

cient Roman coins and others from the Frémont collection. In another case are the medals of the Popes. These medals are very fine. In the Canadian collection can be seen the medals given by Louis XV, Louis XVI and George III to some Indian chiefs of Canada, the Confederation medal, that of the Quebec Fishing Club which is considered unique and the monnaies de carte of the end of the French domination, the Vexator canadensis. One of the rarest of this collection, Kebeka liberata, is a gift by late J. C. Taché.

France is represented by numerous specimens amongst which a commemorative medal of the foundation of the Seminary of Foreign Missions, at Paris, which, until the cession of Canada, to the British, had been the mother-house of the Quebec Seminary.

The gold, silver and bronze medals, which the University has given on several occasions as prizes for French poetry, are in the Canadian collection, together with those presented to the various institutions of the country by Their Excellencies the Marquess of Dufferin and his successors.

In June, 1902, on the occasion of its Jubilee, the University was presented with
