up the detective and constable returned and made a successful raid on the Wells house, placing Wells under arrest on the charge of keeping and selling liquor without a license.

Wells is a Russian who conducts a shop and boarding house at the above address. In addition to taking him into custody the police also held as witnesses two men who were found in the house sitting round a table. There is also a possibility that a more serious charge than that of selling liquor without a license may develop against Wells as the case proceeds, for evidence of selling adulterated liquor was found in the house, and if such a charge is made against the prisoner and he is found guilty, there is a chance of his being fined anywhere other city officials. There will also be an afternoon session.

In the evening at 9 o'clock a reception by Victoria Lodge No. 13 to the visitors in assembly hall, Normal School, will be the attraction and no doubt will be well attended. At 10 a. m. Thursday, the district deputy presidents will meet in connection with the Rebekah branch of the order in assembly hall, Normal School. At 2 p. m. a grand fete and festival will be held on the grounds of the old Government House in conjunction with the local Patriotic Fund Committee. All I. O. O. F. visitors will be supplied with badges which will admit them to the grounds. At 3 p. m. the Decore of Chivalry under the direction of the Patriarch's Militant on the grounds of the old Government House, Lt. Col. Hart will be in command. At 8 p. m. the concluding session of the Grand Lodge will be held in the new annex, Normal School.
