

L'Aurore.

THE ONLY FRENCH PROTESTANT NEWSPAPER IN AMERICA,

Is Published every FRIDAY by L. E. RIVARD.

It contains Literature, Poetry, and Political and General News, as well as articles on Agriculture, Temperance, &c., with once in a while a Piece of Music.

Terms: $1.50 (United States, $2.00) per annum, payable in advance.

Address: L'AURORE,

MONTREAL, CANADA.

Every Canadian, Frenchman, Swiss, Belgian, in Canada or the United States, in whose interest this paper is published, as well as all Houses of Education where French is taught, should subscribe to it.

(From the Daily Witness, 31st Oct. 1871.)

We, the undersigned, commend "L'Aurore," a French Protestant paper published in Montreal and conducted by its proprietor, Mr. Rivard, with editorial assistance from the Rev. Messrs. Leduc, Coussirat and Deudiet, as a journal likely to be effective in disseminating amongst French-speaking Canadians right views of Christian truth, of social order, and of civil and religious liberty.

We believe the publication meets a want which is met by no other French journal published on this continent, and is worthy of the material assistance which, at the commencement of such undertakings, is absolutely necessary for success.

W. TAYLOR, D.D.

CHAS. FANROFT, D.D., LL.D.

JOHN JENKINS, D.D.

D. H. MACVICAR, LL.D.

WM. BOND.

HENRY WILKES, D.D.

CHAS. CHAPMAN, M.A.

R. F. BURNS, D.D.

JOHN POTTS.

THOS. M. THOMPSON.

E. W. HAMILTON.

JAMES COURT.

J. A. MATHEWSON.

P. D. BAGWAZ.

Montreal, Oct. 30th, 1871.

(Remarks by the Witness.)

All who know how much a newspaper can do to form the minds of a people, and how specially powerful such an engine is among a people who have little other daily bread for their hungering minds, will rejoice to read the above endorsement, in which we heartily concur, of L'Aurore. There are various ways of helping such a paper within the reach of English people; besides the simple one of direct subscriptions to its necessary financial deficit; namely, by subscribing for copies for their own families, so that their children as well as themselves may keep up their acquaintance with the French language and French thought; by subscribing for copies for some of the poorer French Protestants, and so affording the means of intelligence to that class on whose increase and enlightenment the future of this Province greatly depends; and lastly, by sending advertisements, which we understand can be done at small charge.

(From the Daily Witness, 13th December.)

We would earnestly take the opportunity to commend this Protestant French newspaper to general support: it is well conducted, and contains papers by well-known and brilliant writers.

L."

ON.

of a generation
cruel cowardice,
he crimes perpe-

queen, Barère re-
others of their
lemned the pro-
ticular Hébert's
nemence that he
is gesticulation.
the proceedings,
of carnage. "The
cannot be wafted
must begin with Legislative As-
t away."

interested insti-
t victim.
ch was granted,
d for twenty-four
st prepared with
an usual avidity.
for a time, with Palais Royal, the detained above a
palace by order of
d his daughter's
if he would relent
which would save
too much honour-
sacrifice, and re-
out giving the ex-
twenty minutes,
his journey to the
al fortitude; and
deeming trait at
ch selfish passion
eath to sacrificing

in Paris and over
orable monument
e Girondists were
e number of pri-
s was about 1150;
ign of Terror had
and it gradually
at last eight thou-
metropolis alone.
ing filled by this
unes was surveyed
odation, and the
or seven thousand

moments of three
volution—Hérault
and Danton—they
otline by their for-

mille Desmoulins,
n, a young woman
Robespierre's feet,
their husbands, but
he, "follow Danton
le his memory be-
to Robespierre, he ld or the next. He
-I will preserve it
less firmness. He
ghts," but the book
only articulate, "O
ll become of you!
sticism so usual at
ended them, and an
ch beheld in silence
ecution. Camille
on the fatal chariot
warded to the first
ards the scaffold, he